HOOVER WARNING FORCES NEW VETERANS' AID BILL

Substitute Drafted for Vote Today as President Scores House Plan Because It Would Raise Taxes

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)—President Hoover today warned [illegible] veterans' relief bill to be voted upon tomorrow in the [illegible] means a raise in taxes and administration leaders in the [illegible] immediately moved to put forward a substitute acceptable [illegible].

The President made known his opposition to the bill in a [illegible] Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, which [illegible] plan out at the White House. He said it not only means [illegible] taxes but it is inequitable to World War veterans and is [illegible] than they themselves had asked.

[illegible] a White House conference, [illegible] Reed, Republican, of Penn[illegible] submitted a substitute [illegible] which is understood to [illegible] administration ap[illegible].

[illegible] attending the conference [illegible] Secretary Mellon, Senator [illegible] Director Hines of the Vet[illegible] Bureau, Secretary Hurley and [illegible] Mills of the Treasury in addition to Senator Reed.

APPROVAL EXPECTED

Senator Watson said tonight the [illegible] substitute will be offered in the Senate tomorrow. He is hopeful of approval. The House already has passed the measure disapproved by the President.

[illegible] according to notice of a veto to [illegible] action, House administration leaders have called a Republican caucus Tuesday night. If the caucus approves the substitute that is mentioned at the caucus, the President notified Congress [illegible] he would either have a sound plan [illegible] or should have more time for [illegible] of national policy upon [illegible] principles in dealing [illegible] the questions for the future.

[illegible] situation is regarded as [illegible] in Congress either to adopt [illegible] substitute in the administration [illegible] on the question over for future [illegible] consideration.

THE VETO OVERRIDDEN

[illegible] does pass this session over[illegible] overrides a veto of the [illegible] a Spanish War Veterans' [illegible] bill but advocates of the [illegible] veterans' relief measure are [illegible] confident of success on such a [illegible] vote. A [illegible] will be adopted [illegible] tomorrow in Congress.

[illegible] letter to Senator [illegible] declared the measure [illegible] must spend tomorrow by the [illegible] would add $202,000,000 next [illegible] to the normal [illegible] expenditures [illegible] for World [illegible] by the government. [illegible] the ultimate cost of the [illegible] would be $250,000,000. The [illegible] made months ago by the [illegible] was estimated as costing [illegible] $400,000,000 next year and $400,000,000 [illegible].

The President further contended [illegible] legislation goes far beyond anything proposed by the various veterans' organizations. He said the American Legion had proposed a bill [illegible] $2,000,000 annually and [illegible] measures represent an [illegible] increase in expenditure of [illegible] to ten times what these [illegible] themselves would consider [illegible].

[illegible] the cases of veterans who [illegible] need of help today who are [illegible] and to whom I earnestly [illegible] more generous treatment [illegible] and the President, "but these [illegible] do not reach anything [illegible] the dimensions of these measures [illegible].

Secretary Tells President Treasury Can Not Carry Veterans' Measure

Higher Income Rates Must be Restored If Congress Continues Spending

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)—Secretary Mellon said today a deficit of $100,000,000 in the Treasury at the close of the fiscal year 1931 now is indicated and if the present reduced rate of income tax is made applicable to 1930 incomes a deficit of $180,000,000 is likely.

In a letter to President Hoover upon the pending World War veterans' relief legislation the Secretary said receipts for the fiscal year 1931 will be inadequate to support the additional burden estimated by the Veterans' Bureau at $102,000,000 for 1932 and $225,000,000 annually in ultimate cost.

TAX INCREASE, TOO

"In fairness to the country," Mr. Mellon said, "I feel Congress should be informed that if expenditures are further increased now taxes must be in December."

Secretary Mellon said his estimates are "predicted upon a not unhopeful attitude in respect to future business developments."

The present state of business, he continued, must be accompanied by an inevitable reduction in government income and the Treasury is vitally interested in not closing the door to hope of continuing the tax reduction. He said he hoped conditions will improve so he can recommend to Congress next December a continuation of the reduction.

Mr. Mellon called attention of President Hoover to the fact that 2,095,000 persons would be affected if tax reduction is not continued.

TAXPAYERS HIT

This number of persons, he said, whose net income is less than $10,000, will have to pay approximately $23,000,000 more in taxes if the old rates are restored.

Corporations also, he said, will be

RED PLOTS REPORTED

Huge Sum Rumored Allotted for Propaganda in Three Large Eastern Cities

Moscow and United States Communists Hold Secret Meetings in Danzig

BERLIN, June 22. (AP)—Russian monarchist circles in Berlin today asserted that in secret meetings at Danzig last week American Communists and agents from Moscow laid plans for extensive Communist action in the United States next September.

The emigres, hostile to the Communist regime in Russia, asserted that on the 17th inst. the executive of the Communist Internationale at Moscow resolved to allocate 1,000,000 gold rubles (the gold ruble is worth about 50 cents,) for dissemination of Communism in the United States.

MEETING PLANNED

This fund was said to be especially designed for propaganda in Chicago, Philadelphia and Baltimore. At Chicago, monarchists further report, a secret Communist meeting has been planned for July 3, next, to organize a movement in which South American Communists also will participate.

The asserted movement includes appointment of about forty "instructors" to spread the "Red gospel" throughout the United States. To carry it into effect, several American Communists were said to have received orders from Moscow to return immediately to the United States.

The monarchists assert the following American Communists met Moscow agents at Danzig: William Hood, Philadelphia; George Holbrook, Boston; Harold Talbot, Baltimore, and a man named Ruegert of Chicago.

PLANE USED

William Fowler, Harry Upton and a certain Weighardt, all of New York, were said to have gone from Moscow to Danzig by airplane.

It is understood Hood and Holbrook left Danzig Thursday for Marseilles, France, where they will embark for the United States.

The emigres also asserted other secret meetings between American Communists and emissaries of the Internationale were held at Hamburg. They say the latter will attempt personally to attend the Chicago meeting in July.

CHICAGO POLICE AWARE OF RED PLANS

CHICAGO June 22. (AP)—Police said tonight they have been aware for two months that a Communist convention is scheduled here for July 4 and 5, as reported in a dispatch from Berlin. Delegates have already begun to arrive, Lieut. Michael Mills of the industrial squad said.

Mills said also that his sources of information indicate that the Communists expect about 3000 delegates, he added that he has received reports that the delegates will end their session with a march on Washington, D. C., to present their demands to President Hoover.

Mills said he knows of the secret meeting in the free city of Danzig and who went there from Chicago. The local delegates will be questioned when they return, he added.

Mayor and Trio Killed as Train Hits Automobile

ABSECON (N. J.) June 23. (Monday) (AP)—Anthony M. Ruffu, Jr., Mayor of Atlantic City, two unidentified women, and a man believed to be Assemblyman Anthony J. Siracusa, were killed when a train struck their automobile early today.

Ruffu was identified by papers in his pocket and by shreds of his clothing.

The Mayor's sedan was struck in the center by a southbound Pennsylvania Railroad express at the Mill Road crossing here.

Mayor Ruffu had just finished the short rest he took after he was acquitted by the Atlantic county grand jury recently of charges of illegal practices in connection with the placing of municipal insurance. Siracusa was a close friend of the Mayor's, and often went on trips with him.

Four Doomed for Favoring Rich Peasants

SAMARKAND (Uzbek, U.S.S.R.) June 22. (AP)—Four men, including a former Chief Justice of the Uzbekistan Supreme Court, were sentenced to death today after conviction of favoring the kulaks, or rich peasants, in court proceedings, accepting bribes and participating in border raids. They are Ali Kasimov, the former Chief Justice; Ibragim Sharipov, former prosecutor for the Supreme Court; Ivan Spiridonov, former attorney for the defense, and a rich peasant named Alimoff.

Three other defendants, including two judges, were sentenced to ten-year prison terms for the same offense. The trial lasted nearly four months. It was conducted by Ruben Paul Katanyan of Moscow, who called more than 100 witnesses.

How About a Mid-Year Resolution?

SUN JESTS WORSHIPERS

Dodges Behind Clouds and Hides Holy Phenomenon From Druids on Annual Pilgrimage

STONEHENGE (England) June 22. (Exclusive)—A crowd of more than 1000 sun worshipers who had gathered before dawn at this mysterious and ancient place of worship to witness the weird phenomenon of the rising sun casting a sinister shadow across the altar where the Druids annually offered human sacrifices hundreds of years before Christ, were disappointed this morning when a thick veil of clouds prevented the sunshine from illuminating the site.

The strange circle of great slabs of stone which are believed to have been erected 1600 years before Christ is still the scene of an annual pilgrimage of modern Druids who hold ceremonies here every "midsummer day." The first rays of the rising sun throw a deep shadow from a gaunt monolith across an old sacrificial altar, producing an eerie effect which attracts pilgrims from all parts of England.

This morning, however, was the second consecutive midsummer day when a mist prevented the phenomenon from taking place, although for seven years previously the shadow appeared in the center of the altar each time. This afternoon scores of Druids from London and other parts of England held mystic rites before the Stonehenge monoliths dressed in purple cassocks with white surplices and red head-dresses.

A. P. CHOATE SUCCUMBS IN POVERTY

Former Man of Millions Penniless and Hungry When End Comes

NEW YORK, June 22. (Exclusive) Antoine P. Choate, Princeton and Oxford graduate and once the master of a vast fortune, died today in Bellevue Hospital, penniless and half-starved.

During the World War Choate was a well-known figure in Wall street, where he won more than $1,000,000 in speculation. He also owned a large banana plantation in Nicaragua and an extensive ranch in Canada.

He lost most of his wealth immediately after the war and spent the rest in treatment of his eyes after he became totally blind from injuries received in an automobile accident. During his last eight years he lived in a $6-a-week room in East Forty-fifth street, refusing to see the numerous wealthy friends who called there. He was unable to pay his small rent for the last year or so, but his landlord, Christopher Cella, allowed him to remain.

Choate, who was 70 years of age, and weakened from starvation, fell down a flight of steps two weeks ago and was taken to the hospital. His skull had been fractured, but his death was attributed to "senility and starvation."

Troops Guard Lynching Burial

UNION (S. C.) June 22. (AP)—Guarded by the same National Guard unit that arrived thirty minutes too late to save him from death at the hands of an angry mob, the bullet-ridden body of Dan Jenkins, Beaufort (N. C.) Negro, was buried in a pauper's grave at the county poor farm here today.

Jenkins, shot to death after he had been identified by two young white women of Santuce, five miles from here, as their attacker, was accused by the mob of assaulting Mrs. O. L. Shipman, 23 years of age, and attempting to attack her 16-year-old sister-in-law, Mary E. Shipman.

Wichita Flyer Killed in Race

WICHITA (Kan.) June 22. (AP)—Speeding at 120-mile-an-hour clip in a race with three other planes in an air show at Braley Airport here this afternoon, Ray Field, 35-year-old Wichita pilot, plunged to his death when his craft fell from an altitude of 400 feet.

More than 3000 persons witnessed the fatal crash, which came as Field was banking his plane in a turn near the finish of the race.

GAS STATION MAN FIGHTS BANDIT PAIR

Wounds One and Bluffs Other With Empty Pistol; Robbers Uncaptured

SEATTLE, June 22. (AP)—Although covered by the guns of two bandits and having only three cartridges in his own revolver, Eddie Hubbard, service station operator, shot it out with the pair here early today, seriously wounding one of them and bluffing the other away with an empty gun. Hubbard escaped uninjured in the fusillade of lead directed at him.

As the wounded bandit staggered away, he was picked up by Capt. C. C. Graham of the Pacific Steamship Company, who was driving past. Graham was shortly overtaken by the other bandit, who had followed in the stolen car used by the pair. The bandit fired two shots at Graham, causing him to halt, then pulled his wounded companion into the machine he was driving and sped away.

The car used by the robbers, which had been stolen from C. Hearty, a Superior Court bailiff, was later found abandoned. Police were unable to locate either of the bandits.

MERE GIRL MOTHER OF TENTH BABY

Child Married at 11 Has Had Two Husbands and Ten Births in Six Years

AUBURN (Neb.) June 22. (Exclusive)—The tenth child was born here to Mrs. F. A. Sultzbaugh, 13 years of age, who was married at 11. Only two of the ten children are living.

Mrs. Sultzbaugh was born in Louisville, Ky., October 2, 1912, and named Ruby Josephine Hill. Henry Reibold adopted her. Her first husband was W. J. Miller, whom she married in April, 1923. She was divorced from him in August, 1925.

While she was Mrs. Miller she gave birth to still-born twins. The next year triplets were born to her, only one living. It died at the age of 23 months. Twins were born next, one dead. The other, Henrietta, is now 2.

On April 19, 1928, Mrs. Miller married F. A. Sultzbaugh. Since then two babes have died before birth. The latest arrival is a nine-and-three-quarters-pound daughter.

Three Printers Dead in Crash of Motor Car

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 22. (AP) Three employees of the printing department of the Oklahoma Publishing Company were killed and three others injured early today when their roadster crashed into the rear end of a truck laden with oil-drilling machinery, five miles east of here.

The dead are Robert Mullin, Sybil Barnard and A. S. Davis. The injured are R. H. Black and his wife, and R. L. Carleton.

WOMAN POLITICIAN INJURED

Will Rogers Remarks:

CHICAGO, June 22. [To the Editor of The Times:] What's become of the old-fashioned fellow that over in the left-hand corner of the paper every day used to say "Don't sell America short?"

All the financial papers are talking about how cheap money is now with the Federal reserve banks, around 3 and 3½ per cent, I don't see why they don't say it's half of 1 per cent, for there is no way getting any of it any way. I'll bet Mellon would have trouble digging enough collateral for a present-day loan.

SON BORN TO LINDBERGHS AT HOME OF MORROWS

'Charles Augustus, Jr.,' Weighing Almost Eight Pounds, Fulfills Forecast of Father

ENGLEWOOD (N. J.) June 22. (Exclusive)—A son was born to Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh about 4:30 p.m. today in a maternity ward specially built into the home of Mrs. Lindbergh's father, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, in Englewood. The baby weighed seven and three-fourths pounds.

The heir to the most famous private citizen in the world arrived on the twenty-fourth birthday of his mother, Anne Morrow Lindbergh. The eaglet probably will be named Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

"Yes, they say he looks like his father," a servant at the Morrow home told reporters.

Press representatives had been waiting for months outside the Morrow estate assigned to the most-heralded flight of the stork in recent years. But no formal announcement was made there. Some one inside the Morrow home telephoned the press associations the news of the arrival of a son and heir at 5:56 p.m. Dr. Forbes Hawks, famous specialist of the Fifth-avenue Hospital in New York City, supervised the event, and Dr. E. H. Dennen and three other specialists attended Mrs. Lindbergh.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT MADE

No announcement of the physical condition of the mother and child was made and it was said at the estate no statement will be issued by the family.

The birth of a son made the dream of infallible Col. Lindbergh come true once more, his friends declared. For weeks he has been hoping the baby would be a boy—an eaglet to fly, in due course, in his noted father's air lanes.

Little Anne Morrow Lindbergh, a schoolgirl-poetess, who wrote a sonnet to the Lone Eagle when he thrilled the world by hitting Paris on the nose in his long hop from Long Island, also wanted to present a man child to the man who so inspired her before she ever had seen him and whom she married in a quiet ceremony May 27 of last year under the same roof under which she became a mother today.

The birth of a son adds another perfect chapter to the perfect romance of the perfect air man.

ROMANCE RECALLED

The obscure mail air man of the spring of 1927 who flew from Roosevelt Field to Le Bourget and into the gallery of world celebrities, met the girl who was to become his wife when, after having been feted by the Republic of France and his country, he was invited to fly to Mexico City as a good-will gesture toward the neighboring republic on the south.

During his stay in the Mexican capital he was the house guest of Ambassador Morrow and the modest, young idol of tens of thousands of more beautiful women was quickly attracted to the quiet, raven-haired daughter of his diplomat host.

Their romance flowered as he made several subsequent trips to Mexico and interested Anne and her elder teacher-sister, Elisabeth, in flying. His courtship was marred by one airplane accident, on February 29, 1929, when in taking Anne aloft at the Mexican capital his plane lost a wheel and, although Lindy made a dexterous landing the plane turned over and his shoulder was injured, but his fiancee was only shaken up.

Reporters at the Morrow estate gates were left in the lurch in the following May when the wedding was so quietly performed before a handful of relatives and friends that the press representatives were unaware it was going on inside the mansion. The newlyweds gave the reporters the slip, motoring out a side gate immediately following their marriage, and remaining overnight in a humble three-room flat in midtown Manhattan borrowed from a Swedish-born friend of Lindbergh; left town unrecognized the following day and finished their honeymoon alone aboard a cabin cruiser leisurely proceeding up Long Island Sound and the New England coast.

Anne in the year or so of her marriage has gained aeronautical laurels on her own account until she is, today one of America's best known women aviators.

MIDWEST'S PERSPIRING CONTINUES

All-Time Record for Day Set in St. Louis as Other Towns Also Swelter

KANSAS CITY, June 22. (AP)—Record-breaking high temperatures which came to this section yesterday continued today, a perspiring citizenry seeking in vain to obtain relief from heat which was general in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

All-time high temperature readings for June 22 were broken in St. Louis, where the mercury climbed to 101. Motion-picture theaters and swimming pools did a rushing business.

A light breeze did much to lessen the suffering in Kansas City, where the thermometer went to 97 deg., a point lower than yesterday's high reading. Parks were crowded.

Thermometer readings of 100 deg. were common in Oklahoma, that mark being reported at Sayre, Altus, Bartlesville and Ponca City. The season's record of 94 deg. was equaled in Oklahoma City.

Muskogee, Okla., reported 95 deg. Tulsa, 93; Ada, 96, and Enid, 90.

Western Kansas, where the wheat harvest is in full swing, baked under a broiling sun. Newton, Kan., reported 99 deg. At Topeka the mercury rose to 97 deg. Wichita, Kan., reported 96 deg.

Santa Barbara Pioneer Passes

SANTA BARBARA, June 22. (Exclusive)—Henry E. Lyman, for more than half a century a resident here, died this afternoon at the family residence at 235 Nogales avenue.

A native son of California, the deceased had been an invalid for several years and his death was due to a complication of causes. He was in his seventy-sixth year. He spent the greater part of his boyhood in Utah.

He leaves one daughter, Miss Cornelia, and two sons, Orin, a teacher in the Fresno schools, and Edgar, a rancher at Santa Maria. Funeral services were announced for Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the Carpinteria Cemetery.

Two Americans Shot in Mexico

HOUSTON (Tex.) June 22. (AP)—Antone Wessendorf, Houston, was killed and R. W. Garrow, also of Houston, seriously wounded in a shooting at Torreon, Mex., yesterday. The men were cotton factors.

It was reported Garrow was shot in a dispute with a former Negro employee. Wessendorf intervened to save Garrow and was himself fatally wounded.

Chicago Plane Still Flies On

CHICAGO, June 22. (AP)—Droning evenly over Sky-Harbor Airport, the plane City of Chicago carried Pilots Kenneth and John Hunter past their own endurance mark today and zoomed on in an effort to break the record for continuous flight.

At 2:40 p.m. the Hunter brothers had exceeded by an hour their own mark of 261 hours, made last summer in the same plane.

GRAF RUNS OFF FROM PILOT

Craft Suddenly Rises at Hamburg and Can't Land, So Chief Officers Chase It to Berlin

BERLIN, June 22. (AP)—With her deserted commander pursuing her by airplane from Hamburg, the Graf Zeppelin this evening arrived safely at Staaken air field after an eventful excursion to the great seaport.

Capt. Ernst Lehmann and Capt. Hans Von Schiller, through an accident, were left on the ground at Hamburg. They and thirty-one passengers had just landed, when under fierce heat, the Graf gained excessive buoyancy, broke loose and rapidly rose. Some of the landing crew clambered aboard, but the officers were unable to make it.

After cruising about vainly for half an hour, the subordinate navigating officer wirelessed he was unable to make another landing for the two officers and forty-five passengers who hoped to make the trip back to Berlin.

Capt. Lehmann and Capt. Von Schiller were obliged to charter an airplane to fly back to Berlin and rejoin their errant airship. The Graf safely reached the Staaken air field at 9 p.m.

The accident had no untoward consequences, barring the hurried pursuit of the airship by the Zeppelin's officers.

The airship yesterday had made an all-night flight to Copenhagen and back and was greeted at 7 a.m. today by a vast crowd of Berliners. Dr. Hugo Eckener left the airship for a visit to the world power conference, Capt. Lehmann taking command for the Hamburg excursion.

Lack of ballast prevented the Graf from redescending to the Hamburg air field for Capt. Lehmann and passengers.

Capt. Flemming, who remained on board, commanded the airship on the flight back to the Staaken field near Berlin. Three of the Hamburg crew made the trip as involuntary passengers.

The Graf was safely moored shortly after 9 o'clock.

HOOVER SCORES VETERANS' RELIEF BILL AS UNSOUND

expenditures in the budget beginning July 1 to the utmost limit of our possible receipts, and have even incurred a probable deficit principally for the relief of unemployment through expansion of public construction. Every additional dollar of expenditure means an additional dollar in taxes. This is no time to increase the tax burden of the country.

"I recognize that such considerations would carry but little weight with our people were the needs of our veterans the issue, and were we dealing with sound measures; but as Gen. Hines presents, there are conclusive reasons for opposing an unsound measure which is against the best interests of the veterans themselves and places an unjustified load upon the taxpayers at a time when every effort should be made to lighten it."

Asserting that the principles in both the House and Senate bills "depart absolutely" from the original conception of assistance to World War veterans, Gen. Hines said that "if we are to depart from the sound principles of payment of compensation for injury and disease resulting from war service, then it would appear to me that the real problem before us is whether the nation is going to assume responsibility for disabilities among the 4,500,000 veterans which originate as ordinary incidents of life."

Mr. Hines said one of the results of the legislation would be that men suffering with diseases now presumed to have been acquired in the service if developed prior to January 1, 1925, would have such diseases presumed to have been acquired in the service if they developed prior to January 1, 1930, and other men suffering with diseases which have not heretofore been afforded the benefit of any presumption by law would be presumed to have acquired their diseases in the service if they arose prior to January 1, 1930. He estimates that this provision alone would probably affect approximately 100,000 veterans not now in receipt of compensation benefits for these disabilities.

The Medical Council of the Veterans' Bureau, he added, has reported the inclusion of the diseases contemplated by this provision is unsound medically and "it cannot be presumed that the diseases involved are the result of service during the World War."

THEORY FALSE

"Therefore," the general said, "the theory upon which these benefits are extended is false." Holding it has always been the policy of the government to take care of veterans when they are overcome by permanent disabilities or age so they are unable to earn a support, Gen. Hines pointed out that the veterans of the World War average now about 38 years of age.

"If it is claimed that the time has been reached when it is necessary to give consideration to the matter of a pension for this group of veterans, along the same lines that we have cared for veterans of other wars, then the policy should be based upon the fundamental principles of pension legislation adapted to what the nation can afford to do for the entire group of veterans who will eventually have to be cared for," Gen. Hines said. "Most certainly we should distinguish clearly between those veterans whose injuries and disabilities were incurred in service and whose disabilities have been brought about by other causes after service.

"To approve a measure which will simply take care of 100,000 of these men under a presumption which we know is unsound, where their disabilities are not due to service, without extending to their comrades in the larger group the same measure of relief, is manifestly inequitable."

CASH PLAN OPPOSED

Another provision opposed by Gen. Hines would give a cash allowance to men in hospitals not suffering from a service-connected disability and while they are in a hospital also to pay an allowance to their families and dependents. Pointing out that hospital facilities of the government are at this time inadequate to provide care for all veterans and that there is at all times a waiting list of veterans, the general said, "we are faced with the proposed policy of paying the veteran fortunate enough to secure a hospital bed an allowance for himself and his dependents without providing for the men who fail to obtain a bed."

Elimination of the question of inequality, even to the point where the bureau's peak of hospital load is expected, the general said, would, according to current estimates, indicate an ultimate need of 30,400 additional beds, the cost of construction of which would approximate $127,900,000, with an annual maintenance cost of $89,100,000.

He added that "even with all these provisions we would not have taken care of old age and many other fatalities that may happen to our World War veterans."

TEXT OF LETTER

The text of President Hoover's letter to Senator Watson follows:

"In accordance with our discussion, I am sending herewith communications from Secretary Mellon and Gen. Hines, director of the Veterans' Bureau, on the subject of the World War veterans' legislation now before the Congress, showing the result of their investigation into the effect of the bill reported this week to the Senate. These memorandums confirm the views which I have expressed during the past few weeks and I believe the Congress and the public should be informed thereon.

"Gen. Hines states the bill which has been passed by the House of Representatives will add directly to our present expenditure for World War veterans (at present $311,000,000 per annum) by $181,000,000 for the first year, increasing annually until it reaches a possible additional sum of $400,000,000 a year.

"This bill as amended by Senate committee will add directly $109,000,000 the first year, ultimately increasing to the addition of a sum of $225,000,000 per annum. Even these estimates are far from including the whole of the potential obligations created by the principles embraced in this legislation and the uncertain added expense by certain amendments to previous legislation.

"Mr. Mellon states that the passage of this legislation implies positive increase of taxation at the next session of Congress.

"It does not appear these bills even represent the real views of the various veterans' organizations. The American Legion, after careful study as to what they consider the needs of their fellow-veterans, proposed legislation which would require an additional annual expenditure of $5,000,000 per annum. Thus these measures which are before Congress represent an implied increase in expenditure of from three to ten times what these veterans themselves consider would be just. The Veterans of Foreign Wars and other organizations have contended for measures differing entirely from those now proposed.

INJUSTICES SEEN

"Gen Hines has pointed out this legislation goes far beyond immediate necessities and that, of even more importance, it creates grave inequalities, injustices and discriminations among veterans resulting from the methods adopted or extended in these bills, and creates future dangers to both the public and the veterans. The very fact the committees of Congress and the various veterans' associations have themselves been during the past six months of many minds upon these questions indicates their extreme difficulty.

"There certainly comes from it all the conclusion that we should either have a sound plan now or should have more time for determination of national policy upon established principles in dealing with these questions for the future. We must arrive at such a basis as will discharge our manifest national obligation with equity among veterans and to the public.

"I do not wish to be misunderstood. There are cases of veterans who are in need of help today, who are suffering and to whom I earnestly wish to see generous treatment given. But these situations do not reach anything like the dimensions of these measures

DEFICIT FEARED

"We have stretched government expenditures in the budget beginning July 1 to the utmost limit of our possible receipts, and have even incurred a probable deficit principally for the relief of unemployment through expansion of public construction. Every additional dollar of expenditure means an additional dollar in taxes. This is no time to increase the tax burden of the country.

"I recognise that such considerations would carry but little weight with our people were the needs of our veterans the issue, and were we dealing with sound measures; but as Gen. Hines presents, there are conclusive reasons for opposing an unsound measure which is against the best interests of the veterans themselves and places an unjustified load upon the taxpayers at a time when every effort should be made to lighten it.

"I do not believe that just criticism or opposition should arise to such suggestions upon full understanding of the situation for I know that the great body of patriotic men who served in the World War themselves recognise that there are limits to expenditure and there are principles that should be adhered to if we are not to prejudice their interest both as veterans and citizens."

BARBERS URGED TO SPEAK UP!

France Harnesses Tonsorial Tongues to Boost Nation

DIJON, June 22. (AP)—Hairdressers' and barbers' propensity for talk is being put to patriotic use by the French government.

Gaston Gerard, High Commissioner of Tourism, told the national convention of coiffeurs that as they lathered customers or labored to make permanent waves, they should inject into their monologue some well-chosen words about the beauty and hospitality of France.

The hairdressers were flattered to think their gift of gab could be used to encourage tourists to spend more time and money in France.

MELLON WARNS DEFICIT LOOMS

Treasury Surplus Wiped Out by Year's End, He Says

Higher Income Tax Seen as Future Possibility

required to pay $90,000,000 more "at a time when the government should endeavor to relieve rather than to increase the burdens on industry."

Reduction for the calendar year, 1929, of 1 per cent upon normal and corporation incomes cut approximately $80,000,000 from incomes for the fiscal years of 1930 and 1931.

Secretary Mellon said:

COST COMPUTED

"I have your memorandum stating the director of the Veterans' Bureau estimates the cost in the fiscal year 1931 of H. R. 10381, as amended and reported by the Senate Finance Committee, to be $102,000,000 and the ultimate cost to be $236,000,000 annually.

"You ask me to give you my best judgment whether receipts for the fiscal year 1931 will be adequate to support this additional burden.

"I regret to say they will not.

"You appreciate, of course, the very great difficulty of estimating revenue twelve months in advance, particularly when as under your system the government depends so largely on one form of tax, the income tax, which is directly susceptible to fluctuations in business conditions.

OBVIOUSLY IMPOSSIBLE

"An absolutely accurate estimate would presuppose our ability to forecast general business conditions over the period of the next twelve months and this is obviously impossible.

"Based on estimates of expenditures furnished by the Director of the Budget and on this department's estimates of receipts which, I may add, are predicated on a not unhopeful attitude in respect to future business developments, the present indications are the government will close the fiscal year 1931 with a deficit of $100,000,000.

"If the reduced income tax rate is to be retained and made applicable to 1930 incomes, present estimates forecast a deficit of approximately $180,000,000.

"These figures are, of course, exclusive of any additional burdens to be imposed by new legislation.

PAID WITH BONDS

"I think I should call your attention to the fact these figures are based on the assumption that interest payments to be made by foreign governments in accordance with existing debt settlement agreements will be paid in United States government securities, as they have almost universally been paid in the past, rather than in cash, thus constituting an automatic reduction of our national debt, but not making these payments available for current expenditures.

"Even when foreign interest payments have been made in cash the Treasury up to the present time has been in a position to apply them to reduction of our national debt. This policy has been so well established over the course of years and is manifestly so sound that foreign repayments, both principal and interest, have come to be looked upon as definitely earmarked for the reduction of our war debt.

CAN'T COUNT ON IT

"Moreover, whether interest payments are to be made in securities or cash is dependent on conditions wholly without our control. We are not justified, therefore, in budgeting upon the assumption they will be made in cash.

"But assuming they are, and assuming our government is willing to set aside its well-considered and established program of debt reduction, even then I cannot give you any assurance at the present time and without taking into consideration new burdens, that we can retain the 1 per cent reduction and not incur the danger of a deficit.

RATES MUST GO UP

"But if $100,000,000 or more is to be added to the expenditures already in sight, it is perfectly apparent that the 1930 income tax rates must be restored, and I should not be fair to members of both houses and the taxpayers of the United States if I did not point out at this time this increased burden may necessitate even higher rates than provided in the 1928 Revenue Act.

"In the present state of business, accompanied as it must be by an inevitable reduction in national income, the Treasury Department is vitally interested in not definitely closing the door to the possibility of retaining the reduced tax rates now in existence. In spite of figures above quoted I am still hopeful conditions may have shown such improvement by December as to justify recommending to you and to Congress a renewal of the action taken last December.

NOT POSSIBLE NOW

"The present estimates do not indicate this is possible, but this does not mean we should put ourselves in such a position as to preclude this possibility should events take a favorable course.

"In this connection I think it is appropriate to remind you of what this 1 per cent reduction means to the income taxpayer and particularly to the income taxpayer with a moderate income.

"If the 1 per cent reduction is not retained, approximately 2,000,000 taxpayers with net incomes of $10,000 or less will pay during the calendar year 1931 approximately $20,000,000 more than they would otherwise pay, losing the benefit of a 56 per cent reduction.

SMALL FELLOWS HIT

"If we take taxpayers with net incomes of $7000 or less they will lose the benefit of a 66 per cent reduction in taxes. It will be remembered about two-thirds of the tax-reduction benefit to individuals was accorded to taxpayers with net incomes of $25,000 or less.

"In so far as corporations are concerned, if the rate is restored to 12 per cent they will lose the benefit of approximately a $90,000,000 reduction in their income taxes—at a time when the government should endeavor to relieve rather than to increase the burdens on industry.

CONCLUSION CLEAR

"In conclusion, I can answer your question by stating that legislation increasing expenditures for 1931 by $100,000,000 and more over and above expenditures now estimated by the Budget Director will necessitate restoration of rates applicable to 1931 income to the rates provided for in the Revenue Act of 1928, and it is probable such increased expenditures may call for even higher taxes in order to maintain a balanced budget.

"In fairness to the country I feel Congress should be informed that if expenditures are further increased now, taxes must be in December."

Judge Rules Suitor for Three Years Had Right to Punch Interloper

NEW YORK, June 22. (Exclusive)—When a lad has kept steady company with a girl for three years and she sidetracks him to attend a dance with another suitor it is no offense in the eyes of the law to bash the interloper in the nose, Magistrate Sabbatino ruled in freeing George McAllister, charged with assault.

"If she wanted to dance, I'm no wooden Indian," McAllister pleaded. The court required George and the girl, Gertrude King, to "kiss and make up" while he looked on, beaming approval.

RAIN PREVENTS INDIA DISORDER

Procession in Sympathy for Prisoners Postponed

War Councils Declared to Be Against Law

Government's Action Most Severe of Uprising

BOMBAY, June 22. (AP) — Rain came to the assistance of the authorities today and prevented the holding of a procession planned by the Bombay Provincial Congress in sympathy with seventeen members of the Eighteenth Garhwal Rifles who were imprisoned for disobeying orders in a riot at Peshawar.

So continuous was the downpour that volunteers were sent out to beat drums and announced the procession would be held some other day. A small force of police was kept stationed, however, near the Congress house where a crowd had collected. A company of the East Lancashire regiment was kept ready for action at the nearest police station.

An extraordinary gazette issued by the Madras government declared the Andhra Provincial Congress committee an unlawful association within the meaning of the Criminal Law Amendment Act. Similarly in Gundur district, in West and East Kistna, in West Godavari and in the town of Beswada, the war councils have been declared unlawful because the government considers they interfere with maintenance of law and order, and constitute a danger to public peace.

The action of the Madras government in declaring the Andhra Provincial Congress Committee an unlawful organization is one of the most drastic steps yet taken by the authorities. Congressional leaders see in the move, together with the action of the Bombay magistrates in prohibiting drills and processions, indications of a general tightening up of regulations against Swaraj-ists throughout the country. Leaders said they believed that with Madras taking the initiative, similar action was likely to be taken in Bombay, Bengal, and the Punjab. They interpreted the Madras action as giving the police authority to arrest the Madras Congress Executive Committee, consisting of twenty-five members.

Observers believed the rank and file of Congress would not be affected, which, in turn, indicated that the struggle would be long drawn out. They explained that the Congress probably would elect new executives to take the place of men arrested, following the same policy adopted for picketing shops and selling foreign goods. When these pickets are arrested, or when any other volunteers are locked up, their places quickly are taken by others.

The Madras Presidency consists of two districts, Andhra and Tamil. The latter district is unaffected by the new outlawing order.

Colin Campbell Widow Expires on Trip Abroad

SANTA BARBARA, June 22. (Exclusive)—Following an illness of several months during which a trip to England was undertaken in the hope of aiding her failing health, Mrs. Colin Campbell died today in Broadstair, Eng., according to a cable received by friends of the family here.

Mrs. Campbell was the widow of Colin Campbell, British army officer, and a daughter of Levi Leiter, deceased pioneer department store owner in Chicago. She was a sister of Joseph Leiter, prominent as a broker and wealthy grain dealer, and also a sister of the Countess of Suffolk. She leaves two daughters and a son, all of whom made the journey to England and were with her at the time of death.

The Campbell family came here in 1919 and purchased one of the largest ranches and homes in this district. It is one of the show places in Southern California, located near Goleta, seven miles north of here, and is built along the architectural lines of an old feudal castle. Mr. Campbell died in 1923 and is buried in a family burial plot on the ranch.

Friends here expect that the body of Mrs. Campbell will be returned here for interment.

BISHOP HURLS TINKHAM SHOT

Cannon Says Representative Deleted Speech Sting

Declares Remarks Cut From 3000 to 135 Words

Churchman Sends Challenge in Row Over Talk

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., said in a statement today that Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, had not said in his signed statement some of the things stated in the House under Congressional immunity relative to the churchman's handling of funds contributed for the anti-Smith campaign.

Tinkham recently accepted the challenge of the Methodist leader, growing out of investigation of the bishop by the Senate lobby committee, to repeat the things he said about the churchman on the House floor. In his statement Bishop Cannon said the acceptance was carefully worded and omitted several accusations made in the House.

Bishop Cannon challenged Tinkham to "have several copies of his entire speech typewritten, signing them personally, then sending one to me and one to each of several other indicated persons, thus effectually disclaiming immunity for his entire speech as actually delivered."

CANNON'S STATEMENT

The text of Bishop Cannon's statement read:

"I have read the carefully worded statement of 135 words, purporting to be a paraphrase of the 3000-word speech of Representative Tinkham, made in the House of Representatives on the 17th inst., which speech I called upon him to give out over his personal signature, free from Congressional immunity.

"In his speech, among other things, Representative Tinkham said: 'The statement of Bishop Cannon that he "made no report of such receipts and expenditures, as none was required by law," was a falsehood, and obviously made with the intent of not accounting for the $48,300 alleged in his telegram of February 12, 1929, to E. C. Jameson, to have been spent in the State of Virginia.'

"Again, Representative Tinkham asked, 'Whether or not any of the money received from E. C. Jameson was used by him on account of any personal indebtedness?'

DECLARED OMITTED

"Again, Representative Tinkham said, 'He (Bishop Cannon) will stand convicted in the eyes of all honest men of having appropriated that money to his own uses.'

"The above statements, and many other similar statements not only do not appear, but are not referred to in the 135-word purported paraphrase of his speech.

"As the greater part of the speech has already appeared in newspapers as Congressional privileged matter, and as some papers might not desire to republish it over his personal signature, if Representative Tinkham desires to be held responsible for exactly what he said on the floor of the House, let him have several copies of his entire speech typewritten, signing them personally, then sending one to me and one to each of several other indicated persons, thus effectually disclaiming immunity for his entire speech as actually delivered."

FATHER MARQUETTE SHRINE PLANNED

LUDINGTON (Mich.) June 22. (AP) A plan to erect a shrine here upon the hillside which Father Marquette selected as his place to die seems about to be realized.

Funds for the shrine were raised by students of Marquette University, Milwaukee, after the Rev. Patrick Lomasnym, S. J., of the university department of history, had determined the spot where the veteran Jesuit explorer died.

Legal difficulties arose over title to the land and the plan was held in abeyance for five years.

The title is expected to be cleared within a few months.

Selection of Sunnyvale Dirigible Base Site Seen by Navy Committee Head

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 22. (Exclusive)—Representative Britten, chairman of the House Naval Committee which recently held hearings on the relative merits of Camp Kearny near San Diego, and Sunnyvale near San Francisco as a Navy dirigible base and strong proponent of the Sunnyvale site, issued a statement attacking those favoring Camp Kearny and others opposing his desire to locate the base near San Francisco.

Britten accused the southern base adherents of adopting dog-in-the-manger tactics to delay the vote on the dirigible base. Contrary to a previous statement of Representative Free of San Jose, leader of the Sunnyvale fight, who said that he feared the postponement would cause California to lose the base entirely Representative Britten envisions the selection of Sunnyvale at the next session of Congress.

CLAIMS OF VICTORY NOT BORNE OUT

Chinese Nationalists Not Winners in Battle, Aver Foreign Missionaries

SHANGHAI June 22. (AP)—While Nationalist government armies locked with rebel Shansi and Kuominchun troops in Honan Province in a new Nationalist general offensive, conflicting claims of important victories on three fronts were made today by both Nationalists and rebels.

Government forces, beleaguered by rebels from the north, south and northeast, issued statements claiming victories on all fronts. Their claims, however, were not substantiated by missionaries and other observers, who reported the Nationalists, where not actually defeated, occupied weakened positions.

In the meantime, reliable reports from Hankow told of a general Nationalist offensive against Shansi cavalry and Kuominchun infantry near Chowkiakow, seventy-five miles southeast of Kaifeng, in Honan.

King of Spain Has Talk With Santiago Alba

PARIS, June 22. (AP)—King Alphonso discussed the political situation in Spain in detail today with Santiago Alba, former Liberal Premier exiled at the beginning of the Primo De Rivera dictatorship.

In an interview with the press later the Liberal statesman said he felt it was his patriotic duty to discuss with the King present conditions in Spain "in order to renovate peacefully but radically, in its different aspects, the Spanish regime in accordance with the wishes of the majority."

He said he suggested to King Alfonso the Spanish monarchy should be modeled after Democratic institutions built round the British and the Belgian royal families.

He told the King universal suffrage must be consulted and find its constitutional expression in the Cortes, or Parliament.

Vandals Upset and Break Up Tombstones

PATERSON (N. J.) June 22. (Exclusive)—Hundreds of citizens of Paterson and Totowa Borough were aroused to fury today when it was discovered that vandals last night had overturned or broken more than 250 tombstones in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, near Totowa.

The discovery was made, it is said, by relatives of the dead going to the cemetery for Sunday-morning memorial devotions beside the graves.

Several women became hysterical and had to be assisted from the cemetery.

Many of the stones lay scattered about among the graves or along the roadways. Others appeared to have been shattered by sledge-hammer blows.

Peritonitis Develops After Operation

SAN DIEGO, June 22. (AP)—Miss Peaches Wallace, 19-year-old aviatrix and glider pilot, died at a local hospital early this morning.

Miss Wallace, suffering from appendicitis, was taken to the hospital early in April. Following the first operation, it was said, peritonitis developed and although she underwent a series of operations and blood transfusions physicians were unable to save her life.

About two weeks before she was taken to the hospital, Miss Wallace figured in a spectacular glider crash here when the powerless craft she was piloting crashed from an altitude of about sixty feet into some telephone wires.

Miss Wallace was apparently unhurt and after the crash and before she was taken to the hospital she made several public appearances here. Although friends expressed the fear that she had been injured in the accident, she denied statements soon after she entered the hospital.

Funeral services will be Tuesday morning. A number of representative aeronautical leaders here are to be pallbearers.

BROKER UP ON LARCENY ACCUSATION

Harold Ryder Faces Quiz on Loss of $4,000,000 by Wall-Street Partners

NEW YORK, June 22. (AP)—Unshaven and haggard, Harold Russell Ryder, 37 years of age, until recently known as the "young wizard of Wall street" and the "millionaire playboy of Broadway," appeared in Tombs Court today as a result of the $4,000,000 failure last Thursday of Woody & Co., brokerage concern in which he was a partner.

His case was put over until Tuesday at request of the District Attorney's office, and he was continued on $10,000 bail on a charge of suspicion of grand larceny of $95,000 from a client of the brokerage house.

This charge, which asserts he failed to deliver securities for which he received money, is the only specific accusation against him, but his partners, Charles L. Woody, Jr., and Lucien A. Hold, as well as their wealthy relatives, friends and acquaintances, who formed the bulk of the clientele of the brokerage house, want Ryder questioned about the disappearance of more than $4,000,000.

Credited with having run a shoestring into $15,000,000 on Wall street, Ryder's bank account now stands at $615, investigators said. He gave $200,000 to a college and spent lavishly along Broadway, distributing $100 tips to waiters and "adopting" several chorus girls. Texas Guinan hailed him as "the greatest sucker of them all."

REDS GET LITERATURE INTO LATVIA VIA RAFT

RIGA, June 22. (Exclusive)—Latvian police are believed to have discovered the source of large supplies of Red literature which recently was smuggled into the country from Russia. While searching rafts of timber which were floating on the Dvina River, destined for Riga saw mills, watertight packages of paper were discovered. A number of arrested raftsmen were found to be agents of the comintern.

The Town House wishes you to know:

that, we would very much like to oblige the several people that have asked the names of the famous people we refer to in our Thursday column as having been seen by us in the Restaurant.

You will readily see our point, we feel sure, that we do not feel we have the privilege of publicising them without first obtaining their permission.

Not only do we think it would be indelicate, but a breach of hospitality—of which we hope never to be guilty.

So that we may meet the wishes of all concerned, we look forward, from time to time, to inviting some of the celebrities to write this column for us.

That, however, is in the future—for the present we invite you to share their pleasures in lunching and dining here.

~~Re-Perfected~~ PIERCE-ARROW

The PIERCE-ARROW series "80" Brougham which we have Re-Perfected and now offer for re-sale shows evidence of having been most carefully handled and most excellently cared for by the previous owner.

Its condition justifies the expectation of a long period of operation with no other cost than for gasoline and oil. The tires are brand new, the finish is good, and the entire chassis is in good order. We guarantee it as fully as we would a new car and will render the same degree of service as for a new car.

With records of from 12 to 15 miles on gasoline and a remarkable freedom from maintenance and repair costs, a Pierce-Arrow "80" is a very economical car to operate. This one is priced so low that motorists of modest means can afford to own and operate one of America's finer cars and do it with pride of ownership.

We invite you to test this car as you see fit, for power, ease of handling and for economy. We expect you to be delighted if you do. There will be no obligation after you try it.

Why did England's King start the vogue of the Windsor chair?

In a shepherd's hut near the royal castle at Windsor, King George I one day sought shelter from the storm. There he rested upon a chair unlike any he had ever seen before. It had been fashioned by the village wheelwright, on the principle of a wheel, with bent spokes and slender rim or felloe. The King was so pleased with its beauty that he had the chair copied and thus, according to legend, began the vogue of the Windsor chair. Its graceful lines are seen at their best in the Danersk Windsor chair pictured below.

When must hickory be split by hand?

The spindles of the back of an ordinary chair can be machine-made. But to impart the grace and individuality required for a fine Windsor, each spindle must be hand-made and hand-shaped. The interesting character imparted by such hand-craftsmanship can clearly be seen in the hand-split hickory spindles of the Danersk Windsor pictured below.

What type of chair-seat was most prized by our forefathers?

In olden times when good wood was more plentiful than now, the seat of a fine Windsor chair was usually carved from a single broad piece of wood. To follow this tradition in chair making today is difficult and costly, and so the average present-day chair seat is less staunch, and is composed of many pieces joined together. In the case of the Danersk Windsor pictured below, the old tradition has been scrupulously observed and the chair-seat is one wide piece of solid tulipwood.

In the Danersk Windsor pictured above, other points of distinction are the exceptionally graceful cabriole legs, the interesting duck feet, the curved and straight stretchers, the unusually ample proportions. The solid wood of each leg is carried clear through the seat, with a heavy round tenon, and is wedged from the top. Like all Danersk furniture, this chair exemplifies the finest in craftsmanship and design and was made by our own colony of Scotch and English cabinet-makers. Come and see this interesting Danersk piece together with the many new ones which have been added since your last visit.

SON PRESENTED TO LINDBERGHS

Heir Expected to Be Named After Colonel

No Announcement Made of Event by Family

Servants Report Baby Looks Like Father

and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh this afternoon at Ambassador Morrow's Englewood estate brought a thrill to the country where passed most of the courtship of the colonel and his lady.

The brief announcement of the child's birth quickly spread among government circles. A host of congratulatory cables were quickly sent the Lindberghs and to Ambassador Morrow.

Advised of the birth, President Ortiz Rubio told the Associated Press "through the American press I felicitate Col. Lindbergh and his wife. I shall hasten to extend my congratulations personally."

Mexico feels she occupies a prominent place in the history of the Lindbergh romance. The couple met in the United States, but it was during the colonel's visit here after his flight from Washington in December, 1927, that he first became seriously interested in Anne and she in him.

The romance budded at Ambassador Morrow's beautiful Cuernavaca estate, where the colonel was being entertained during his good-will visit.

Three or four times subsequently, Lindbergh returned to Mexico to see Anne. It was at Valbuena Field he gave his future bride her lessons in piloting an airplane.

There also they "cracked up" together in the colonel's airplane, in February, 1929, when the machine lost a wheel.

COMMITTEE TO VOTE ON PACT TODAY

Senate Group Advocates Confident of Support for London Naval Treaty

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will vote tomorrow on the London naval limitations treaty and its advocates were confident tonight of overwhelming support.

A report on the treaty tomorrow by the committee will put the pact before the Senate in ample time for consideration at the special session which President Hoover intends to call for disposition of the agreement.

Foes of the treaty are prepared to wage a determined assault upon it in the Senate, but they concede that right now they have not got the votes to defeat its ratification.

Efforts will be made in special session to defer consideration of the pact until November. The opposition to the treaty will get greater strength on such a move than on a direct vote on ratification and some believe a postponement may be possible.

However, treaty sponsors are going to insist upon prompt ratification and are determined to keep their sources on hand to block an adjournment motion.

HEADWINDS DEFEER ATLANTIC TAKE-OFF

DUBLIN, June 22. (AP)—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith today announced another postponement of his attempt to fly across the North Atlantic to America which had been scheduled tentatively for tomorrow. Unfavorable weather reports caused the decision. The report today indicated there were twenty-five-mile headwinds over the Atlantic and fog banks in the region of Newfoundland.

AND HE LOOKS LIKE DADDY!

Lone Eaglet to Be Reared in Strict Simplicity, Close Friend of Lindberghs Believes

NEW YORK, June 22. (AP)—The Lone Eaglet, son of the Lone Eagle and the daughter of America's Ambassador to Mexico, lay sleeping in his nest tonight, unaware of the acclaim his birth today calls forth from the world.

And, if the way in which his parents conduct their lives and relations to the public are an indication, the son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and the 24-year-old girl who is known to her friends as "Little Anne" will be reared in strict simplicity.

"I don't believe he even has a crib yet," a close friend of the family said tonight. "None of us knows anything about the arrangement made for him—his clothes, his carriage or anything. One thing you may be sure of—he'll be as simply reared as any child in America."

From the Morrow home in Englewood a servant spoke over the telephone to a New York newspaper, expressing some of the gladness within the household.

"They say he looks like his father!" he said.

Members of the family, however, preserved the same attitude of reticence that has surrounded affairs of the Lindberghs since the colonel's courtship of "Little Anne" in the flower-filled garden on the Morrow estate at Cuernavaca, Mex.

A few hours after the baby's birth Ambassador Morrow and his daughter Elisabeth attended a reception tea given at the home of a family friend in Englewood.

FORMER PARIS SIREN BROKE AND IN PRISON

PARIS, June 22. (Exclusive)—Suzanne Thuillier, called Primrose a decade ago, a famous demi-mondaine who sold the famous forty-three-carat sapphire "Blue Diamond," a gift of the erstwhile Emperor Nicholas of Russia, for 2,000,000 gold francs in 1927, today was arrested in Nice for failure to pay a taxicab bill. Primrose is stone broke and friendless. She is now 37 years of age and fat. She asserted she is homeless and was sent to prison.

FOES SCORE IN DETROIT MAYOR ROW

Petition of Recall Over Signed, But Writ May Block Election

DETROIT, June 22. (AP) — Employees of the city election commission today completed checking signatures on the petition to recall Mayor Charles Bowles. They found 93,276 valid signatures of registered voters, or 3536 more than the number needed to force a recall election.

There still is a possibility, however, that court action may prevent the recall being brought to a vote. Supporters of Mayor Bowles yesterday obtained a temporary restraining order forbidding City Clerk Reading to name a date for the election. Tomorrow attorneys for the Mayor will go before Judge Webster of the Circuit Court asking a permanent injunction on grounds that taxpayers' money would be expended for the election.

Leaders of the recall movement also will ask an injunction to prevent the Mayor and his supporters from using the taxpayers' money in their effort to prevent the recall election.

PARIS, June 22. (AP)—Lieut. Paris of the French navy, in a seaplane carrying one gross ton of useful cargo, today completed an endurance flight in which he remained aloft twenty-four hours, twenty-three minutes and three seconds. He covered 2883 kilometers (1771.7 miles) setting what are said to be new speed records for a seaplane with a 1000-kilograms load and also the duration record for that load.

STARS PROMISE MUCH FOR BABE

Lindbergh Heir's Prospects Pictured as Brilliant

Wealth and Following Steps of Father Indicated

Horoscope Cast by Widely Known Astrologer

(The Chicago Tribune Press Service hereby presents a horoscopic prediction of the future fortunes and temperament of the Lindbergh heir, made by Marion Meyer Drew, nationally noted astrologer, immediately following the baby's birth today.)

BY MARION MEYER DREW

NEW YORK, June 22. (Exclusive) The long-awaited Lindbergh baby comes into the world with a fortunate horoscope, one betokening money and prosperity gained from his illustrious parents.

He will always be a traveler, particularly over water.

Born under the air sign Libra, with the sun in the sign, Cancer, zodiacal findings reveal in him a great attachment to home life and domestic consideration, but those qualities will in no way prevent him from following in his father's path in the air, for he also has a pronounced leaning toward aviation.

In fact, before this little chap is 5 years of age he probably will have made at least one very important trip in his famous father's favorite element.

INFLUENCE OF FATHER.

His disposition, under Libra on his ascendant, will be artistic, amiable, affectionate and pleasure loving. In a weak horoscope those qualities might indicate that he would be easy-going, but his environment and training will develop in him the qualities of diplomacy and possibly also those of statesmanship. Again we see the influence of his father.

No nature is free from its problems and weaknesses — even this very strong and fortunate Lindbergh baby will have to go through some of the trials of mere mortals.

With impulse and inventiveness as his outstanding characteristics, the slightest misuse of these qualities by this youngest Lindbergh can lead to accidents and his friends are not apt to be of the most reliable type, owing to his tendency to place his confidences unwisely. Yet he has strength that will enable him to weather vicissitudes through apparent "good luck," that would wreck a less worthy craft.

IMPORTANT WARNING

But perhaps the most important warning of this young man's birth chart is that he will be unfortunate in dealing with property—in land dealings especially.

He should be warned at the proper time against going into partnerships with friends who would deceive him, for he is the one who will lose heavily unless more than usually cautious.

When he becomes of age he is more apt than not to suffer cruelly in his romantic ventures—especially through marriage. Temptation to marry will be his at 22, but I cannot see that he ever will be able to remain for long in peaceful companionship with any woman.

HELMET SENT COLONEL'S SON

Pink Bonnet Sets Fashion for Air-Faring Babies of Year 1930

THREE OAKS (Mich.) June 22. (Exclusive)—A pink-ribboned baby helmet made in the 1930 fashion for flying babies was on its way by air mail tonight to the son of Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh. Mrs. Joseph Lee, whose hobby for the last twenty years has been crocheting bonnets, for twins, triplets, quadruplets and "special" babies such as the Lindbergh heir, has been waiting for months for a definite report of the expected arrival.

She stayed up until late tonight to put the finishing touches to the little cap.

BEAUTY PARADE UNDER SCRUTINY

Miami Contest to Be Object of Twofold Inquiry

Railway Seeks $10,000 in Suit Against City

Effort to Be Made to Rule Out Two Winners

MIAMI (Fla.) June 22. (AP)—Miami's bathing-beauty contest troubles are expected to start toward solution tomorrow, when officials of the Beauty Pageant Association open a twofold, but formal investigation into charges that prize winners of March 11 were illegally entered.

G. A. Trice, president of the association, declined to comment on a suit for $10,000 filed yesterday against the city by the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company for railway fares for participants.

The suit disclosed several contest entrants did not travel from the States they represented.

PUBLISHER TO APPEAR

R. B. Brossier, Orlando (Fla.) publisher, said he will appear before pageant officials tomorrow with Miss Margaret Ekdahl of Tampa, who, as Miss Florida, was awarded third prize.

Brossier said he will present affidavits that Miss Janet Eastment, representing Texas, was ineligible to enter the contest or receive first prize as Miss America because she was married.

He will present similar papers asserting Miss Alberta McKellop, who carried off second prize, was not selected as Miss California.

Trice said he expects officials of the pageant association to take formal action on Brossier's contention that Miss Ekdahl should be designated Miss America because of asserted ineligibility of the other two girls.

Trice said that at the time of the contest he was aware some of the girls did not come from the States they represented.

MAYOR NAMED

The railroad company's suit charges $6624.74 worth of railroad tickets were furnished contestants under promise of Mayor Reeder of Miami that the transportation company would be paid by the city. The promise, the suit charges, was ratified by the city.

The suit asserts six of the entrants came from Shamokin, Pa., and that they represented the States of New Jersey, North Carolina, New York, Montana, Louisiana and Pennsylvania.

The action also charges Miss California, second-prize winner, came to Miami from McAlester, Okla.; Miss Mississippi from Wichita, Kan.; Miss Nevada from Dallas, Tex.; Miss Vermont from Bangor, Me., and Miss District of Columbia from Wheeling, W. Va.

AGUA CALIENTE PLANS BEAUTY CONTEST

SAN DIEGO, June 22. (Exclusive) Announcement that Agua Caliente plans a beauty contest, with three nationally known beauties as contestants and a purse of $10,000 at stake was made here today.

Among contestants who will be invited are Miss Alberta McKellop, San Diego girl, who was Miss California, won second place recently in a contest in Florida for selection of a Miss America; Miss Janet Eastment of Fort Worth, who, as Miss Texas, was honored with the title of Miss America, and Miss Margaret Ekdahl of Tampa, Fla., who, as Miss Florida, took third place in the contest.

CLARA BOW SQUELCHED BY MOGULS

She Slips Unheralded Into New York to See Richman and to Get Panning

NEW YORK, June 22. (Exclusive) Miracles do happen. Clara Bow dropped into New York some time today without the usual fanfare of press agents, flashlights and besieging horde of gasping girl fans at the Grand Central Station to greet her.

Her movements since leaving St. Louis Saturday morning were draped in startling mystery and her voice was silent. Only one thrilling bit of news came out of this mist of mystery that cloaked her arrival here. Harry Richman was at the station to meet her.

It was learned here today that Clara's visit is for the purpose of putting her "on the carpet" before the film moguls who employ her. They are said to be ready to hand her a last Will Haysian warning her to keep her heart and emotions under control and get into no breach-of-promise entanglements which brought her off-screen actions to public notice at Dallas, Tex., during the past fortnight.

"Get back to work and get back quickly," is said to be the tag line of this order.

A warrant charging larceny has been issued for Hedman.

Miss Sexton told police that she came to this city to marry Hedman after a former marriage to Leslie Timmons of Los Angeles had been annulled. She declared she married Timmons solely for the purpose of collecting $2143 willed her by her grandfather, a Sacramento physician, who stipulated that she must be 25 years of age or married when she claimed the money. Miss Sexton is 21.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

"I shall tell them," said Werper, "that I caught you after you escaped from the camp; took you to Achmet Zek, who directed me to bring you back. And I am to ride north with you at once and dispose of you at the most advantageous terms to a certain slave dealer." While this ruse struck the girl as rather an odd affair, still was she deceived by the apparent frankness of the Belgian. She realized that desperate situations required desperate handling. Though she trembled inwardly at again entering the vile village, she saw no better course.

So calling aloud to the gate tenders, Werper, grasping Jane Clayton roughly by the arm, walked boldly across the clearing. The sentries saw with astonishment Werper's companion and admitted them. Once more she was bound and guards placed before her prison; but before Werper left her he whispered words of cheer into her ear. Early the next morning, after a sleepless night, two Arabs entered her tent. They unloosed her bonds, gave her a handful of dry bread and led her out into the faint light of dawn.

Here were awaiting "M. Precoult" and a villainous lieutenant of Achmet Zek's. Lady Greystoke looked questioningly at "Precoult" and at a moment when the Arab's attention was attracted in another direction the man leaned toward her and whispered that all was working out as he had planned. Soon after she was lifted to a horse's back and the party began to march north. "M. Precoult" spoke with her seldom, but she understood that this was necessary to maintain the supposed fact that she was a prisoner.

But if he did not speak with her, the young woman was constantly in Werper's thoughts. A hundred times a day his eyes wandered in her direction and feasted themselves upon her charms of face and figure. Each hour his infatuation for her grew, until his desire to possess her gained almost the proportion of madness. And during these hot days of dreary marches another pair of eyes also greedily watched the fair prisoner; cunning eyes that peered from beneath the hood of a burnoose to gloat upon the beauty of Jane Clayton.

Will Tour World on Honeymoon

ROCKEFELLER SCION TO WED

Nelson A., Second Son of John D., Jr., Will Marry Miss Clark Today at Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, June 22. (AP)—Miss Mary Todhunter Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hamilton Clark of Willoughby, Cynwyd, a Philadelphia suburb, will be married tomorrow to Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, second son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of New York.

The wedding will climax a romance originating at Northwest Harbor, Me., where both families have summer homes. A mutual interest in sports led to a close association that resulted December 17 in announcement of their engagement.

The ceremony will take place at St. Asaph's Protestant Episcopal Church, Bala-Cynwyd, before a brilliant assemblage of the socially prominent of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other cities. Rev. Benjamin N. Bird, rector of the church, will perform the ceremony.

A reception will be held at the Clark home and immediately afterward Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller will leave on a honeymoon trip around the world.

They will make their home at Tarrytown, N. Y., where the father of young Rockefeller has erected a home on his Pocantico Hills estate, to be presented them when they return from their wedding trip.

Mr. Rockefeller will enter his father's office in New York.

it may be a different story. Twice within the last four years Montana has voted wet. It has repealed its State enforcement act. In the face of this wet sentiment in his State, Walsh has remained dry in the Senate. The Republicans are planning to nominate Judge Galen, a wet, and like Walsh, a Catholic.

SHEPPARD IN RACE

On July 26, Texas will vote. Senator Sheppard, chief sponsor of the Eighteenth Amendment, is asking the Texans to return him to the Senate for a fourth term. There has always been a dispute as to whether Sheppard was really the author of the Eighteenth Amendment. Biographers of the late Wayne B. Wheeler, head of the Anti-Saloon League, assert that he wrote it. Sheppard's principal opponent is ex-Representative Henry, a Democratic leader in the House during the Wilson administration, who is running on a wet platform. Sheppard probably will be renominated, although Texas is said not to be as dry as is used to be. In 1918 the State voted dry by a majority of about 20,000.

Senator Pine, Republican, is a candidate for re-election in Oklahoma. He recently struck a "gusher" in the oil fields and hence is not much worried about his future. He probably will have no opposition in the primary but he will have plenty in November. Pine was one of the lucky Senators who went into office on the crest of the Coolidge landslide in 1924. Candidates for the Democratic nomination are ex-Senator Gore, who won fame during the Wilson administration in spite of his blindness, and ex-Gov. Robertson. Both Gore and Robertson are running as wets, in spite of the fact that Oklahoma is classed as a dry State.

The Kentucky primary will be held on August 2. Kansas, Missouri, Virginia and West Virginia will do their primary voting on August 5. Tennessee will vote on August 7. Alabama, Arkansas, Nebraska and Ohio will hold their primaries on August 12; Wyoming and Mississippi on August 19; California and South Carolina on August 26; Michigan, Nevada, Arizona and Colorado on September 2; Louisiana, New Hampshire, Vermont and Washington on September 9; Georgia on September 10; Wisconsin, Massachusetts and New York on September 16. Maryland will have a primary some time after September 15.

In Idaho on August 26 the Republicans will hold a convention to decide whether to renominate Senator Borah. The chances are they will renominate him, although Borah has made no announcement of his candidacy and is making no campaign for delegates. Delaware will hold a nominating convention in September. Connecticut, New Mexico, Rhode Island and Utah also will nominate by convention instead of the primary, but the convention dates have not yet been fixed.

ANOTHER IN CUSTODY AS MAD KILLER

Suspect Taken in Jersey, But Slaying Witness Fails to Identify Him

JERSEY CITY (N. J.) June 22. (AP)—A man who said he is William Ernest Cordray, 31 years of age, was arrested today by a policeman who believed he bore a resemblance to the description of the Queens maniac slayer, but later it was learned the officer was wrong.

Miss Betty Ring, who was with Noel Sowley, one of the killer's two victims when he was killed in Queensborough, New York, came here to look at Cordray. She failed to identify him.

Cordray said he is a graduate of Georgia University and that he came to New York in 1925 to study law. For some time, he continued, he has been living a hand-to-mouth existence. He was held on a charge of vagrancy.

Visiting Mother Reaches France Seriously Ill

PARIS, June 22. (AP) — The first case of serious illness among American Gold Star Mothers visiting France was revealed today when Mrs. Edwin Lange of Cahkosh, Wis., arrived here suffering from a severe hemorrhage. She was taken to the American Hospital. Physicians said she is in a "very serious condition."

Mrs. Lange was landed on a stretcher from the liner President Harding at Cherbourg. She was very weak when she reached Paris and physicians indicated she must remain in the hospital a considerable time.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Loomis of Grand Rapids, Mich., another patient at the American Hospital, is reported much better today. Officials said she will join Group G, the seventh to reach France, on a tour of the battlefields soon.

Throng Urges Slayer's Death

EL PASO (Tex.) June 22. (AP)—Several thousand men and women, mostly bartenders, waiters and their relatives, today held a demonstration in Juares as a gesture to judicial officials in their demand that J. H. "Jeff" Meers, El Paso youth, should pay the maximum penalty in the killing of Antonio Visconte, bartender, shot Wednesday night in a Juarez saloon.

Meers said he shot Visconte in the belief he was Manuel Villareal, who shot Meers's father in an attempted hold-up in El Paso five years ago.

Wife Held in Dallas Killing

DALLAS, June 22. (AP)—William Roberts Brodnax, Dallas realty dealer, was shot in the head and almost instantly killed today while sitting on a bed in his apartment.

His wife, Mrs. Leona Brodnax, was arrested and charged with murder in a formal complaint prepared by Asst. Dist.-Atty. George and released on $15,000 bond.

Mrs. Brodnax refused to make a statement to authorities.

SPANISH PRINCESS KEEPS NATAL DAY

MADRID, June 22. (AP)—Infanta Beatrice, daughter of King Alfonso, today celebrated her twenty-first birthday, beginning the day with attendance at mass in the royal palace. She put in the collection box twenty-two gold coins, one more than her age. Infante Don Jaime will be 22 tomorrow. He will leave for Malaga the 27th inst. to embark for Ceuta, where a festival is being organized in his honor. The Prince of Asturias, heir apparent to the crown, will return to Madrid from Seville tomorrow.

DIVORCEE HURT DURING PARTY

Los Angeles Woman Plunges From Restaurant Window

Tragedy Terminates Presidio Wedding Dinner

Slight Hope Held for Victim; Skull Fractured

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22. (Exclusive)—Margaret Poole, attractive 25-year-old Los Angeles divorcee, was injured probably fatally early today in a leap or fall from a second-story window of a downtown restaurant. The accident terminated a gay party participated in by army flying officers from Rockwell Field, San Diego, after a military wedding at the Presidio.

Mrs. Poole and Mrs. Samuel W. Cheney, wife of Lieut. Cheney of the Eleventh Bombardment Squadron, Rockwell Field, drove up from San Diego for the wedding, which took place here Saturday night.

Lieut. Cheney with Lieuts. William C. Kingsbury and Charles H. Howard flew up for the ceremony in army planes. After the ceremony at the Presidio the southerners went to the restaurant for dinner.

Mrs. Poole absented herself from the table for a moment, and then the gayety of the dinner party was interrupted by a scream from the women's dressing-room, followed by a heavy crash. Waiters then informed the lieutenants that Mrs. Poole had plunged to the pavement from the washroom window.

Mrs. Poole was rushed to Central Emergency Hospital. There she was found to be suffering from a possible fractured skull, internal injuries and numerous cuts on scalp and body. Physicians said she has a slight chance for recovery.

CLEWS LINK MORAN GANG TO MURDER

Chicago Police Progress in Search for Slayer of "Tribune" Reporter

CHICAGO, June 22. (Exclusive) Clews that appears to connect the powerful North Side liquor and gambling syndicate of George (Bugs) Moran and Joseph Aiello with the murder of Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune crime reporter, are in the hands of the officers tonight.

James (Red) Forsythe, a hardened hoodlum, is being definitely hunted as the actual assassin of Lingle.

While seeking Forsythe in every part of the country the authorities also are out to seize Frank Foster, who recently had deserted the North Side gang to join the Capone forces, and who is known to have been the purchaser of the gun with which Lingle was slain. Foster, the police believe, may reveal how the weapon passed from his hands and to whom. Two others being sought are Simon Gorman, owner of a trucking business and an official in a laundry workers' union, and Frank Noonan, a union labor racketeer who on several occasions has been arrested with Forsythe, and who may be forced to give some definite information.

Murder-Suicide Cliff Mecca for Curious Throngs

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) June 22. (AP) Thousands of the morbidly curious today gazed in horror at towering West Rock from which Raymond C. Spang, demented World War veteran, yesterday pitched his wife and four children to their death and climaxed the tragedy two hours later by leaping after them.

In Ansonia, far removed from the blood-stained 410-foot cliff, bodies of the victims lay in a morgue while plans were made for their burial Tuesday morning.

The father and mother, Mrs. Gertrude Spang, 34 years of age, and the children, ranging in age from 3 to 12, will be laid to rest in a single, simple funeral service.

CANNIBALS MAKE RAID IN SOUTH NEW GUINEA

THE HAGUE, June 22. (Exclusive) Cannibals are on the warpath in Dutch South New Guinea, where man-eating Papuan nomads raided the village of Atoeka and after a furious battle killed every man and child and carried off the women to the interior. Dutch Indian police forces were rushed to the interior, where they caught up with the Papuans and engaged in a series of bloody fights. The cannibals were eventually routed and fled with their dead. The police later discovered debris and bones, proving that the Papuans had eaten their own dead warriors.

TRAIN DERAILMENT'S CAUSE UNDISCLOSED

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) June 22. (AP)—Cause of the derailment of a Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train last night at Hawks Nest, sixty miles east of here, which resulted fatally for the engineer and fireman, remained unreported or undetermined tonight. E. L. Boch, general superintendent of the western general division of the railroad, after spending the day at the scene of the wreck of "The Sportsman," en route from Newport News to Detroit, started to Huntington (W. Va.) headquarters without announcing the result of his investigation.

AIR CRASH KILLS OFFICER

GALVESTON (Tex.) June 22. (AP) Manuel Lera, 28 years of age, Galveston patrolman, was killed, and Kenneth Martin of Texas City was seriously injured when a plane piloted by Lera crashed four miles west of here late today.

EX-TRADE ENVOY'S WIFE GETS DECREE

TRENTON (N. J.) June 22. (Exclusive)—Aftern eighteen months as the bride of Warren G. Patterson, former United States trade commissioner to Bombay, India, during which time she charged she was frequently the target for her jealous husband's lighted cigaret butts and had her clothes publicly striped from her back, Mrs. Leonia Silak Patterson yesterday was granted a divorce. Chancellor Walker granted her an interlocutory decree to become final in six months, on the grounds of extreme cruelty.

AIR CRASH KILLS TWO

TAMAQUA (Pa.) June 22. (AP)—Gwilyn Arthur, 24 years of age, Lansford, and Joseph Fisher, 26, of Mauchchunk, were killed today in an airplane crash at the hometown airport near here.

JERSEY WOMAN IN SENATE RACE

Miss Thelma Parkinson

VINELAND (N. J.) June 22. (Exclusive)—Miss Thelma Parkinson, 31 years of age, is the unopposed Democratic nominee for the unexpired Senate term of Walter E. Edge, now American Ambassador to France. She is a candidate for the short term only, which ends March 4, 1931.

FALSE BILL REPORTED IN CIRCULATION

Secret Service Warning Describes Counterfeit Federal Reserve Note

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)—The secret service tonight issued a warning that an "extremely dangerous" counterfeit of a $10 note of the Kansas City Federal Reserve Bank is being circulated.

The bill is a counterfeit of the bank's 1928 series. It bears check letter "J," face plate No. 2, back plate No. 39 and is apparently signed by H. T. Tate as Treasurer of the United States and by Secretary Mellon. It bears the portrait of Hamilton.

The spurious note, the secret service says, was printed from finely etched photo-mechanical plates on one sheet of bond paper of good quality but slightly thicker than genuine.

In the Hamilton portrait the eyebrows are described as heavily shaded and the eyes as lacking the vitality shown in the genuine note. The finely engraved lettering under the signatures of Secretary Mellon and Tate is said to be barely discernible because of faulty etching.

W. N. Moran, chief of the secret service, who issued the warning, says the counterfeits have been found bearing different serial numbers. One was J06186756A and the other J10568977A.

Klein Praises Flexible Clause in Tariff Act

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)—Authority granted President Hoover and the United States Tariff Commission to change upward or downward rates proposed by the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill was said by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant Secretary of Commerce, in a radio address tonight, to constitute "a new and efficient instrument for public service."

Dr. Klein said the law will require the President to designate a new commission within nine days, and predicted the policy of the administration and personnel of the new body will "revitalize the flexible provision and make it genuinely helpful to consumers as well as producers."

HELEN DEAN WILL BE BURIED IN KENTUCKY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22. (Exclusive)—The body of Helen Dean, 25 years of age, stage and screen actress who died Thursday night, will probably be shipped to her parents in Kentucky tomorrow, according to her former husband, Dr. Myron B. Fractman, who was at the Halsted mortuary this afternoon concluding preparatory arrangements.

BYRD GREETED IN HOME TOWN

"Dick" Quietly Welcomed by His Old-Time Friends

Religious Service Feature of Simple Ceremony

Silver Bowl Presented to Antarctic Explorer

WINCHESTER (Va.) June 22. (AP) Rear-Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd came home today to Winchester, where he is known as "Dick."

His home town welcomed him in obvious contrast to the tumultuous affairs of New York, Washington and Richmond, with a celebration of the quietness and sacredness of home.

Open-air thanksgiving services "for the safe return of our heroic citizen, Admiral Byrd," a city resolution said, was the simple welcome.

MOTOR TRIP MADE

He with his family, Mrs. Marie Ames Byrd of Boston; his wife and Richard Evelyn Byrd III, their son; his brothers, former Gov. Harry Flood Byrd, and Thomas B. Byrd of Winchester; his mother, Mrs. Richard Byrd, Sr., and Mrs. H. F. Byrd, motored here this morning from Richmond, where last night the State at its capital city welcomed his return from the Antaretic.

They arrived at noon, home again after nearly two years that carried him to the southernmost ends of the earth and the aerial conquest of the South Pole. At 3:30 p.m. he and his family attended religious services in Handley High School stadium, conducted by Dr. F. T. McFaden of the Presbyterian Church.

Virtually every citizen of Winchester was present to hear warm words of greeting from an improvised pulpit and give thanks for the return of one of the most famous Virginians of his generation.

BOWL PRESENTED

The service concluded with the presentation of a satin-finished silver bowl to Admiral Byrd, by Mayor Strock on behalf of the city.

The bowl is engraved with the inscriptions, "To Rear-Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, whose loyalty to his native city has not been dimmed by world fame, and whose virtues are equal to his achievements."

Also on it are the coats of arms of the State of Virginia, and of the Byrd family.

Thousands of visitors came to Winchester for the home coming, to see and hear the admiral greet his life-long friends and relatives in his native town.

BISHOP PARTRIDGE DIES

KANSAS CITY, June 22. (AP)—Rt. Rev. Sidney Cathlin Partridge, 73 years of age, Bishop of the West Missouri diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, for years a missionary in the Orient, and an unusually colorful church figure, died here today after a brief illness.

ICE

..your friends will follow suit...

Best proof of the desirability of the new 1930 ice refrigerators is that when one woman trades in her old ice box on a new one... in nine cases out of ten her friends follow suit.

Of course these new refrigerators have beauty... and greatly improve the looks of any kitchen... but, more than that, they offer entirely new advantages in food capacity... saving in ice bills... protection to food... and greatly reduced prices (imagine beautiful 1930 white and pastel colored ice refrigerators selling as low as $30 to $70); and on easy terms.

The Union Ice Co. will make you a liberal allowance on your old ice refrigerator and deliver a new one exactly suited to your needs. Stop a clean Red, White and Blue Union Ice Truck for full details.

Don't pay more and get less! A chemical refrigerator would represent in first cost alone, the equivalent of your ice bills from now until 1942. There is no safe substitute for ICE refrigeration. Why pay more and get less? Start taking ice today.

An Enlightening Pictorial Review of Admiral Byrd's Historic Trip to the South Pole Is On Display at Bullock's, between Broadway and Hill streets on Seventh street. The photographs are supplied through the courtesy of the New York Times and the Los Angeles Times and comprise a comprehensive picture story of the activities of the Byrd expedition in the Antarctic. The exhibit will remain in the Seventh-street windows of Bullock's and later will be transferred to the Paramount Theater where the motion-picture "Byrd at the South Pole" opens Thursday. Above is a Times photograph of the display.

VICTOR AND VANQUISHED

Harry M. (Bud) Eichelberger, right, yesterday won the annual California Country Club invitational golf tournament when he defeated Lester Coleman, 3 and 2. Eichelberger parred all sixteen holes played, while the only holes Coleman won were the fifth and ninth, which he birdied.

EICHELBERGER TRIUMPHS

"Bud" Defeats Lester Coleman, 3 and 2, in Finals of California Country Club Invitational

BY BRAVEN DYER

Cracking out pars on every hole, Harry Eichelberger, Jr., more familiarly known as "Bud," won the annual California Country Club invitational tournament yesterday by defeating Lester Coleman, one of the California standbys, 3 and 2, in the eighteen-hole finale.

The tall, well-built youth from the Los Angeles Country Club played machine-like golf that was not to be denied. He was on every green in the regulation number of strokes, never took more or less than two putts and as a result Coleman found himself trimmed on the sixteenth hole, which was halved.

A. H. "OLLIE" PAINTER.

"Bud" slammed his drives down the middle of every fairway and his approach shots were always on the green. Many of his putts rimmed the cup, but refused to go down for birdies. In other words, he played perfect golf and that is generally enough to win and was yesterday. The nearest "Bud" came to a bad shot was his approach to the sixth, when his niblick took a bit too much turf and left him a long putt to get near the hole. But he immediately responded by running the pellet to within sixteen inches of the can and got his par.

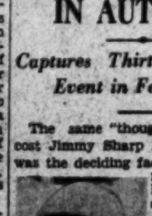
GETS EARLY LEAD

Lester was 2 down after three holes had been played, losing the second and third when he was unable to get on either green in the regulation number of shots. The

SHARP VICTOR IN AUTO RACE

Captures Thirty-Lap Main Event in Fast Time

The same "though break" that cost Jimmy Sharp last week's race was the deciding factor in his winning the thirty-lap main event at the Legion Ascot Speedway yesterday. Sharp had been following Francis Quinn around the curves for twenty-seven laps when the casing on Quinn's rear tire came off and slowed him up to such an extent that Sharp, who was only a few feet behind, went on to win the race.



FRANCIS QUINN.

Charley Gelston, driving one of the fastest races of his career, also went by Quinn to take second place. Quinn managed to pull in third by driving the last two laps on a flat tire. Speed Hinckley took fourth, and Bert Stanley, a newcomer, drove a sensational race to finish fifth. The winner's time of 14m. 58s. was declared to be the fastest thirty-lap race ever run at the Legion Speedway.

Quinn and Sharp are now even up for the past two weeks, since Quinn won last week's main event,

PHILADELPHIA, June 22. (AP)—The big boys, Primo Carnera, Italy, and George Godfrey, Leiperville (Pa.) Negro, went through the final motions today, and at the end of brief workouts were pronounced fit for their ten-round collision at the Phillies' ball park tomorrow night.

Because one of the unusual weight the battling giants will lug into the arena underpinning has been strengthened with steel beams. Primo will scale about 268 and the Black Panther about 245.

Owing to the size of the fighters' hands their gloves will be almost skin tight. So much of the six-ounce weight limit was used in the extra amount of leather required that very little padding was possible.

PRIMO CONFIDENT

Carnera, with a long string of quick knockouts to his credit since his American invasion began six months ago, expressed confidence through his manager that Godfrey would go the way of his other opponents and be counted out before the final round.

He conceded the dusky Goliath the greater experience and greater boxing skill, but said Godfrey could not stand up under his powerful punches to the body.

Godfrey figured left hooks to either stomach or jaw would pave the way for a knockout wallop, and predicted the ambling Alp would be dropped for the count.

SLATTERY AND ROSENBLOOM CLASH WEDNESDAY

NEW YORK, June 22. (AP)—Primo Carnera's ten-round joust with George Godfrey and a fifteen-round engagement between Maxie Rosenbloom and Jimmy Slattery for New York State recognition as light-heavyweight champion, are the highlights of the current week's boxing program.

The Carnera-Godfrey fray at Philadelphia tomorrow night has aroused more general interest than perhaps can be justified under the circumstances. Carnera's march through second-rate heavyweights from one coast to the other has been marked by frequent whisperings that all was not as it should be. In Godfrey, the big Italian will be meeting his most dangerous foe. The Leiperville Negro is about as strong and durable as they come and he can punch as well.

Rosenbloom and Slattery will stage their "championship" battle in Bison's Park, Buffalo, Slattery's home town, on Wednesday night. Slattery won State recognition as 175-pound title-holder by outpointing Lou Scozza, his fellow-townsman, several months ago. At that time the New York State Athletic Commission tempered its award with a condition that the winner must battle Rosenbloom. Slattery is a fast and skillful workman but Smaxie Maxie is the toughest man in the division to beat. He will enter the ring at no worse than even money and may even be on the long end of the betting.

SAN DIEGO, June 22. (Exclusive) Swimming stroke for stroke across the 670-yard Silver Gate channel, Buster Crabbe of L.A.A.C. and Austin Clapp of Hollywood Athletic Club yesterday featured one of the most sensational aquatic races of all time, with Crabbe touching out the 1929 winner by only a split second, time, 10m. 8 1-5s.

NORENE FORBES.

Both winners hit out like a flash of lightning for a genuine arm-in-arm battle down the straight away. Crabbe had previously drawn a position four men away from Clapp and the pair raced away from the field.

STIRRING BATTLE

The first 220 yards was an individual battle the like of which has probably never been seen before. These two Olympic and national stars will probably have return engagements over this distance in the L.A.A.C. meet next Sunday, and the national outdoor championships in Long Beach, July 3, 4, 5 and 6.

Jimmy Triole of Oakland Athens Club was third. The Hollywood Athletic Club won the men's team trophy. Two boys from the Ambassador Swimming Club won first and second cups in the 12-year-old junior division, while Edward Roe of Georgetown, Ind., over 40 years of age, not only won the men's veteran trophy, but placed twenty-fourth in the men's swim as well.

Josephine McKim, formerly of Panama and now a member of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, had a similar individual contest with Norene Forbes, unattached star, over the first 400 yards, but pulled away from her in fine style at that mark. She touched the finish 12 3-5s. ahead of Miss Forbes, in 11m. 27 2-5s.

Close competition shown by Miss Forbes ranks her as a prospective place winner in either the 440, 880 or one-mile national championship at Long Beach, July 3, 4, 5 and 6, in which Miss McKim is entered as the defending champion. Trophies were awarded by San Diego merchants to the first twenty winners in both the men's and women's divisions.

BRITISH NET PLAY OPENS

Helen Wills Moody Out to Win Women's Singles Crown for Fourth Straight Season

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) June 22. (AP)—The blue-ribbon classic of European tennis—the British championships—gets under way here tomorrow with 224 competitors from twenty-three countries. Play will continue for two weeks to find title winners in men's and women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

So far as Wimbledon's women's singles championship is concerned, they might as well hand it to Helen Wills Moody for the fourth year running.

HELEN WILLS MOODY

The only formidable opposition to America's champion of champions is Helen Jacobs, who in the seeded draw is expected to contest the final with Mrs. Moody just as she did last year.

Mrs. Phoebe Watson of the British Wightman cup team, who took five straight games from Mrs. Moody in the international cup matches a few days ago, and Senorita Elia De Alvarez, Spanish star, have withdrawn from the tournament on doctor's orders, making the American champion's task all the easier.

With Elizabeth Ryan as Mrs. Moody's doubles partner, this American pair probably will win the women's doubles championship, although their task will not be nearly

VARSITY GOLF STARTS TODAY

Collegiate Tourney Opens in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, June 22. (AP)—One hundred and three college golfers, representing every section of the country, will unsheath their war clubs tomorrow and brave the traps of the Oakmont Country Club course in quest of national intercollegiate honors.

Fifteen colleges will be in the field for the team championship, with eastern schools predominating and with Princeton on hand to defend 1929 laurels. Other eastern teams will be Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, Penn State, Pennsylvania, Bowdoin, Williams and Holy Cross. Notre Dame, Ohio State and Illinois will represent the Middle West, Alabama the South, and Rice and Texas the Southwest.

Golfers of these schools also will seek the individual championship now held by Thomas Aycock, Yale, who is not participating. Other golfers in quest of the individual crown will represent Geneva, University of Pittsburgh, Southern California, Ashland, Lafayette, Union, Brown, Swarthmore,

HULVEY TWIRLS SHEIK VICTORY

Carlyle's Two Homers Help Hank Cop Opener, 6-1

Lee's Errors Aid Missions in 9-to-4 Nightcap

Hollywood Captures Series by Margin of 5 to 2

BY BOB RAY

After Hank Hulvey had pitched them to a 6-to-1 triumph in the opener, the Hollywood Stars went haywire in the nightcap and allowed the Missions to annex a 9-to-4 decision in yesterday's Wrigley Field bargain bill. Oscar Vitt's Sheiks carried off the series, five games to two.

CLEO CARLYLE.

Hulvey, pitching a steady brand of ball, had an easy time subduing the Reds in the first game, for his second win of the week. Hank yielded eight hits but the Missions could make them good for but one run. Snappy support by Otis Brannan and Dud Lee, who nipped a couple of prospective Red rallies in the bud with double-plays in the late rounds, aided Hulvey's cause defensively, while Cleo Carlyle was the big noise for Hollywood on the offense. Cleo, by the way, got six hits in seven times at bat during the twin bill, but he did his heaviest work in the opener. Carlyle batted out two home runs and a single in that first contest to account for half of the Stars' runs.

Jack Knott worked the first game for the Klieferites and was not much of a puzzle to the Sheiks, who nicked his offerings for thirteen safeties. Jesse Hill, Dud Lee, Dave Barbee and Mike Gazella all helped. Carlyle put on an attack by collecting two hits apiece.

DUD LEE BLOWS UP

In the second game the Stars lost when the usually brilliant Lee blew up all over the lot. Lee made three rank errors and all of them figured in the Mission scoring. The Reds cinched the game with a six-run demonstration in the sixth.

Mert Nelson went the route for the Reds while Vitt called on Vance Page, Buzz Wetzel and George Holleman for mound service. It wasn't the hurlers' fault the Stars lost, however.

Eddie Mulligan and Barbee hit homers in the nightcap, the latter's being his third since joining the Stars last Thursday.

Killefer was forced to present a makeshift infield after young Al Wright had his right hand split by a line drive in the first game. With Bill Rodda out as a result of being spiked Saturday, the Reds were up against it for shortstops. Mulligan was moved over to short, Harry Rosenberg converted from a flychaser to a third-sacker and Kelly sent to center field.

STARS SCORE PAIR

Hollywood started the scoring in the nightcap, nicking Nelson for a pair of tallies in the second inning. Carlyle dropped a single in front of Huffi for a starter and stole second. Nelson walked Heath and then Bassler bunted the runners to second and third. Gazella fanned, but Page came through with a solid smash to center and both Carlyle and Heath galloped over the plate. Hill forced Page for the third out.

WASHINGTON OARSMAN STRAINS HIS SHOULDER

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 22. (AP)—The "Hudson Jinx" again struck the rowing camp of Washington, here training for next Thursday's regatta.

Coach Al Ulbrickson today announced Lawrence School, varsity No. 5 oar, suffered a strained shoulder muscle in yesterday's time trials which may keep him out of the race.

Whether School will be able to row Thursday will not be determined by physicians until Tuesday. In the meantime Ulbrickson has shifted Phillips from No. 3 to 5, taking Schmidt out of the junior varsity to fill Phillips's seat.

Kaufman is filling the gap in the Jayvee.

Washington covered the course last night in twenty minutes and ten seconds, Ulbrickson announced.

All was quiet on the river today. Washington and Pennsylvania oarsmen attended church in a body this morning and were luncheon guests of the rector.

Wisconsin was the only crew on the water, Coach Murphy sending a boat over the water during the early evening.

California's varsity oarsmen went for a boat ride on the river with Coach Ky Ebright.

In the Navy's camp it was reported Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd would drop in Tuesday. Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, and Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendent of the Naval Academy, are expected to head a party of Navy notables coming up for the race on the destroyer Coff.

UPLIFTERS' FOUR TAKE OVERTIME POLO CLASH

Nine chukkers of furious polo resulted in a 10-to-9 victory yesterday afternoon for the Uplifters over the Freebooters at Rustic Canyon Field. Young Scott Hackley scored the winning goal when both teams were deadlocked, 9 to 9. The two squads rode into the seventh chukker on even terms and they were likewise at the start of the eighth and ninth chukkers.

HAL ROACH

Lionel Pedley played a splendid game for the Uplifters. Eric's brother seems to have found himself, the railbirds contend. He scored five of the goals made by his team and figured in some of the others. Young Hackley tallied four times and Dr. Wilson once. Clair Brunson's work at back was praised from all sides yesterday. He was a tower of strength when it counted most.

For the losing team Hal Roach and Howland Paddock shared scoring honors. They tallied three times apiece. Will Rogers, Jr., scored one goal and Carl Beal one. Hugh Blue umpired.

Speedy Dado and Chato Laredo Battle Tomorrow Night in Main Event at Olympic

FLYWEIGHTS TO HEADLINE CARD

Olympic Features Battle Between Gamecocks

Other Promising Fights Signed by Doyle

Lamar and Hess to Meet on July 1

BY KAY OWE

After a month of one-sided matches the Olympic seems to be coming back with a month of naturals featuring top-notch talent in four different divisions.

Speedy Dado and Chato Laredo, two of the best flyweights in the country, are slated for Tuesday night. They are an even bet with the shade to the Filipino because he has only been beaten once in California and a lame shoulder helped Newsboy Brown do that.

Laredo is new at the club, but recently took a ten-round decision from Brown down at the Mexican border. Any flyweight who can even keep pace with Brown is first-flight copy.

Johnny Lamar came through a hard fight with Teddy Palacios at Hollywood last Friday night okay and will meet Goldie Hess on July 1. This is another even-money contest from all angles. It figures to be one of the best fights of the year.

The week following on July 8, Matchmaker Wad Wadhams hopes to put in the much-talked-of match between Fidel La Barba and Bud Taylor. Fidel is here and ready to go.

Taylor is in Detroit where he boxes Earl Mastro for Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons this week. If the Terre Haute Terror comes through the scrap uninjured he will come to California.

The Joe Dundee-Benny Miller bout is as good as made for July 15. There is some controversy over weight holding up the signing of Dundee who wants the fight at 150 pounds. Emmett Lodwith is asking to have the poundage moved up to 152.

The Olympic has just finished a month of bouts all but one of which ended in a three-round knockout. Dave Shade and Ace Hudkins went the distance in a tough fight, but with Shade winning rather handily.

The three-heat kayoes were Frankie Campbell over Tom Kirby, Bert Colima over Homer Sheridan and Jack Thompson over Joe Cordoza. All of these scraps ran true to form and did not prove big gate affairs.

The new line-up is more promising. Dado is the flyweight champion of the Pacific Coast—also claimant of the same title for the Orient. Laredo is the real 112-pound champion of Mexico. Lamar holds the so-called lightweight title of the Coast. La Barba is ex-flyweight champion and one of the chief feather contenders. Taylor was the bantam champion for a time, acclaimed by the N.B.A. Dundee lost the welterweight championship to Jackie Fields who was beaten by Thompson soon afterward.

The Olympic is no closer to signing Ace Hudkins and Bert Colima than ever. Colima is signed, but the Nebraskan has no interest in the bout.

STECHER MAY SHOW HERE

Marshall, Wycoff, George, Norbeck—All Have Chance to Meet Former Champion

One of the four young young heavyweight sensations who will appear on "Carnation" Lou Daro's all-star wrestling program at the Olympic Wednesday night, may be matched with Joe Stecher, former world's champion, it was announced yesterday.

According to Daro's present plans, he will pick the young star making the best showing in winning his match Wednesday night, and then attempt to get Stecher, three times holder of the world's title, to agree to a match with him.

The four wrestlers who will be competing for the next feature event spot here the Everett Marshall and Lee Wycoff, who will clash in the finish final event of the evening, and Don George and Moose Norbeck, who will meet in the opener.

These four young heavyweights are rated among the best of the new crop of wrestlers to make their appearance on the mat. Opposed to them, and in an effort to take the spotlight that night, will be Ed (Strangler) Lewis, one of the greatest wrestlers of all time, and Marin Plestina, who for years was one of the most feared grapplers in the game. These two will tangle in the other finish battle.

Stecher has never wrestled any one of the four young stars on Daro's mat card, and Lou is anxious to bring the great body scissor exponent into the ring with one of the newcomers to get a line on how the new generation of wrestling compares with the past one.

Marshall will be making his biggest bid to remain in the feature event class here when he meets Wycoff. His defeat at the hands of Lewis here two weeks ago was a decided setback to his efforts to get a return match with "Billy Goat" Gus Sonnenberg. Another defeat would put him out of the running for a long time to come. Wycoff's whirlwind wrestling style and diversified attacks are expected to force Marshall to extend himself to the limit to keep another defeat from being chalked up against him here.

George feels he is in condition now to meet the best heavyweight veterans in the game, and will also attempt to get back into the main-event class. He beat Nick Lutze in his first feature-event bout, and missed out on his second when he decided he needed more time in which to prepare for a match with Marshall that was offered him. The giant 235-pound Canadian, who is said to be a second Lewis, may upset his plans.

There is also a possibility that the winners of these two bouts may be matched to wrestle it out between themselves to see which of them may get the call for a possible match with Stecher, here.

Arrowhead to Stage Aquatic Meet Sunday

LAKE ARROWHEAD, June 22.—Feminine swimming and diving stars from the East and North will feature a mile-high aquatic meet here Sunday.

Included among the entries are Helene Madison of Seattle; Josephine McKim and Georgia Coleman of Los Angeles, and Eleanor Holm, Agnes Geraghty, Adelaide Lambert, Lisa Lindstrom and Catharine Ames of New York.

Coach Fred Cady of the Los Angeles A.C. will stage the meet and will bring his champion divers for exhibitions. These include Mickey and John Riley, Dutch Smith and Georgia Coleman, all holders of national titles.

Crowd Curiosity

THE crowd that will pack the ball park in Philadelphia tonight as Primo Carnera and George Godfrey surge together will be curious on at least three counts:

(1.) To see whether or not the man mountain from Italy is any good.

(2.) To see whether anything fuzzy will take place and if so just how the plot will be unfurled.

(3.) To see what a pretty good Godfrey, who is trying, can do to the invading mastodon.

It is much more of a spectacle than it is a sporting exhibition. But if Carnera can prove that he is as good as many seem to think he is, it may mean further excitement later on this summer against Campolo, Sharkey or even Dempsey.

In any event it will be a show that will attract the attention of the country. Proof of this is that Carnera has packed them in against pushovers and set-ups from one coast to another, attracting astonishing gatherings who knew they would only see a round or two.

With everybody, including the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission, looking for a dive or a fake, it will take some clever acting to put it over. But it should be known in advance that the Godfrey of 1930 is far from being the Black Leopard of Leiperville, who had to work under wraps most of the time before he began absorbing so many pork chops that surplus flesh took away his early speed. If Carnera is as good as some think he is, he can win without any prearrangement.

The Third Stand

Bobby Jones makes his third stand of the year in the classic that has brought him greatest success. This is the United States open championship, which starts at Interlachen, Minneapolis, on July 10, next. His record in this championship has been phenomenal since 1922, where he finished a stroke back of Sarazen. He has finished 1-2 every year with the exception of 1927 at Oakmont. He has won his title three times and has tied for the top on two other occasions when he lost to Macfarlane and Farrell.

Yet it is at Interlachen that he will face the hardest competition he has yet known. At Hoylake he had to beat Horton and Mac Smith, Diegel, Von Elm, Compston, Robson and Cotton, among the leaders.

At Interlachen Compston, Robson and Cotton will be missing but to more than offset these gaps there will be Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell, Tommy Armour, Jimmy Johnston and a flock of young stars who have come along in a hurry in the last two years. The caliber of the entry list at Interlachen will be far tougher than it was at Hoylake.

In addition to all this, Jones will feel the heavy strain of another championship—not so much a physical way, but along the line of nerve reserve. The nervous system will only carry so much pressure. When the reserve supply is used up it often takes weeks to get the system ready for another hard test. And a golf championship can eat up more than its share of this nerve reserve.

Few understand the demands that championship golf makes on the system. A week of high tension often demands a long rest, but Jones has youth, power, health, an almost flawless swing that is far less wearing than most golf swings, and all this will work in his favor. At any rate, the circumstances make the open at Interlachen one of the most interesting competitions yet entered on the lists.

Unusual Complications

Placing the heavyweight crown on Max Schmeling's dome had to lead to unusual complications. The fight had been billed as a championship. Schmeling, a foreign entry, won it legally. Yet in the manner of winning he was not able to prove that he was among the first three heavyweights.

It has always been my contention that the new champion was to prove his place at the top and his right to the crown, and that failing to prove this, no championship should be awarded. Normally, this would be the only sane way to handle the situation, the only logical procedure.

But the Sharkey-Scott incident at Miami had done this country no great good along sporting lines. It had brought the suspicion of the outside world upon the United States and there was a general feeling that no foreigner would be given a square deal.

They all remembered what happened to Oriqui — to Firpo — to Paulino in the Delaney fight—to Scott at Miami.

In the wake of these incidents it was almost necessary to award Schmeling a crown he had not actually won. It was true that it wasn't his fault. But since neither was a heavyweight champion the contest actually proved nothing—nothing except that Jack Sharkey still lacked control of his fists and that Schmeling failed to prove he was anything like a champion heavyweight.

All the German entry showed was that he had slipped a number of notches since his last visit over here—that he had gone back badly. If he follows the same course through the next year he will go back even more and will then be a target for at least two or three who might be thrown in against him. He will have to use this next year in an entirely different way from the last if he is to keep his crown on more than two or three rounds at his next start.

Club Doesn't Follow Ball Any Distance

BY SOL METZGER

Try as one may, even if a Helen Hicks, one cannot make the clubhead follow through after the ball for any appreciable distance. Here is Miss Hicks, after smashing a long iron, her club about a quarter of the way up on the through swing. But note that her clubhead is not following on a line after the ball.

There is a reason. The sound player is braced when swinging through. The club has been swung by the arms. The left shoulder is the center of the circle through which the club swings. It cannot follow directly after the ball, as the arc of the circle brings it up and around over the shoulders.

But try to make it go through after the ball. Too many of us strike the ball, and as we do that we pull our hands in toward our left hip. Result, clubhead is pulled in across ball and a slice results.

Your game is as good as your drive. Write Sol Metzger, care of The Times, requesting his free leaflet on Driving. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

GIANTS ANNEX

CINCINNATI, June 22. (AP)—The Giants spoiled the day for 500 Jackson (Mich.) citizens by trimming the Reds, 6 to 4, with Bennie Frey, Jackson resident, performing on the mound for the Reds on "Bennie Frey Day."

Frey held the Giants in check for six innings but they broke loose in the seventh and bunched two singles and two doubles to score three times and tie the score and then forged ahead in the eighth by adding three more on a base on balls, a single, a sacrifice, a two-bagger and a single in rapid succession. CARDS COP TWO

ST. LOUIS, June 22. (AP)—The Cardinals hit hard behind first-rate pitching today and conquered the Philadelphia Phillies, 12 to 3, and 9 to 3.

After a rather shaky start, Burleigh Grimes settled down in the nightcap and had no trouble winning. It was his first start since coming to the Cardinals from Boston. Grimes allowed thirteen hits but they did little damage.

In the opener Flint Rhem let the visitors down with five hits.

Jim Bottomley, first baseman, who had been at bat twenty-five times previous to today's games, without getting a hit, hit safely on his first three trips to the plate, one of the blows a home run.

In the second game George Fisher hit a home run inside the park and Catcher Davis of the Phillies was ejected from the game for protesting the decision at the plate. Score:

TWO FOR TIGERS

BOSTON, June 22. (AP)—Detroit took a double-header from the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 3, and 4 to 2, here today. The second game was called at the end of the sixth inning because of the Sunday sports law.

Milt Gaston for the Sox and Whitehill for the Tigers pitched glit-edged ball in the first game, but their support was poor, all runs scored in the game being unearned.

Gehringer's home run with Johnson on base in the fifth inning decided the abbreviated second game in Detroit's favor. Score:

SOLONS DIVIDE WITH SEATTLE

SACRAMENTO, June 22. (AP)—Seattle and Sacramento divided today's double-header, the Senators winning the morning game at Stockton, 8 to 2, and the Indians taking the climax of an eight-game series, 6 to 2. The teams also divided the series.

Lefty Tom Flynn had things his own way in the morning, while in the afternoon, Paul Zahniser enjoyed the same privileges. Home runs by Muller and Knothe, the latter with two on, wrecked the Solon chances in the nightcap. Scores:

New York Athletic Club Swimmers Arrive Today for Mercury Invitational Aff

NATIONAL MEET GOAL OF STARS

Gotham Outfit to Compete in L.A.A.C. Event

Prenational Contest on Friday's Card

Kojac, Zorilla, Rudy Head Aquatic Aces

The powerful New York Athletic Club swimming team arrived in Southern California this morning prepared to take part in the invitational prenational meet at the Los Angeles Athletic Club Friday evening and in the 1930 American outdoor championships at Recreation Park, Long Beach, July 3, 4, 5 and 6, next.

GEORGE KOJAC

The team boasts two Olympic Games champions in George Kojac and Albert Zorilla and one intercollegiate record-holder in Ray Ruddy, the Columbia University star and son of Joe Ruddy, veteran coach of the New York A. C. swimming squad. George Fiseler, sprint ace, and Leonard Spence, breast-stroke star, complete the line-up.

In Friday's meet at the L.A.A.C. both Kojac and Zorilla will be featured. The latter, who won the 400 meters swim in the Olympic Games at Amsterdam in 1928, competing for South America, will likely be pitted against Buster Crabbe of the L.A.A.C., king of western paddlers and holder of several world marks and seven American championships. The distance will be 500 yards, and Ruddy, intercollegiate 440-yard champion, will be a third starter.

Kojac holds all back-stroke records and is now one of the world's speediest free-style swimmers as well. He was only inches behind Johnny Weissmuller when the Chicago boy clipped off the world 100-meter record.

Helene Madison, queen of women swimmers, and who also appears in the L.A.A.C. meet, was originally due today, but her trip from Seattle has been delayed, and she will arrive later.

Miss Madison has lowered nine world records since she began her sensational record-wrecking career with a new 220-yard mark in the L.A.A.C. plunge last January.

The New York Women's Swimming Association team arrives here Wednesday and will compete intact at the L.A.A.C. The team includes Eleanor Holm, Agnes Geraghty, Lisa Lindstrom, Catharine Brown, Katharine Ames, Constance Hanf and Adelaide Lambert.

The majority of the visitors will do their training at Recreation Park, Long Beach, where they all seek American titles in the big meet starting July 3, next. The course is completed and in fine shape. Al Swartz and Bob Howlett, Illinois A. C. stars, pronounced the layout one of the finest in the country when they took a workout Saturday. The diving towers are now finished and such stars as Mickey and John Riley, Dutch Smith and Georgia Coleman of the L.A.A.C., Richard Loutitt of Hawaii, Bernice Phelan of San Francisco and Eldridge Ryan of New Orleans will test the boards this week. John Farrington of New York, A.A.U. official, inspected the platforms yesterday and pronounced them perfect.

ANGELS SPLIT BARGAIN BILL

The ball struck the right-field screen and Penebsky got to third. Crosetti was walked on purpose to fill the bases. Pinelli lifted a pop fly back of second base that Dittmar caught with his back to the diamond. Penebsky took a chance and ran for the plate after the catch. He scored because the throw was wild. Barfoot tried to scoop the ball to Hannah in time for the putout but Penebsky was over the plate with the winning run.

Cantlon Cops Akron Classic

AKRON (O.) June 22. (AP)—"Shorty" Canton of Detroit won the 100-mile automobile race on the Cleveland-Akron board speedway near here today. It took him 1h. 27:31:15 to circle the track 200 times. Russell Snowberger of Philadelphia finished second and Chester Gardner of Douglas, Ariz., third.

Between 12,000 and 13,000 persons watched Cantlon garner twelve points in the American Automobile Association driving championship race. Billy Arnold of Chicago, winner of the Indianapolis and Altoona races, lost a chance to clinch the driving championship, when he became ill and turned his car over to Eugene Haustein of Detroit, who brought it in fourth. Arnold drove only about twenty-five miles.

when Sharp blew a tire on the twenty-eighth lap.

Walt May returned to the ranks long enough to score a spectacular victory in the Italian Helmet dash, but was forced out of the thirty-lap event with motor trouble. Sharp and Quinn were not more than two car lengths behind the winner of this event.

Practically every one of the six races on the program was packed with thrills. The most exciting moment came in the consolation race, when C. Miles threw a wheel on the north turn. The wheel bounded up the side of an adjoining hill and rolled back down on to the track in front of the speeding drivers. Joe Kitowitz and Bert Spencer were saved from probable serious injury when the tire headed straight for their mounts and then obligingly bounced over their heads.

Al Gordon, Bert Stanley and Bobby Scovell were close seconds to Quinn and Sharp in furnishing the crowd with excitement.

Event No. 1, 160 laps—Won by Walt May; Jimmy Sharp, second; Francis Quinn, third. Time, 50.37.

Event No. 2, ten laps—Won by Francis Quinn; Jimmy Sharp, second; Charles Gelston, third; Walt May, fourth. Time, 5m.

EICHELBERGER TRIUMPHS

California star did not shoot as true as Eichelberger, a slight slice bothering him much of the time.

Les put himself back in the running with a neat birdie 3 on the fifth hole and was only 1 down, but lost this advantage on the seventh when he putted second and laid himself a perfect stymie. Coleman took a niblick and pitched over, but his ball ran past the cup.

He encountered more trouble on the 480-yard par-5 eighth, his second shot being sliced into the road from where he tried to run a shot through a trap. The ball was hit too smartly and cleared everything, including the green. Les then had another bad lie coming back and didn't reach the green with his second approach, thereby losing the hole when his next shot did not go down.

NEAT BIRDIE

Coleman rallied with a smart birdie on the 360-yard ninth, his third shot being only eighteen inches from the pin. The two then halved all holes until the thirteenth, where Lester took three putts after being inside of Eichelberger to start with. That was Coleman's death knell and when they halved the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth the match was over.

Eichelberger played beautiful golf throughout the entire tournament and richly deserved his win. After attending Stanford a year ago, he spent most of last year in Europe and only resumed playing golf upon his return. He's plenty hot right now.

The cards:

Par out	443	444	358—36
Eichelberger	443	444	355—36
Coleman	454	434	464—38
Par in	345	434	544—36—72
Eichelberger	345	434	5
Coleman	345	534	5

Finals of the second flight have not yet been played, due to an argument between Cecil Noe and Dick Keene, one of whom will meet Robert Vogelsang next Sunday.

Don Knittinger and Bill Halter had a great battle for honors in the first flight, the former winning on the eighteenth hole.

H. L. Snyder, Jr., a fine young golfer of California, won over George Hupp, 1 up, in the ninth flight after a tough battle.

SLADES WIN

The two-ball mixed foursome play yesterday set another record for California, there being forty and one-half foursomes in the competition. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Slade won low gross honors with 78, while low net went to Phil Carter and Mrs. W. S. Barnett, 85-14-71.

The California tournament, as per usual, was a huge success and much credit is due Fred Aberle, C. R. Cheney, Harry Burford and Hugh Sampson for their management of the affair. Ollie Painter, who was in charge at the first tee, reports that he lost six pounds. To those who know Ollie, this can hardly be looked upon as anything to speak of.

The results:

Championship flight finals, 18 holes—Harry Eichelberger (L.A.A.C.) defeated Les Coleman (C.C.C.,) 3 and 2.

First flight finals—Don Knittinger (C.C.C.) defeated Bill Halter (Fox Hills.) 1 up.

Second flight—See note above about play-off later.

Third flight finals—L. L. Dorr (C.C.C.) defeated C. R. L. Crenshaw (C.C.C.,) 3 and 4.

Fifth flight finals—R. R. Hosers (Oakmont) defeated L. R. Palmer (C.C.C.,) 2 and 1.

Sixth flight finals—Gordon Smith (L.A.C.C.) defeated C. P. Perry (C.C.C.,) 1 up twentieth.

Seventh flight finals—J. C. Thurman (Pasadena C.C.) defeated L. E. Lyon (C.C.C.,) 7 and 6.

Ninth flight finals—H. L. Snyder, Jr. (C.C.C.) defeated George R. Hupp (C.C.C.,) 1 up.

Tenth flight finals—H. E. Benson (Chevy Chase) defeated E. W. Brewer (C.C.C.,) 3 and 2.

MORRISON AND HUNTER BOW TO DUTRA BROTHERS

Teaming up as only two brothers can, Olin and Mortie Dutra administered a sound thumping to Fred Morrison and Willie Hunter in a thirty-six-hole exhibition match at the Brentwood Country Club yesterday. The two Dutras won, 7 and 5, after one of the best exhibitions staged in these parts in some time.

All four shot splendid golf, with long drives and wood shots featuring. Mortie out-slugged the other three from practically every tee.

At the end of the morning round the brothers were 2 up by virtue of Olin's 71 and Mortie's 72. Morrison had a 75 and Hunter a 74.

In the afternoon, however, Olin, who is right at home at Brentwood, where he is professional, carded a brilliant 66, equalling the course record, and this with Mortie's 72, even par, proved too much for Morrison and Hunter, each of whom improved tremendously over their morning showing. Fred had a 73 and Hunter a 70.

An enthusiastic gallery followed the four local pros, who played out the entire thirty-six holes in order to give the fans their money's worth. Proceeds will be used to send the pros back east for the national open.

Olin's afternoon card and Hunter's:

Par (out)	444	453	434—35
Dutra	434	442	434—32
Hunter	444	443	435—36
Par (in)	434	454	354—36—71
Dutra	434	354	344—34—68
Hunter	434	444	254—34—70

BRITISH NET PLAY STARTS

so easy as Mrs. Moody's is expected to be in women's singles.

Big Bill Tilden is the center of unusual interest at Wimbledon this year, mainly because of the great sequence of tournament successes the tall Philadelphian has enjoyed since early this year.

He has been beaten only twice in all this time and Henri Cochet of France, who was responsible for one of Tilden's beatings, will be at Wimbledon to try to halt Big Bill again.

Although Tilden is the most formidable American threat in men's singles, he will have plenty of support from the American Davis Cup team, George Lott of Chicago, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., and John Doeg of Santa Monica, as well as the former Fordham University player, Eugene McAuliffe.

In the women's division, Mrs. Moody and Miss Jacobs will have American support from Sarah and Mianne Palfrey of Boston and Mary Greef of Kansas City.

Tomorrow's play will be confined entirely to cutting the big field of 128 entries in men's singles to sixty-four. Tilden will meet A. A. Fyzee of India; Allison plays E. F. Moon, Australian Davis Cup star; Doeg meets Wigel Sharpe of England, who has a reputation for upsetting Wimbledon stars; Van Ryn plays W. A. H. Duff of Canada, and McAuliffe meets H. K. Lester of Great Britain.

Tilden is seeded second to Cochet in men's singles with Jean Borotra, France; Doeg, Lott, H. W. Austin, England; Baron H. L. De Morpurgo of Italy, and Moon seeded in that order behind the two leaders.

In doubles, the Lott-Doeg and Allison-Van Ryn combinations get the first two seeded places with Cochet-Jacques Brugnon and I. G. Collins-J. C. Gregory behind them.

Mrs. Moody naturally, heads the seeded players in women's singles and she and Miss Ryan head the list in women's doubles. Tilden and his German partner, Cecilie Aussem, are seeded first in mixed doubles.

FILS DE LA LUNE WINS

AUTEUIL (France) June 22. (AP) Mme. Fockenberg's Fils De La Lune, an outsider, won the Grand Steeplechase De Paris here today before a record-breaking crowd. Mercure, another outsider, was second and Brutus was third.

Frame Wins Jersey Race

WOODBRIDGE (N. J.) June 22. (AP)—Fred Frame of Los Angeles won the feature twenty-five-mile automobile race at the half-mile board speedway here today before a crowd of 10,000. On his tenth lap, Frame was struck on the head by a fragment of the track boards. He was momentarily stunned, but stuck to his task and led the field across the finish line.

CHITTUM NABS RACE

COLUMBUS (O.) June 22. (AP)—Bill Chittum, Columbus, won the 100-mile automobile race on the Beulah Park half-mile dirt track at Grove City today. The time was 1 hour and 21 minutes.

Bilge Club to Stage Annual Golf Tourney

Members of the Bilge Club, an organization of shipping men, will hold their first annual golf tournament Friday, the 27th inst., starting at 1 p.m., at the Royal Palms, San Pedro. More than forty prizes have been offered for the event, according to the president, J. C. MacQuiddy, marine superintendent for the Standard Oil Company. A perpetual trophy is donated by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company through its general manager, E. W. Hanney.

The tournament is for members only but a barbecue to follow in the evening will be open to both members and their guests. W. R. (Billy) Wickersham heads the arrangements committee. He is assisted by the following committee chairmen: George Bankson, tournament; Charles Houghton, rules; Ray Mitchell, starting; F. A. Black, prizes; W. P. Tanner, reception; E. R. Brucker, entertainment, and Capt. Harry H. Birkholm, publicity.

TRACK DATE ANNOUNCED

California Intercollegiate Meet Will Be Held Here Next Year

Los Angeles next year will be the scene of the Olympic intercollegiate track meet and California and Stanford will be guest teams at the California Spring Sports Carnival, according to Director of Athletics Hunter of the University of Southern California, who today announced several Trojan sports dates for next year.

The California Intercollegiate track meet, which takes the place of a California dual [illegible] conference championship affair for March 21.

the University of Southern California, Stanford, California and U.C.L.A., will be staged on May 16, according to Hunter. Simultaneously with Hunter's announcement, it was stated by Arnold Eddy, assistant general manager at S.C. that the Coliseum will be available for this and other Trojan track meets of 1931 despite the fact that further additions to the huge bowl are to be made next year.

The spring sports tournament will be staged April 3 and 4 and teams in tennis, golf, fencing, water polo, swimming and gymnastics will participate, according to Director Hunter.

Other dates of Trojan competition in 1931 just agreed upon are the Southern California-California track meet at the Coliseum April 11 and the Southern California-Cali-

CLUBMEN LOOK UP SCORES

Ceiling in "Big Three" Club Clubroom Tells Tally of Football Games

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) June 22. (AP)—The new Harvard-Yale-Princeton Club to be erected in William Penn Way here will have the ceiling of the main dining-room decorated as a crazy-patch of the scores of historic football games.

Pacific said today that the Western Pacific and Great Northern are prepared to start work immediately and independent of each other. Surveys for the line were completed last summer.

COTTON GIN FOR VISALIA PROMISED

California Cotton Credit Company to Establish New Plant in That City

VISALIA, June 22. (Exclusive)—A cotton gin is to be established here by the California Cotton Credit Company and will be ready for occupation by the end of July, according to company officials. This will be Visalia's first cotton gin. It will be brought here from Brawley. The gin will be located on Maddox Way at the eastern limits of the city. This expansion by the company is the result of increasing acreage of cotton in this section. It is expected that the local yield will be sufficient to give the gin a heavy run this year.

BUTTONWILLOW GINNING COMPANY INCORPORATED

BUTTONWILLOW, June 22. (Exclusive) — Initiating a big business enterprise for the Buttonwillow district three Bakersfield men have filed articles of incorporation here for the Buttonwillow Ginning Company, and are authorized to capitalize to the amount of $200,000 with shares at $100 each.

The three directors of the new corporation are: C. E. Houchin, L. H. Houchin and A. Lumia.

Campers Told Shovel and Ax Must be Taken

PORTERVILLE, June 22. — All camping parties within the National Forest will be required to carry a shovel and ax per car or per pack outfit, as result of orders from the regional forester, due to prevailing dangerous fire conditions. This regulation become effective this week-end in Sequoia National Forest, with headquarters here. The following are considered standard equipment: A shovel at least thirty-six inches long with a blade at least eight inches wide. An ax with handle at least twenty-six inches long and head weighing not less than two to two and one-half pounds. These tools must be in serviceable condition and suitable for fire-fighting purposes.

Elwood Mead to Visit California

PORTERVILLE, June 22. — Elwood Mead, Federal director of reclamation, of Washington, will visit California at an early date to secure first-hand information on the water situation. These data will include a report on findings of the Federal and State water commissions.

Word of Director Mead's proposed visit was received by Irvin H. Althouse of this city, member of the Tulare county water unit.

It is considered very probable that Director Mead will visit this section durin his stay in California and investigate water conditions in Tulare county.

Child Injured by Elevator

PORTLAND (Or.) June 22. (AP)—With both of her legs fractured in an unexplained accident in the elevator of an apartment building, Jean Summa, 9-year-old daughter of Howard Summa, outfielder for the Portland baseball team, is in a hospital here tonight.

The apartment manager said the child apparently sat on the floor of the elevator, pushed her legs through the grating and started the lift upward.

Two Added to Saints' Roster

VATICAN CITY, June 22. (AP)—At an impressive ceremony at St. Peter's today two new names were added to the roster of saints of the Catholic church. Many Americans were present.

Pope Pius in a Latin allocution solemnly proclaimed the canonization of Caterina Thoma, a Spanish canoness, and Lulucia Filippini, Italian founder of a teaching order of nuns.

NATION'S WORLD BUSINESS GAINS

Goods and Service Supplied Totals $10,045,000,000

Foreign Lands Furnished Us $10,054,000,000

United States Disclosed as Heavy Borrower

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)—America's balance sheet on international business of 1929 was issued today by the Commerce Department. It registers some of the largest totals ever set up to cover a year's transactions between the nation and the world at large, and disclosed the remarkable shifting of trend by which this country, though remaining still most important of money lenders, became also a borrower of tremendous sums of cash temporarily advanced by Europe.

Summing up all discoverable totals of international credits and debits arising from transactions of 1929, the official study found the United States supplied goods, gold and services to foreigners having a value of $10,045,000,000, while foreign nations furnished Americans in like items a total of $10,054,000,000.

INVESTMENTS DECLINE

Practically, every figure entering into the composite totals was larger than those set down in previous year's study of international economic relationships, with exception of those attaching to American foreign investments.

These dwindled to $696,000,000 in 1929 from the record of $1,484,000,000 set in 1928, for reasons attributed to American stock speculation last year.

Foreigners were estimated to have purchased $1,537,000,000 worth of American stocks and bonds during 1929, invested considerably more in this country than Americans sent abroad. In addition, foreigners lending or investing capital in the United States during the year collected $414,000,000 in interest, as an offset to the total of $876,000,000 collected by Americans during the same period in interest and dividends from great sums of investment abroad made during the previous years.

BALANCE OF TRADE

American tourists traveling in Europe, Canada, Mexico and other quarters of the globe spent $839,000,000, which constituted a debit in the national account, which foreigners visiting here offset only to the extent of $180,000,000.

Along with these figures the balance sheet included the credit of $5,241,000,000 the United States gained by its record-breaking export of commodities in 1929, imports of goods being a debit of $4,400,000,000. A whole series of miscellaneous "invisible" exports and imports completed the account.

"The private debts of United States citizens to foreigners, approximately $7,500,000,000, are now greater than any time in American history. That means, of course, that on absolute amount we are now the greatest debtor nation (on private account) in the world's history, though on net balance we are one of the most important creditor nations.

"Increase of foreign funds in the United States during 1929 was apparently slightly above $400,000,000. One looks forward to the possibility of increases of the same order in years to come. Foreign trading on American stock exchanges—purchases and sales—during the year totaled well over $4,000,000,000."

Car Blast Kills Touring Couple

DENVER, June 22. (AP)—A terrific explosion kille a man and a woman, hurling their mangled bodies hundreds of feet, and demolished their automobile six miles south of Denver today.

Papers in the man's pockets partially identified the couple as Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hogan of Hill City, Kan. Marks of Denver merchants in their clothes indicated they had recently made their home in this city.

Four Executed in Koehler Case

NOGALES (Son., Mex.) June 22. (AP)—Gov. Elias of Sonora, who arrived here from Cananea, Son., announced that four men involved in the fatal shooting on the 2nd inst. of Charles Koehler, American mining engineer, near Cananea, were court-martialed and executed near Cananea yesterday.

Gov. Elias did not disclose the names of the four executed.

Three Die From Fumes of Still

NEWPORT (Ky.) June 22. (AP)—Three persons were asphyxiated today by fumes from a 500-gallon still in the home of August Remenowsky, 39 years of age, according to Coroner Walter B. Hughes.

The dead are Remenowsky, Mrs. Matilda Remenowsky, 38, and Anthony Sendelback, 39.

RUTH ELDER CAMP INJURED BY HORSE

NEW YORK, June 22. (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Elder Camp, today disclosed that she was injured last Monday when she fell from a horse in Central Park. She said her back was bruised and that the horse stepped on her right hand, causing her to spend three days in bed. Mrs. Camp was rescued at sea in 1927 when she attempted to fly to Europe. She was married on August 30, 1929, to Walter Camp, Jr., son of the late football authority.

PRIEST GOES TO EUROPE

VISALIA, June 22.—Rev. Father George D. Doyle, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, will leave this evening for a visit of ten weeks in Europe. The first stop will be made in Philadelphia, Rev. Doyle's former home. A week from Tuesday he will sail on the S.S. York from New York City to Bremen, Germany.

SPEED ON PORT WORK SOUGHT

Ship Interests to Urge Haste on Federal Program

War Department Aid Will be Asked This Week

Bilge Club's Tournament Has Large Entry List

BY WALDO DRAKE

Shipping interests this week will solicit the co-operation of the War Department and the local Harbor Department in the plan to speed up beginning of the $1,346,000 port dredging program, which, with $7,000,000 for the new breakwater, was authorized in the new rivers and harbors bill.

Simultaneous dredging of the triangular shoal area in the outer harbor, where the 2,056,000 cubic yards of clay to be obtained will be used as a base for the 12,500-foot breakwater extension, with the inner harbor dredging projects will be urged by port civic leaders and shipping executives. Although Harbor Department heads are known to be in favor of early removal of the outer harbor shoal area, which extends between Reservation Point and the main fairway, aid of Maj. W. H. Lanagan, United States district engineer, also will be solicited.

Other major dredging projects authorized include widening of Cerritos Channel—connecting Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors—to 400 feet and to a uniform depth of thirty-five feet; removal of the East Basin shoal, and deepening the Long Beach Harbor entrance to forty feet.

Actual construction work on the new breakwater is not expected to get under way before June, 1931.

SEVENTY ENTERED FOR GOLF CONTEST

Seventy members of the Bilge Club have entered the club's first annual golf tournament, which will be played over the Royal Palms course at San Pedro on Friday afternoon. It was announced last night by William H. Wickersham, chairman of the executive committee. For the gallery events during the afternoon and the barbecue in the palm grove in the evening an attendance of 200 shipping men is assured, according to the count of General Chairman J. C. MacQuiddy.

Delivery of the three-foot Bethlehem Trophy, which hereafter will be a perpetual challenge cup for the event, will be made tomorrow by E. W. Hannay, general manager of the local yards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation. Thirty-nine other prizes also have been donated for the tourney, so that all golfers within hailing distance of the top flight will place in the money.

Mr. MacQuiddy has appointed the following shipping executives as chairmen of the indicated committees: Tournament, George A. Bankson, Dollar Steamship Line; executive, W. H. Wickersham, customs broker; rules, Charles I. Houghton, insurance broker; starting, Ray Mitchell, Marine Hardware Company; prizes, Frank A. Black, Standard Oil Company; reception, W. P. Tanner, commission broker; entertainment, F. R. Brucker, Bethelhem Shipbuilding Corporation; publicity, Capt. Harry H. Birkholm, General Steamship Corporation.

Kerr Line's British motorship Silverguava was at the yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation yesterday for installation of a new port quarter plate and propeller repairs, as the result of being rammed Saturday morning by a Standard Oil bunker barge. She is scheduled to begin loading out for the Singapore range next Thursday and will sail on Saturday on schedule.

L. E. Archer, Pacific Coast manager of the International Mercantile Marine Company, will sail for New York this morning aboard the Panama-Pacific liner California for a conference with International Mercantile Marine executives relative to Panama-Pacific Line expansion plans. Also among the 500 passengers will be Otis Le Roy, J. P. Morgan & Co. executive.

The Swedish motorship Tolken, of the Trans-Atlantic Line, of Gotenborg, arrived from the north yesterday to load out 75,000 cases of kerosene and gasoline at the Texas Company and outer harbor terminals. She will sail on Thursday.

Prof. David Muzzey, professor of the graduate history department at Columbia University, arrived at the port yesterday from New York aboard the Dollar liner President Van Buren to lecture on American history during the summer term at the University of California at Los Angeles. Prof. Muzzey is the author of three standard textbooks on American history. Others arriving on the around-the-world liner include Prof. John Berdan of the Yale faculty, who will give English lectures at several coast universities, and Mrs. F. J. Horne, wife of Capt. Horne, commanding the aircraft carrier Saratoga.

SHALLOW ZONE PRODUCER IN

Venice Well Flowing From 700 to 1000 Barrels

Mohawk Gets Oil at 3830; Gravity Test 22 Deg.

Company Plans to Put Down Six More Holes

The first well to produce from the shallow zone at Venice was placed on production yesterday afternoon by the Mohawk Petroleum Company, from a depth of 3830 feet. Last night the well was rated at from 700 to 1000 barrels a day, the gravity test being 22 deg. The gas pressure is 700 pounds on the casing and 120 pounds on the tubing. The well is known as J-No. 1. It is in Block J at Forty-third street, on the ocean front.

According to reports last night this well is approximately 100 feet higher on the structure than the Del Rey No. 1, which was unsuccessfully tested a couple of weeks ago by the Union Oil Company, for shallow-zone production. Several oil companies have made a try for production from the shallow zone, but Mohawk is the first one to succeed. The company plans to drill six wells there. Derrick already is up for J.-No. 2 and O.-No. 1.

THREE NEW KERN HOLES UNDER WAY

Two Projects Started in Midway District and One in Sunset Field

BAKERSFIELD, June 22. (Exclusive)—Three new oil wells were spudded in during the past week in Kern county, two in the Midway field and one in the Sunset district.

Standard Oil Company began drilling its No. 77 on Section 1, 32-23, and Republic Petroleum spudded its No. 38 on Section 7, 32-23, in the Midway field. General Petroleum Corporation has begun its No. 218 on Section 35, 12-24, in the Sunset area.

Tests for water shut-off reported for Kern include: Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company No. 9, Section 7, 32-23, Midway; No. 34 on Section 23, 28-27, Kern River, and No. 1, Section 17, 28-29, Round Mountain; Standard Oil Company No. 44, Section 9, 32-24, Midway; Barnsdall Oil Company No. 4, Section 17, 11-23, Sunset; George F. Getty, Inc., No. 1, Section 23, 29-27, Fruitvale; Shell Oil Company No. 12, Section 20, 28-29, Round Mountain; Petroleum Securities Company No. 5, Section 26, 27-28, General Petroleum Corporation No. 12, Section 16, 27-28, and Pacific Western Oil Company No. 6, Section 15, 27-28, Mount Poso.

Standard Oil Company has abandoned its Equitable No. 1 well in the Midway on Section 10, 32-23.

Mines Exhibit Will Feature Arizona Fair

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 22. (Exclusive)—Especial attention is to be given this year to the mining display of the Northern Arizona State Fair, which opens July 2. A special exhibit building has been assigned to the industry and will be under charge of Albert Konselman of this city.

L. V. Root of Kingman is installing a large exhibit from Mohave county mines. A number of mining corporations will show mechanical processes for ore reduction, while there also will be a large exhibit of nonmetallic minerals, such as onyx, tufa and gypsum.

New Oil Quest Reported on Way at Bowie

BOWIE (Ariz.) June 20. (Exclusive)—Still another effort is being made to develop commercial oil here, where there has been repeated demonstration that petroleum actually exists at depths below 1200 feet.

Los Angeles interests, associated with the Bear Springs Oil and Gas Company of Bowie, have started a twelve-inch hole near San Simon, east of here, where twelve sections are under lease.

Drilling is reported as continuing on the 3000-foot San Simon well, near Bowie, and on a new hole in the Mammoth section of the San Pedro Valley.

Smelter Slag Saves Douglas Cost of Sewer

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 22. (Exclusive)—The local civic authorities have evolved a satisfactory and economical system for disposition of garbage. The refuse is dumped out at the smelters, where the advancing slag soon covers it with a fiery and most sanitary envelope.

Possibly 90 per cent of the garbage burns. Announcement has been made that the dumping of city refuse outside the slag area will be considered a common nuisance, subject to prosecution.

OIL MEN IN BEACH TOWN GO DEEPER

Redrilling Huntington Field Wells to Be Tried by Developers

The Superior Oil Company is rigging up to deepen its Jones No. 1 well at Twenty-second street and Ocean Boulevard in the town lot area of Huntington Beach. The Jones lease of 100 feet frontage has two wells on it, one of which has been a good producer. When town lot drilling began the Jones No. 2 was drilled three years ago. It was a 2200-barrel producer, and is still yielding 300 barrels a day on compression.

Last winter Superior redrilled a well at Twenty-first and Ocean Boulevard and the well now is producing 300 barrels a day on compression in the 4800-foot zone.

The Camp Oil Company is still drilling through hard formation at 4900 feet on the W. T. Newland ranch at Quincy and Hampshire streets.

The Barnsdall Oil Company is drilling at about 6200 feet in its wildcat on the Newland-Borchard lease of 160 acres, at the east side of town. They are coring constantly and the cores show brown shale with streaks of oil sand.

Operators of the Golden Dome lease, the C. G. Ward property, temporarily have abandoned plans for a new well on the lease because they object to the new city ordinance passed at a Council meeting early in June. The ordinance calls for steel derricks, a $5000 bond posted to cover cleaning up abandoned wells and requires that all derricks shall be constructed of steel if within 125 feet of another rig, building or road.

Henry Comstock, superintendent for a private drilling company, is rigging up on the fifty-foot lot at Twenty-second and Walnut streets, owned by P. A. Kingsland and Henry Herbert of Huntington Beach, and S. S. Wool of Pasadena. It is a new hole in the town-lot section, the property having never been drilled.

COMING OF RAIL BOON FOR HOBBS

Traffic at New Oil Town Since Line's Completion Heavy in Volume

HOBBS (N. M.) June 22. (Exclusive)—Not only is the new oil town of Hobbs receiving an enormous traffic of lumber and other building materials over the new Texas and New Mexico Railroad, but the passenger trains are crowded each day to capacity with new arrivals. Shipment of lumber into Hobbs has averaged fifteen cars daily ever since the railroad was completed.

Many solid trains of loaded oil tank cars are moved each day out of the Hobbs field. During the last few months, the town has grown from a population of a few hundred people to more than 6000. The transient population each day numbers more than 3000 persons.

One of the business features of Hobbs is the large number of oil field supply houses that have been established here. At this time, forty-nine nationally known oil well supply companies have opened for business here. The only pipe line outlet of the field is that of the Humble Oil and Refining Company, which is operating its eight-inch pipe line to capacity.

Crude Output of California Down for May

The total production of crude oil in California for May amounted to 19,044,444 barrels, an average of 614,337 barrels per day. This is a decrease of 11,288 barrels per day under April production.

Total stocks of crude and all products in Pacific Coast territory increased during the month 538,775 barrels. The total stocks at the end of the month were 187,731,534 barrels. The total stock increase for 1930, up to May 31, was 2,967,801 barrels.

Sixty-four wells were completed during the month with an initial daily production of 34,954 barrels, compared with fifty-four wells completed during April with an initial production of 42,142 barrels.

Oil Struck in Walker Dome's Arizona Well

WINSLOW (Ariz.) June 22. (Exclusive) — The Walker Dome Oil Company has struck oil at 993 feet at a point twenty-five miles north of Grants, N. M. The product is reported of high quality, similar to that of the near-by Midway field and is in a section where oil was found at shallower depth, but was lost when the hole was shot for production.

Ownership is wholly in Arizona hands, including prominent residents of Winslow, Flagstaff and Holbrook, who hold 3000 acres there. Many attempts have been made to find oil in the sandstones around Winslow and Holbrook, but there now is no activity in this section.

WILDCAT FED MIXED RATION

Standard Uses Baled Hay, Sawdust and Other Forage in Drilling Deepest Hole in World

Deep drilling in the oil fields of this State has reached the stage where operating companies have begun feeding their wildcats baled hay and sawdust. Proof of this astounding assertion is contained in an official statement of the Standard Oil Bulletin, wherein it is stated that the company's Mascot No. 1 in the Midway field, now rated as the deepest hole in the world, consumed twenty-three bales of hay, 780 sacks of sawdust, 660 sacks of cottonseed hulls, and quite an assortment of other things before reaching a depth of 9629 feet, where it was indefinitely suspended.

Standard's own account of the drilling of this well, which required more than fifteen months, is in part as follows:

"This well was 'spudded in' during January, 1929, the decision to drill it and to continue to so great a depth, if possible, having behind it the following facts: The company's attention had been directed during the early part of 1928 to the completion of several large wells within the brown shale in the western portion of the Midway, which led to a revival of interest in the possibilities of this formation. The company wanted to know more about it; so certain rights to the Mascot Oil Company property were acquired, and in due course the exploration hole, which was destined to become the world's deepest well, was started.

"It was drilled by rotary, with the usual equipment employed for routine development in this field, and during the early stages of the drilling much difficulty was experienced in maintaining circulation of the mud utilized in this drilling process. To keep up the circulation, and to regain it when lost, an interesting variety of agents were resorted to. For example, there were introduced into the hole at different times, mixed with the fluid mud, 42,000 pounds of aqua gel, 580 tons of dry mud, 650 sacks of cement, 6300 pounds of a fissure-sealing compound, 660 sacks of cottonseed hulls, 781 sacks of sawdust and twenty-three bales of hay.

"To understand how these ingredients effected desired results calls for some understanding of the rotary process. A string of drill-pipe terminates in a perforated bit, and mud pumped down through the pipe is forced out through the two vents in the bit and returns to the surface, its return passage being the space between the drill-pipe and the wall of the hole. Besides bringing up the cuttings made by the rotating bit, the mud serves to plaster the walls of the hole so that in not too unfavorable formations it is possible to drill to very considerable depths before inserting casing.

"The latter usually is deferred as long as possible, for with each string of casing set, the diameter of the hole is of necessity reduced. In loose formations the mud may escape instead of sealing up the walls and returning to the surface. That is what it did in Mascot No. 1 until the aforementioned hay, sawdust, etc., were introduced and accomplished what mud alone failed to do.

"Nine-inch casing was run into this well and cemented at a depth of 6350 feet. To relieve the lines and derrick of the enormous strain —the complete string of casing weighing 143 tons—a 'float' valve which sealed the lower end was used, causing the casing to 'float' in the heavy mud, which thus partially sustained it. However, 85 per cent of its weight hung on the lines before the job was completed.

"From where the nine-inch casing was cemented (at 6350 feet,) the hole continues 3279 feet—'open' hole 7 7-8 inches in diameter. The drilling of a hole of such diameter, to such a depth, without casing, also is an astonishing, unparalleled well-boring achievement. The final string of casing was five and three-fourths inches, and was cemented at 9302 feet."

CINNABAR AREA GETS NEW SPUR

Coal Find in Big Bend of Texas Proves Stimulant to Mercury Mining

TERLINGUA (Tex.) June 22. (Exclusive)—Discovery of a large deposit of coal in the extreme southern part of the Big Bend region and within eight miles of the cinnabar mines of the Terlingua district has greatly stimulated quicksilver mining here. The coal property is owned and is being developed by the Chisos Mining Company.

About ten tons of the coal is being mined daily and is used for generating gas, which provides fuel for the quicksilver furnace of the company.

Substitution of gas for wood in the furnace means a considerable saving in the cost of operation, it was stated. A large steel storage plant is being constructed and a gas supply sufficient for other furnaces of the district will be provided.

Until the recent introduction of gas from coal the several furnaces here had to depend wholly upon wood for fuel. The region is sparsely timbered with a desert growth of mesquite shrubs and the fuel supply was rapidly becoming a serious problem when the discovery of coal occurred.

TOMBSTONE MINE DEAL REPORTED

Guggenheim Group Said to Have Optioned No Account Hill Estate

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) June 22. (Exclusive)—The Guggenheim interests are reported to have taken an option on the Tombstone Extension silver-lead mine on No Account Hill. No announcement has been made of the money consideration. The property has been under development by Harry Hasselgreen and Blue Holt, backed by the De Autremont Brothers of Tucson. Rich sulphide ores have been developed at 140 feet depth and length of 500 feet. Still another high-grade body of sulphide was encountered only a few days ago.

A Boston group of capitalists is reported as being about to start extensive development work on a property between Tombstone and Charleston, purchased about four years ago from Hal and Paul Smith.

The Morris Run Mining Company is pushing a tunnel in its property south of the Three R mines in the Patagonia section, to cut the old Gray shaft, with an ore body already developed.

Production of Hobbs Area in Rapid Advance

ARTESIA (N. M.) June 22. (Exclusive)—It is the belief of many operators that the production of Hobbs field will reach 100,000 barrels within the next thirty days. The increase of production has created a demand for some sort of proration agreement among the major companies.

Preliminary steps have been taken to reach a proration policy that will be agreeable to the operating companies as well as the State Land Office, because most of the drilling is being done on State land. Many major oil company representatives attended a meeting at Dallas last week, held in the office of J. E. Pew, vice-president of the Sun Oil Company, but no announcement has been made as to whether a proration policy was adopted.

Barium Plant Completed at Barstow Mine

Barbee S. Hook and Cooper Shapley of Los Angeles have just completed a 100-ton mill for the treatment of barium ores at Barstow. The mill is treating tailings from the old Waterman mine about two miles from Barstow and producing barium sulphate.

Barium sulphate is used for the manufacture of barium sulphide, which is used for removing hair from hides, but has many other uses. All the production of this mill is used by Los Angeles plants.

The mill at Barstow is said to be the first plant in the world to use the flotation process for the recovery of barium sulphate.

CALIFORNIA OIL POLICY PRAISED

Expert Says Curtailment of Benefit to All

Gives Credit to Umpires for Great Improvement

Says Marketing Problem of Major Importance

That State-wide oil curtailment for California has benefited both consumer and producer, is the belief of J. Elmer Thomas, chairman of the committee of five experts appointed several months ago by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur to assist in making a complete analysis of the petroleum needs of the country.

J. ELMER THOMAS

Although in reality no longer an oil operator, Mr. Thomas is here primarily to acquaint himself with California methods of curtailment.

Mr. Thomas had the opportunity of discussing curtailment methods with H. Paul Grimm, umpire for thirty or more fields in this State, and who also was a member of the committee of five experts. He praised the efficiency of the umpires in California and stated that compared with conditions six months ago, great progress has been made.

"In recent years," said Mr. Thomas, "the increased ability to locate oil deposits has built up a reserve supply of oil which removes the necessity of carrying burdensome stocks of crude and alters the program of marketing all the oil that can be produced. Because of this new situation, the new program can gradually be adopted.

"The new economics dictate that a supply only sufficient to meet the current demand should be marketed, and since storage stocks are unnecessarily high, methods of ratable restriction for the normal flow of wells must be devised and employed. Progress has been made and we are now closely approaching the levels dictated by a sound economic program."

That the marketing of oil still remains one of the greatest problems to be solved by the oil industry is the declaration of Mr. Thomas. He stated that its solution will follow as a natural sequence, now that adjustments are being perfected in the refining and marketing divisions.

"It should not be supposed that restricted operations are unprofitable for oil companies," Mr. Thomas asserted. "On the contrary, a bountiful supply of the raw commodity is a vital necessity to any manufacturing and merchandising business, and we have that in the oil industry."

CONDITIONS IN KINGMAN MINE TOLD

White Horse Shaft Hits Tunnel at 150 Feet and Working Station Cut

KINGMAN (Ariz.) June 22. (Exclusive)—At Mineral Park the shaft of the White Horse mine has made connection with a long tunnel at 150 feet. A station has been cut and sinking below that level has been continued. The work is on what is represented as a fine body of ore, while in the tunnel a third ore body has been cut, one said to be of importance, and leading directly under a big outcrop on the side of the mountain. In charge is A. Swan of Los Angeles.

A new crosscut in the United Republic property is reported to have developed 111 feet of mineralized matter between walls, the entire mass of a low-grade milling ore, bearing copper, gold and silver. Two bodies of higher grade have been blocked out. The company's 150-ton selective flotation mill has been overhauled, especially the Diesel engine, and early operation is expected. P. L. Mullen of Kingman is president of the organization, and J. B. Peyton of Los Angeles is secretary-treasurer.

A fine body of tungsten ore is reported opened on the tunnel level of the Boriana property, fourteen miles east of Yucca. This tunnel now is 1500 feet long.

The machinery of the Highland Mining Company in Todd Basin is reported to have been shipped to Los Angeles by the Thompson-Dudley Machinery Company.

PROJECT IN TULARE OF INTEREST

Terra Bella Company's Shallow Producer Gets Operators' Attention

Oil operators were greatly interested during the past week in the shallow well of the Terra Bella Oil Company, near Terra Bella in Tulare county. The well was placed on the pump last Tuesday for a production test and it put out at that time a quantity of what appeared to be "lube" material. Later the hole sanded up, and yesterday the crew was trying to clean it out.

This well started flowing from a depth less than 1000 feet. Some geologists believe that the production is coming from a main structure on a dome north of the city, where several years ago small production was found at 1500 feet, but a water shut-off could not be obtained.

Several Bakersfield oil men were at Terra Bella yesterday, endeavoring to tie up available acreage, and it was reported that three new wells are to be started in that region during the next two weeks.

OPERATIONS IN OILDALE FIELD TOLD

Third Producing Well of Bishop Oil Shows Sixty Barrels Daily

OILDALE, June 22. (Exclusive)—The Bishop Oil Corporation's McDonald No. 1 on Section 26, 28-27, recently completed in the Kern Front territory, shows a production of sixty barrels a day.

The oil is fourteen degree gravity and has a cut of 3 per cent. Bottom is at 2112 feet with the eight and one-quarter-inch casing at 2013 feet. This is Bishop's third completion in this field and the second in about three months.

Testing of the water shut-off on the eleven and three-quarter-inch casing at bottom of 2102 feet is being effected by Standard Oil Company on its Fee No. 24 in the Kern Front field, Section 15, 28-27. This is the only Standard well in action at the Front. The Chanslor-Canfield-Midway Oil Company has one on Section 23, 28-27.

At Kern Front, Standard has nine leases, two of which are producing. They are on Section 15, 28-27, and Section 27, 28-27. The former, during May produced 27,142 barrels of oil, the latter 13,366, bringing last month's total to 40,508 barrels.

MINE CHIEF OPTIMISTIC ON COPPER

United Verde Manager Believes Curtailment Now at Low Point

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 21. (Exclusive)—"There is nothing wrong with the copper industry," says W. Val De Camp, general manager of the United Verde Copper Company of Jerome. He expresses the belief that it must prosper along with the rest of the business world.

Matters will have to be much worse before there will be any further shutdown in Arizona copper mines, for the companies have learned that it is much more costly to close even temporarily, than to continue operations. He stated that copper consumption has a natural increase of 6 per cent per annum.

Much of the present stagnation lies in diminished orders from Europe, where industrial conditions are not of the best, though there has been a material decrease in demand in America. The situation is bettered by the fact that manufacturers just now have small stocks of copper on hand.

Tucson Mining News Reported

TUCSON (Ariz.) June 21. (Exclusive)—North of this city, the Bunker Hill management has completed a 400-foot shaft on its property at Sombrero Butte and is cross-cutting to the vein, work to be complete in a week.

At Copper Creek, the Fields Mining Corporation is cutting a station at 700 feet and will drift along a silver-lead vein that has been exposed for 800 feet on the 500-foot level. This mine was a profitable shipper during 1929.

TEXAS PLANNING HUGE PIPE LINE

University Board Considers 325-Mile Project

Would Carry Natural Gas to State Institutions

Approximate Cost Estimated at $3,250,000

AUSTIN (Tex.) June 22. (Exclusive)—Construction of a natural gas pipe line from the Big Lake field in Reagan county to Austin for the purpose of supplying natural gas to the several State educational and elementary institutions is under consideration by the Board of Regents of the University of Texas. The proposed pipe line would be approximately 325 miles long.

In view of the fact that more than 90,000,000 cubic feet of gas from wells located upon land owned by the university in that field is going to waste daily, the importance of commercializing the fuel is apparent, it is stated by R. L. Holliday of El Paso, member of the Board of Regents. Some of the gas is utilized by a casinghead gasoline plant in the field, but the residue gas from that plant is available for fuel use.

In addition to the gas supply in the Big Lake field, there are many wells upon land owned by the University of Texas in the fields of Pecos, Crane and Ector counties which are producing an enormous aggregate volume of gas daily, all of which is now going to waste. It was stated by Mr. Holliday that the State institutions at Austin now are paying more than $100,000 annually for fuel. He estimated that the cost of constructing the pipe line would be about $10,000 a mile.

MINE CLAIM RULE STILL OPERATIVE

Confusion as to Annual Assessment Work Made Plain in Statement

Doubt has been expressed by some owners of unpatented mining claims regarding the necessity for doing their annual assessment work this year; the period for doing which ends at noon July 1, 1930.

According to Walter W. Bradley, State Mineralogist, confusion has resulted through the introduction in Congress of Senate Bill 4337 granting exemption from annual labor on mining claims, and reports have gained circulation that on account of the extreme low price of silver, this bill has been passed. Such is not the case.

In view of the fact the commissioner of the General Land Office has recommended that the bill be not enacted into law, and the statement of Senator Oddie, chairman of the Committee on Mines and Mining, that efforts to secure action on it are not advisable at this time, it appears certain that such annual work will not be suspended.

In case the work has been delayed in anticipation of the bill's passing, if it is started before noon July 1 and is thereafter prosecuted during the usual work hours with "due diligence" until completed, the claim will not be forfeited. However, it is much better and safer to have the work completed before the expiration of the time allowed for doing it. The question of whether or not it was continued with "due diligence" will not then arise.

An affidavit (proof of labor) must be filed for record in the office of the County Recorder of the county in which the claim is situated within thirty days after July 1.

Ohio's Project at McKittrick Down 6000 Feet

McKITTRICK, June 22. (Exclusive)—The Ohio Oil Company is down below 6000 feet in its deep test well on Section 32, 20-22, in this district. It is known as M. & M. No. 1.

Hard brown shale formation, with gray sand showing cuts, is being cored. The well was cored from 5885 feet to 5960 feet and in between those points found the gray sand and showings.

M. & M. is the deepest well ever drilled in the field, having superseded by more than 950 feet the Whiston water well and a small oil producer on Section 30, 30-22, which is having hole cased at present.

High Grade Ore Being Hoisted at Bonney Mine

LORDSBURG (N. M.) June 22. (Exclusive)—High-grade ore is coming from the 700-foot level of the Bonney mine, a copper-gold-silver property that has been a consistent producer for many years. At present the company is hoisting 100 tons of ore a day, exclusive of a material addition from leasing operations.

For twenty-five years a controlling interest in the property has been held by J. B. Foster, with management now in the hands of C. R. Riley. Mr. Riley also has charge of operations in the Waldo mine, where a three-compartment shaft is being driven to 840 feet in depth.

...nal Hill, are planning out ... to obtain signatures ... approximately twenty Ven... oil operators in the State... production ... curtailment agreement which ... effective to ... vember 1.

The fact-finding committee ... which ... lishes potential ... and recommends ... ables, has placed the Venice field in Group Three, with the Keiths Hills field, and Neil Anderson as umpire at Venice. It has been decided that the Venice field is to have an allowable of 6000 barrels daily until new completions in the near future make it necessary to adjust the figures. It is believed by Messrs. Anderson and Jergins that the field can be signed up within the week.

Seven new locations at Venice have just been made. They include Hale & Hoxworth, Lang, of Pacific Western Oil Company, Shore Petroleum Corporation, the Petroleum Company, Taft Drilling Company and the Elmer Oil Company. These are located in Cuts and Silver strands.

The Ohio Oil Company has solved the problem of disposal of its oil for the present. The company's pipe line has been hooked up with the Standard Oil Company's line running to El Segundo. According to reports, the principal major companies have agreed to handle all of Ohio's oil after the Venice operators have signed the oil conservation agreement and a price has been established for the production.

One refining company has paid 50 cents a barrel for Venice oil and it is believed that another price may became general in the field. Officials in close touch with the situation still assert that oil of a sulphur content is not sought by major oil companies because it is difficult to treat and local plants are not equipped with desulphurizing machinery. The expense of such equipment has discouraged somewhat a previous wish to handle the output and there still remains some doubt as to the profitable outcome.

Despite the apparent unwillingness of major oil companies to buy Venice oil, there still may be found a way to dispose of the product through eastern refineries. Four refining companies are taking production from the Deuel Petroleum Company and the Star Petroleum Company, and this may serve to provide the smaller refineries with plenty of crude oil for making gasoline.

Shell to Drill New Project at Round Mountain

ROUND MOUNTAIN, June 22. (Exclusive)—The Shell Oil Company is making preparations to drill another well on its Lease No. 1 on the Olcese lease on Section 20, 29-23, in the Round Mountain field. This location is 200 feet south and 200 feet west from the west quarter corner of the section. Shell has one well drilling ahead and one just spudded in another there.

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company is drilling a new well at Round Mountain, known as Minn No. 2, approximately 300 feet north and 248 feet west from the center line of Section 19, 27-28. The company is drilling on Section 27-28, and has another site staked on Section 6, 27-29.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analyses will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality (near which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with sample.

Two Samples

LOS ANGELES, June 2. Question: Inclosed find two samples of rock which came from a vein about eleven feet wide. The bluish sample dominates about two-thirds to one-third of the pink. The pink I have been told is feldspar, and I do not seem to be able to find any one who can tell me what the blue one is. I have been reading In the Earth column for some time and take much interest in it. I would appreciate having you pass your judgment on the samples, as to what they are, the approximate grade and if they have any commercial value. X.

Answer: The "pink" specimen reacts as flesh colored feldspar, and of the microcline variety. Microcline, is a triclinic feldspar of the same composition as orthoclase. The "blue" specimen (rather grayish white) seemed to be a pseudomorph after some mineral—probably fluorite—but it is now, probably, pure quartz. Values problematical.

Cinnabar Absent

LOS ANGELES, June 2. Q.: Please analyze the samples for gold, silver and copper. Locality, where from, San Bernardino county, near Daggett. S.

A.: Sample No. 1 is quartzitic rock containing iron, manganese, garnet, and greenish serpentine—copper absent. No. 2 is composed of limonite, quartz, and microscopic mica known as sericite. No. 3 seems to be a shaly tremolite carrying a little native copper, copper silicate, and cinnabar is absent from all specimens. Native gold and mineralogical silver not present in any sample.

Pistacite

BAKERSFIELD, June 3.—Q.: We are sending you a sample of ore which a friend of mine found in southwestern San Bernardino county. He has a large deposit of it. He has been told that it has a commercial value, that it is used in toughening alumina. Kindly give what information you can on it. Thanking you for past favors. X.

A.: Pistacite occurs in prismatic crystals, also earthy, granular, and in crusts. Color pistachio-green, olive and blakish-green, brown, or yellow. In composition it is iron and lime epidote. It reacts, approximately, for silica 37 per cent. Iron peroxide 17 per cent. Manganese peroxide 18 per cent, and lime 14 per cent. The value of such mineral, commercially, is somewhat problematical.

Mixtures

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Q.: Samples found in Los Angeles county. Test for silver and rare metals. Thanking you, etc. E.

A.: The small sample carries pyrite, arsenopyrite, white iron pyrite, sericite (potash mica,) limonite and silica. The flat brown and white specimen carries iron-magnesium silicate, in part, with pyrite, arsenopyrite, mica, limonite and silica. For gold and silver values please consult assayers.

Copper Absent

SANTA MARIA, June 3.—Q.: Does this ore contain any copper, or valuable mineral? X.

A.: It is part of a bluish shale boulder containing some microscopic sulphur and more or less iron sulphate. Of doubtful commercial value.

Molybdenite

RED LODGE (Mont.) June 4. Q.: I am mailing sample of ore which came from Lander, Wyo., and I would like to know if same carries any mineral that would likely be of commercial value. S.

A.: The specimen is molybdenum sulphide. All depends on the quantity of mineral for development. It is valuable, but the percentage of molybdenum, in the rock, will not exceed 2 per cent.

Not Rutile

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—Q.: Inclosed please find ore sample found in Peru. I would appreciate a qualitative analysis and would like to know if the specimen carries any rutile or titanium, with approximate percentages. D.

A.: The sample is chiefly magnetite partly altered to limonite, and ilmenite is present in very low percentage. Rutile absent.

Basalt

BISHOP, June 5.—Q.: Please find herewith specimen of material on which you are requested to publish, in your department, an opinion. This stuff is from a deposit found well back in the Sierras and claimed to be the only one of the kind. It is believed by its finder to contain something new, an acid that will have value as a flux; at least that is the statement he is quoted as making. If its value is in merit as a flux, only, its inaccessibility and expense of transportation, unless as a highly concentrated material, is, of course, questionable. In any event your qualitative analysis will be appreciated. X.

A.: The sample is a blackish, tough variety of basalt. It carries more or less acid possibly from pseudomorph after pyrite and reacts slightly for cobalt. It is probably from the Bishop Pass locality, or that of near Lone Pine, and without a full quantitative analysis nothing further can be stated. You have covered the ground, regarding the merits of such rock, thoroughly and scholarly.

Five Samples

SHOSHONE (Wyo.) June 5.—Q.: Please classify the samples 1, 2, 3, which look like zinc ore; probably Smithsonite. The three were taken from the Big Horn Mountains, about twelve miles from Buffalo, Wyo. No. 3 was found on the flats, about seven miles northwest of Buffalo. No. 4 is float, found near 1, 2 and 3. K.

A.: Sample No. 1 is of impure quartz (not beryl) and not Smithsonite. No. 2 consists of feldspar and minute garnet crystals. No. 3 is quartz. No. 4 red granite. No. 5 is low-grade lepidolite, an important mineral, but the percentage of lithia mica, in the sample runs exceedingly low.

Quartz

BLOOMINGTON, June 6.—Q.: I am sending you a sample that was found near Saugus. Please analyze it for beryllium. If any present please state what percentage. Thanking you. O.

A.: Qualitative analysis only. The sample carries no beryllium.

Three Samples

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—Q.: Please analyze the three specimens for vanadium and tungsten. Taken from Bare Mountain, near Beatty, Nev. B.

A.: Vanadium and tungsten not present in any sample. One of the samples, probably No. 2, is lime silicate contact rock; the red one is hematite, and the remaining specimen is iron-lime silicate.

HOBBS GUSHER RECORD LOOMS

ARTESIA (N. M.) June 22. (Exclusive)—If the present rate of field development continues it will not be long until completions in the gusher zone of the Hobbs field will be a daily occurrence. The Shell Petroleum Company has just brought in McKinley No. 1 on Sec. 19, 18-38, as its second good producer, at a depth of 4210 feet. Its first hour showed 445 barrels. The gravity test is 32 deg.

Shell's State No. 1-A and McKinley No. 1 have been shut in, awaiting pipe-line connection, which will be a matter of ten days. Workmen are now welding the eight-inch lines in the city of Hobbs. It runs to the Shell tank farm at Wink, Tex.

Several other wells in the Hobbs field are now believed to be on top of the producing formation and at least a half a dozen others are expected to be completed before the close of another week. Three wells of the Prairie Oil and Gas Company are ready to be drilled in below 4100 feet. They are Crump No. 1, on Sec. 15, 19-38; Crump No. 2, on Sec. 15, 19-38, and Selman No. 1 on Sec. 15, 19-38.

Operators are closely watching operations at the Midwest Oil and Refining Company Byers No. 33, on Sec. 4, 19-38, which is standing with a hole full of oil at 3150 feet and making an occasional head while drilling below 3235 feet. The Byers will be drilled to 3500 feet, given a complete test.

The State No. 1-A of the Amerada Petroleum Company on Sec. 32, 18-38, which ran wild for several hours one day last week when a heavy gas flow was encountered at 3132 feet, was finally brought under control and drilling was continued to 3250 feet where the well will be given a test. The well sprayed from 100 to 200 barrels of oil daily before drillers were able to shut off the gas flow.

Three new locations in the Hobbs area have just been made. They are State No. 24 of the Gypsy Oil Company, 3630 feet from the south line and 2970 feet from the east line of Sec. 32, 18-38; the Landreth Production Company's State No. 1, 2970 feet from the south line and 4650 feet from the east line of Sec. 33, 18-38; the Shell Petroleum Company's State No. 2-A, 2970 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the east line of Sec. 22, 18-38.

State Purchase of Warrants Gets Approval

SACRAMENTO, June 22. (AP)—Purchase of warrants of the Sutter-Butte By-pass Project, Assessment No. 6, of a total value of $1,005,-194.40 was approved by the State Reclamation Board at a meeting here. The amount represented $722,875.33 principal and $282,869.07 interest. Purchase was to be made at 50 per cent of face value, plus 50 per cent accrued interest, making the cash outlay of the State $502,502.44.

Most of the warrants in the lot were held by the Butte Basin company.

To date the reclamation board has approved the purchase of warrants by the State Department of Finance totaling $3,370,174.30. When purchased, the warrants are retired, relieving the landowners in the assessment district of that amount of indebtedness. The board announced buying of warrants would continue on the same basis.

Warning Issued to Gas Buyers

SACRAMENTO, June 22. (AP)—During the present gasoline price "war" motorists should use more than usual care in buying gasoline and motor oil to avoid getting inferior grades, C. N. Herndon, supervising inspector of weights and measures, declared here. He pointed out that while dealers are operating on a smaller margin of profit, the temptation to substitute cheaper grades was increased.

There is much cheap lubricating oil on the market, Herndon said. State inspectors are working in Sacramento, Los Angeles, Fresno, the East Bay district, and other parts of the State to see that laws covering proper labeling of oils are observed.

Prices of gasoline and oil do not fluctuate together, Herndon said. At times when gasoline prices drop, oils remain steady, and vice versa.

Exhibit Space at Fair Going

SACRAMENTO, June 22. (AP)—Exhibit space for the California State Fair and Western Exposition which opens in Sacramento August 30, next, is being applied for earlier and more eagerly than at any time in the history of the exposition, Charles W. Paine, secretary-manager, declared.

Paine said that applications for space in the industrial and commercial departments are breaking all records, while county, live stock, machinery, educational and other departments promise to exceed the 1929 showing.

Fair officials declared that the size and importance of last year's exposition, together with the record-breaking attendance of 421,000, has created exceptional interest in the 1930 fair.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boyd's Eighth between Broadway & Hill.—"Ladies Love Brutes," George Bancroft, the mighty man, with a tender heart, in spite of all.

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont.—"The Floorers Girl." An extravaganza of a bygone day.

California, Main near Eighth.—"White Cargo." An English idea of the South Seas is rather good, though sometimes slow.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center.—"So This Is London." Will Rogers goes abroad again and finds London as funny as Paris.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood.—"Hell's Angels." It took Howard Hughes four years and $4,000,000 to produce the colossus of the air; and it was worth it.

Criterion, 845 South Grand.—"The Divorcee." A daring and well-defined exposition of the modern woman in which Norma Shearer gives one of the finest performances.

Figueroa, Figueroa at Santa Barbara.—"Caught Short." Polly Moran and Marie Dressler end up in roaring laughter.

Filmarte, 1228 Vine.—"Old and New." A pictorial monument to machinery, couched with unusual solemnity by Eisenstein.

Fox, Fox at Nation.—"Sarah and Son." Ruth Chatterton at her best in a fine struggle of mother love.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh.—"In Old Madrid." Colorful and musical, but not adequate to Ramon Novarro's talents.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Boulevard.—"The Lady of Scandal." A fashionable mess that turns movie to sad use the talents of Ruth Chatterton.

Million Dollar, Bdwy. at 3rd.—"Paramount on Parade." The Paramount stars all play their tricks and many are good.

Paramount, Hollywood at Vine.—"The Texan." Gary Cooper rides again, which in itself is a treat.

Paramount, Bdwy. at Sixth.—"The Border Legion." Men's men, quick and daring, and their story makes fine adventure. Jack Holt and Richard Arlen.

Rialto, Whittier at La Brea.—"Paramount on Parade."

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth.—"Alias French Gertie." Those two newlyweds, Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels, have some interesting adventures at a nudist camp.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth.—"Seven Days." Reviewed in today's Times.

Tower, Broadway at Eighth.—"The Last Mile." A fine interpretation of the second's leading war drama. With Colin Clive.

United Artists, Bdwy. at 9th.—"The Big Pond." An ingenious comedy which provides Maurice Chevalier with plenty of opportunity to display his popular talents.

Upham's, Western at Tenth.—"Paramount on Parade."

Warners' Downtown, 8th at Seventh.—"Sally, Fay." A somewhat mediocre tale of misguided love is told by Corinne Griffith and Grant Withers.

Warners', Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox.—"Show Girl in Hollywood." Movies made before the days of entertainment—and there is Alice White.

Wiltern, 633 Alvarado.—"Paramount on Parade."

STAGE

Belasco, Bdwy. at Eleventh.—"Gentlemen." A comedy wherein manners and morals are somewhat delightful. Produced by Guy Bolton and Reginald Owen.

El Capitan, Hollywood Blvd. nr. Highland.—"Nanette." A delightful musical and amusing comedy, which stars Mlnna Gombell.

Majestic, Bdwy. at 9th.—"The Last Mile." A tense feverish drama of 9 prisoner's last hour of life. Clark Gable and Preston Foster.

Music Box, Hollywood Blvd. nr. Gower.—"The Guilty Declare." Comedy laughter.

Orpheum, Seventh at Main.—"Trumpet of the White Knight." An old-fashioned melodrama which is still good theater. With the very noble hero in the person of Benjamin Chapin.

Vine Street, 1418 Vine.—"Under a Virginia Moon." Romance in the Southern-modeled garden and the atmosphere is slow and sentimental. With Percy Maxwell.

VARIETIES

Fulton, 4th and Main.—Burlesque.

Road Builders of World Will Visit St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, June 22. (Exclusive)

More than 30,000 persons are expected to attend the next annual convention of the American Road Builders' Association which will be held in St. Louis next January.

The exhibit, which will be held at the arena in connection with the convention, will cover 250,000 feet of floor space. It is estimated that 500 carloads of road-building machinery and equipment will be displayed.

At the last convention, in Atlantic City, thirty-three foreign countries were represented. So far, European countries have named 133 delegates to next year's gathering The number is expected to reach 200.

"The tremendous road-building programs of the Mississippi Valley States and its central location were factors in the choice of St. Louis," Charles M. Upham, engineer-director of the American Road Builders' Association, said.

FARMERS TO VISIT NATIONAL PARKS

WASHINGTON, June 22. (Exclusive)—Increased use of the national parks by farmers during the coming season is predicted by Horace M. Albright, director of the national park service. Mr. Albright bases this prediction primarily upon the fact that the farm magazines of the country have been stressing the advantages of a national-park trip, and have been co-operating with the railroads and other authorities in working out itineraries involving a minimum amount of time.

For instance, one New England farm journal is organizing a ten-day vacation trip to Yellowstone National Park and return from Springfield, Mass. Efforts are being made by the editors of the magazine to plan a trip that will give their readers the most interesting trip possible at a minimum of expense.

Already reports from the national parks show that the preseason travel to these reservations is surpassing that of 1929.

CHINA TO ERECT WORKERS' HOSPITAL

NANKING, June 22. (Exclusive)—Establishment of a hospital exclusively for workers is planned by the Ministry of Public Health at Wuhih, industrial center between Nanking and Shanghai as part of a movement for the promotion of better general health.

NURSERY LICENSE FEES DUE JULY 1

SACRAMENTO, June 22. (AP)—Florist and nursery license fees, required of all persons who ship or sell plants which are platted, potted, ornamental or decorative, or any other nursery plants, shrubs, bulbs, vines or trees, will be due July 1, the Department of Agriculture announced. No license is required for cut flowers, since only rooted stock is affected by the license provision.

Last year's licenses numbered approximately 2250. Funds from this source are used by the nursery service of the agricultural department to carry on pest control in places where nursery stock is grown or sold, and to assist gricultural commissioners and nurserymen.

REDS' CONGRESS NOW GATHERING

Delegates of Soviet Union Meet at Moscow

Stalin Will be Lauded and Foes Exiled

Glowing Reports Indited on "Industrialization"

MOSCOW, June 22. (AP)—Delegates to the all-union congress of the Communist party, scheduled to open here next Wednesday, today crowded accommodations of the Red capital.

Almost 3000 delegates representing every nook and corner of the soviet union will be assembled in the Kremlin Palace for the start of what is regarded as one of the most important congresses the party ever has held. Nearly 100 different nationalities and races within the soviet union will be there, presenting an extraordinarily picturesque appearance in their colorful, variegated national dress.

Among the arrivals here are many women delegates, the sexes having equal rights in soviet Russia.

STALIN BENEFIT

The congress, which is the first held since Leon Trotsky's expulsion from the party more than two years ago, is expected to vindicate completely the policies and practices of Joseph Stalin, Secretary-General of the Central Party Committee. As Russia's "strong man," Stalin is generally credited with having saved the country from disaster last March by his famous manifesto calling a halt on soviet village officials and party members in their excesses designed to hasten the collectivization of the peasantry on large state-controlled farms.

Politicians also consider it likely that the right wing opposition, led by Nicolai Bukharin, Michael Tomsky and Lezel Rykov, who believe the present rate in socialization of the country is too swift, will, like the exiled Trotsky, be faced with the alternative of recanting or being dismissed from the party.

RECANT OR GET OUT

In recanting they will admit they were mistaken and pledge before the congress their whole-hearted support to the central committee of the party. If they are dismissed from the party they will also be deprived of their executive positions in the government.

Political observers here say Stalin will be able to present a strong front at the congress because this year's crop promises so well, largely due to the central committee's agricultural collectivization policy. The progress in the first two years of the government's five-year industrialization plan and favorable prospects for the country's further industrial progress will also strengthen his position.

AGRICULTURE FIRST

Several days will be spent discussing the government's agricultural collectivization enterprise upon which the complete Socialization of Russia largely depends. Official pronouncements say 25 per cent of all peasant households in the soviet union are already embraced in the scheme.

The congress also will give protracted attention to Russia's five-year industrialization plan, in connection with which hundreds of American engineers and technicians are employed by the government. Other questions on the agenda are the past activities and future program of the Russian section of the Communist Internationale and new forms of work for trades unions in the soviet territories.

The central committee of the party will report on the soviets' international situation, as well as on international affairs.

Berry Thinning Aids Grape Crop

DAVIS, June 22. (Exclusive)—Berry thinning of certain varieties of grapes gives good returns to the grower through reduced costs of harvesting and packing and from increased returns through the improvement in the quality and appearance of the fruit.

This is the conclusion reached by Prof. A. J. Winkler of the University of California, division of viticulture.

"Berry thinning increased the size of Tokay and Malaga berries from 10 to 30 per cent, said Prof. Winkler. "There was a definite correlation between increase in size of berry and the time of berry thinning. Maximum increase was obtained by thinning as soon as the normal drop following blooming was complete."

Officers Test Many Brakes

SACRAMENTO, June 22. (AP)—Traffic officers of the California Highway Patrol have tested the brakes of more than 55,000 motor vehicles in the past two months, Inspector-at-Large Andrew J. Ford reported to H. R. Youngblood, assistant superintendent of the patrol.

Of the 23,322 cars tested in April, 12.5 per cent were found to have defective brakes. In May 32,460 cars were examined and 10.3 had defective brakes.

Few arrests were made, Inspector Ford said, motorists being warned to have the brakes adjusted. Drivers of cars tested and found to comply with the law were given cards to display to officers if they were stopped again.

HYBRID CORN YIELDS TOP ORDINARY KINDS

AMES (Iowa) June 22. (AP)—Tests on hundreds of Iowa farms have proven hybrid corn superior in yield to open pollinated, or common field varieties.

Joe T. Robinson, president of the Iowa Corn and Small Grain Growers' Association, says hybrid corn outyielded open pollinated corn in each of the twelve sections of the State by from five to eighteen bushels this year. It is the fifth consecutive victory for hybrid corn. The highest hybrid yielded 120 bushels an acre and the highest open pollinated variety, 116 bushels.

PRESS AGENTS DON HALOS

Film Publicity Men Go in Strong for Ethics and Put Ban on Old-Time Faked Yarns

NEW YORK, June 22. (Exclusive)—Believe it or not, the moving-picture press agents are going straight. Cinemaland's publicity vendors and the advertising directors alike are going in for ethics. Puking in hand-outs to the press and untruthful, misleading and suggestive advertising are taboo.

A code which sets up definite standards for the guidance of advertising and publicity men, house managers and others in the motion-picture industry has been signed—it is believed by Will Hays's dictation—by the publicity and advertising chiefs of all the leading motion-picture producing and distributing companies of the United States, it was announced here today.

The companies represented in the signatures include Warner Brothers, R.-K.-O., Fox, Bray Productions, M.-G.-M., Loew's, Radio Pictures, Hal Roach studios, United Artists, First National, Christie, Inspiration, Columbia, Paramount, Pathe, Tiffany, Sono-Art, Educational Film Exchanges and Electrical Research Products.

TEXT OF CODE

Here are the twelve commandments subscribed to by this imposing array:

We subscribe to the code of business ethics of the International Advertising Association, based on "truth, honesty and integrity."

Good taste shall be the guiding rule of motion-picture advertising.

Illustration and text in advertising shall faithfully represent the pictures themselves.

No false or misleading statements shall be used directly or implied by type arrangements or by distorted quotations.

No text or illustrations shall ridicule or tend to ridicule any religion or religious faith; no illustration of a character in clerical garb shall be show.. in any but a respectful manner.

The history, institutions and nationals of all countries shall be represented with fairness.

OTHER RULES

Profanity and vulgarity shall be avoided.

Pictorial and copy treatment of officers of the law shall not be of such a nature as to undermine their authority.

Specific details of crimes, inciting imitation, shall not be used.

Motion-picture advertisers shall bear in mind the provision of the production code that the use of liquor in American life shall be restricted to the necessities of characterization and plot.

Nudity with meretricious purpose, and salacious postures shall not be used.

Court actions relating to censoring of police and other censorship disputes are not to be capitalized in advertising.

ROAD WORK RUSHED TO MAKE JOBS

State Solves Problem of Unemployment With Increased Projects

SACRAMENTO, June 22. (AP)—As one means of increasing employment throughout California B. B. Meek, director of the Department of Public Works, declares work on the State highway system is being "crowded to the limit of funds available."

"Highway projects particularly near large centers are being rushed to contract as fast as funds are in sight to finance them," Meek said.

Meek said that as consequence of the planned programs that the budget system require California is in the midst of the "largest State highway program in the history of the State at a time when the need for public construction is the greatest in many years."

The present State highway program, Meek declared, has broken all State records, both in the total expenditures involved, and in the number of projects under contract and being prepared for early letting.

Angeleno Will Sail for China as Missionary

NEW YORK, June 22. (Exclusive)—Rev. Kenneth W. Wilson, Los Angeles, is in New York attending the annual conference of outgoing missionaries conducted by the Presbyterian foreign board at its offices at 156 Fifth avenue. Mr. Wilson is under appointment by the Presbyterian board as a missionary in Kiangan, China.

The conference is being attended by approximately sixty new missionaries, practically all of whom will go to their fields of service during the year. A few appointees have already sailed. The board is sending sixty-five regular missionaries and nine who have been reappointed, as well as thirty-two special term missionaries, the majority of whom are going for temporary service of from three to five years in educational institutions under the auspices of the board.

Thirty-four of the regular and special term missionaries are assigned to China, sixteen to India, eleven to the Camercun, the only center of Presbyterian work in Africa; eight to Persia and five to Japan. Smaller quotas will go to nine other countries.

China Prepares to Hold Pacific Relations Meet

NANKING, June 22. (Exclusive) Arrangements already are under way for the fourth biennial conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which will be held next year at Hangchow, provincial capital of Chekiang. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs has sent word to provincial government executives to build a special hotel for the accommodation of delegates and requests that construction go forward as quickly as possible.

NATIONS SNUB SOVIET RUSSIA

League Fails to Invite Them to Opium Conference

Other Nonmembers Asked to Attend Limitation Meet

Reds Wouldn't Come Anyway, Officials Explain

GENEVA, June 22. (AP)—Soviet Russia has not been invited to the international opium conference next December, and some people are asking why.

The United States, Mexico and Turkey—like Russia, non-members of the League of Nations which has summoned the conference—have all been invited to participate in this attempt to limit the world's supply of narcotic drugs to medical and scientific needs.

Although the League Assembly instructed the Council to invite all countries which manufacture narcotics, the name of Russia—a manufacturer of narcotic drugs—was no; included in the list which the Council approved.

The omission was privately explained on the ground that the soviet government if invited would decline, and perhaps in terms not at all polite.

On the other hand, some anti-opium workers assert that the conference has been robbed of success. They say that the absence of Russia, a producer, would make a limitation agreement worthless.

A preliminary conference of manufacturing states is to be called for this summer by Great Britain, and observers here are wondering if Russia will get a bid to that meeting.

HYPNOTISM AIDS STUDY OF DREAMS

University Savants Test Sleepers to Find Cause of Nightmares

AUSTIN (Tex.) June 22. (AP)—Why everyone occasionally dreams of failing has been discovered at the University of Texas.

A sudden downward shift in some portion of the sleeper's body starts this dream.

These discoveries were made in the psychology department by using hypnotism to push aside the uncertainty which usually veils dreams and their causes.

David Ballin Klein, associate professor of psychology, defends the hypnotic dreams as true counterparts of real life.

He says the failing motion which acts like a trigger to set off this familiar dream probably comes from shifting position.

In the hypnotic dreams it was produced by slightly pressing down some portion of the mattress.

Search for the cause of the embarrassing dream of appearing partly clothed in public failed to produce even a clew.

Doubt whether there is such a thing as "dreamless sleep" was raised in four experiments upon a subject who maintained that he never dreamed. He had forty-nine dreams, not one of which he recalled upon awakening.

LEE HOME NOT TO BE MUSEUM

Restoration to Make It Simply Fine Southern Homestead

WASHINGTON, June 22. (AP)—The restored home of Gen. Robert E. Lee will be one of a fine old southern family of the period rather than a large museum of antiquities.

Less Stomach for Men Urged

NEW YORK, June 22. (AMA)—The proportion of men with prominent stomachs is said to be on the decrease. Doctors and health preachers say that they are responsible for some of this decrease. Also part of it is due to the fact that in business and social life men are being judged more by the way they look.

"Look to your chest, and stomach, men," says Dr. C. Ward Crampton, research specialist and director of a clinic where men are told what to do in order to live their limit. "There can't be two leaders. Put your chest first. We are all of us only about one-half fit to live."

BUS LINE SEEKS ORDER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22. (Exclusive)—Pacific Greyhound Lines, Inc., has applied to the Railroad Commission for an order defining its operative rights and routes for the transportation of passengers, their baggage and express, and issuing a blanket certificate in lieu of all existing certificates in territory southwest of Oxnard and west and east of Los Angeles.

LIBRARY MEET OPENS TODAY

National Association Here for Convention

President Foresees Popular Universities

Gazette to Give Address of Welcome

The public libraries of the nation will in time develop into popular universities if the plans of Andrew Keogh, president of the American Library Association, are carried to fulfillment. Mr. Keogh arrived in Los Angeles last night at the head of 300 delegates on a special Santa Fe train for the meeting of the association which will convene today with 2000 delegates from every part of the United States.

In opening address to the convention he will lay stress on a higher social standing of librarians," Dr. Keogh said last night. "You see I am a university librarian and it is only natural that I should place a value if the vast number of the public libraries in the country turn their facilities more definitely to the work of education." Keogh is the librarian of Yale University.

KEYNOTE SPEECH

A keynote session tonight Orra E. Monnette, president of the Los Angeles Board of Library Commissioners, will deliver the address of welcome and will be followed by Dr. Andrew Keogh, president of the association, and librarian for Yale University. His keynote speech will be "Librarianship in Library Work."

Many delegates are gathering from various parts of the United States, a number representing Canada, Hawaii and Mexico. The Canadian Library Association is holding its annual meeting here in conjunction with the American group. Many foreign librarians, in this country to study methods used here, are attending the convention for the purpose of observing the work of the Los Angeles city and county libraries.

STARTS TOMORROW

The convention will start its official business tomorrow morning, in the second of the four general sessions on the program. Forty group meetings, including the annual sessions of nine subsidiary national professional organizations, will be held during the week.

Most of the general sessions will be held in the Biltmore, where convention headquarters are located. An exhibition of recent developments in the fields of library work and book printing will be on display there. A mechanical robot, which does the routine work of charging books in and out of the library, will be on public display for the first time.

Announcement of the winner of the Newbery Medal, for the best children's book of the year by an American author, and the presentation of the award at Saturday's session is one of the important objects of the convention. The medal was won last year by Hendrik Willem Van Loon for "The Trumpeter of Krakow." It has been awarded annually since 1922.

Motion pictures have been arranged to tell important local library branches, including the Los Angeles Library and Art Gallery.

PRESIDENTS GOVERNOR

Mrs. Ora J. Zahn, known through her service on the Board of Library Commissioners and on the California Library Commission, was elected by the fifty-second annual convention of the association yesterday by Gov. Young. Mrs. Zahn to act as his representative at a luncheon this afternoon Wednesday in connection with the convention. He would be unable to be present.

MAIN STREET BUFFET WAR MAKES NICKEL LOOK LIKE FULL MOON

A food war among some of the Main-street buffets—where 5 cents buys anything on the menu and where approximately 25,000 persons eat daily—is raging and will be fought to the last hamburger.

From Seventh street north to the Plaza twenty-one of the eating places—generally remodeled reminders of pre-Volstead days—are offering various enticements to patrons in a drive for business that has not been equalled since they softened their drinks and added food to the menus.

It all started, so the versions of owners go, when a new buffet opened its doors next to one of long establishment at Fifth and Main streets.

The new operator, unable to cut the prevailing price of 5 cents for dishes ranging from soup to dessert, placed a griddle in the window and proceeded to cook hamburger sandwiches that were nearly twice as large as those dispensed nearby.

Prospective customers saw with their own eyes the oversized "burgers" being sold and business was rushing at the new place. There was nothing for the rest of the buffets to do but fall in line—and go the new place one better by advertising not only the same size sandwiches, but the free addition of tomatoes, onions, pickles and other "fixins'."

Then the usual traffic noises of Main street were invaded by a broadcast of Hawaiian music. The new buffet had added a stringed quartet to its inducements and, what was more, had a public-address system carry the strains of snappy music up and down the street.

Not to be outdone, the other shops added radios, pianos and phonographs, while the one next door to the Hawaiian broadcast engaged a one-man cowboy band—banjo, harmonica, jew's harp and all—and also amplified the attraction through a loudspeaker.

Where the battle will end could not be predicted, but Herman Dietch, who has been in the buffet lunch business for fourteen years and who operates two establishments in the district, believes it ultimately will result in good for all concerned.

"We are all on our toes, and while we can't make as much on an already low-margin method of business, the customers are getting more than their money's worth," Dietch observed.

"The places along here average a little better than 1000 customers a day. They are patronized by working men and some business men. One of the peculiarities of this business is demonstrated by the fact that there are dividing lines of the classes on the street which will make one kind of food a good seller at one end of a block and a failure at the other.

"In one of our places we sell hundreds of combination-plate lunches while at the other—not more than 500 feet up the street—we don't even keep them. They all want sandwiches. It is almost an art to know what will go and what won't.

"The only way we can make a living by selling food so cheap—and it's good food of high quality—is by doing it on a large volume basis. We buy in large lots and get it cheaper. We can sell it cheaper."

The average patron of the buffet spends 12 1-2 cents, it was estimated by Dietch. From 2 to 4 1-2 cents is direct profit, depending on the purchase. There is more money in tap beer, root beer and coffee than in food.

Food, in fact, is merely the drawing card for patrons to buy drinks, Dietch revealed. Five hamburgers, the way they are fixing them up now, costs 23 cents and sell for 25.

Men who have operated other types of restaurants often have failed in the buffet business, Dietch stated, because of its small profit margin characteristics and the necessity of watching things that would be considered trifles in other restaurants.

The skill with which an attendant draws tap beer, for instance, Dietch declared, means the difference between success and failure. If a tiny bit of beer is spilled each time a glass is filled, that bit eats up the profit in the long run.

SCIENCE SEEKING NEW YARDSTICK

Michelson Light Speed Test Dazzles World

Findings to Aid in Measuring Realms of Heavens

Experiments on Irvine Ranch Assisted by Many

BY RANSOME SUTTON

Watched by all the world, the noted physicist, Michelson himself, is now here on the job finding out how fast light travels. Having resigned from the University of Chicago, he will stay on the job until he solves the mystery and this means all summer and possibly a year or two. If he gives out any figures by Christmas time, he will be a great Santa Claus, for light rays are much harder to measure than ribbons.

When on last Friday he drove down to the Irvine ranch, where the largest vacuum tube on earth has been installed, he ran into a surprise party. Four truck loads of motion-picture people and talkie paraphernalia, from the Fox, Pathe, Paramount and Universal studios, were lying in lurk for him, and he surprised them by explaining to the click of a half-dozen cameras how he manipulates light and measures its speed. Despite his seventy-eight years he performed with a charming personality and energy, which pleased the picture people immensely.

He was accompanied by Fred Pearson, research associate of the University of Chicago, who has worked with Dr. Michelson many years; by Dr. Francis G. Pease of the Mt. Wilson staff, who cooperated with Mr. Pearson in preparing the optical system for the test, and by Edgar C. Nichols, also of the Mt. Wilson staff, who had charge of the engineering and designing of the installation.

FIVE SYSTEMS COMBINED

The installation embodies five systems in all: the tube itself together with the optical, mechanical, electrical and air systems, all of which had to be synchronized and made to work by pressing buttons as if they were parts of a single thing.

The tube—it is three feet in diameter and one mile long. A corrugated steel pipe, consisting of double-riveted short sections put together in joints which are sixty feet long. Corrugated pipe was selected, after careful investigation in Chicago by Mr. Pearson. The corrugations increase the strength of the pipe twenty-five times. And that additional strength is needed; otherwise, when the air is sucked out, the pipe would collapse like a flat tire. For against every square foot of that vacuum tube, side, ends, tanks and all, the atmosphere exerts a collapsing pressure of 2160 pounds.

There are two tanks at each end—called tanks apparently because, being enlarged sections of the tube, they hold the mirrors which shuttle the light back and forth and also contain the motors and mechanisms which regulate the mirrors. The tanks are supported on concrete piers, and the mirrors inside are mounted on separate steel supports, for the mirrors must stand alone still regardless of vibrations in the tube caused by temperature changes and, by stresses in the structure itself. There is a steady pull, for example, of seven tons on each endhead, which is overcome by means of steel rods held by "dead men" deeply buried in the ground. Despite the twists and squirms of the temperamental tube, the mirrors must stand still, because they have to reflect straight lines of light up and down the tube ten times, then shoot it out through the same tiny window through which it entered the vacuum, without touching anything except the mirrors.

MIRRORS GET TIRED

But the mirrors get tired of standing still, so they have to be adjusted, and thirteen small motors on the mirror mountings (inside the vacuum) do the adjusting. By means of five wires from the north end (one mile away,) leading into an observation room at the south end of the installation, all thirteen motors are operated—like so many railroad switches, for they make the mirrors switch the light at exactly the right angle.

A small Kinney rotary pump, driven by a five-horsepower motor is used to draw out the air. And that is quite a job, for the tube as a whole holds about 40,000 cubic feet of free air. The pump draws out 100 cubic feet of free air a minute at first, but as the density of the air in the tube diminishes, the pump works harder and harder and draws out less and less, until twenty-two inches of vacuum are

CONTRAST IN BATTLESHIPS MADE PLAIN

Berthing of Old Types by Modernized Vessels Gives Object Lesson

Visitors to the Battle Fleet yesterday enjoyed an unusual lesson in contrasts anent the present discussion over $30,000,000 modernization of the dreadnaughts New Mexico, Idaho and Mississippi. Anchored in adjoining berths to the New Mexico yesterday were her sister battleships Oklahoma and Nevada, just home from two years at the Norfolk and Philadelphia navy yards, where they underwent a $15,000,000 modernization program.

The distinctive change in the two ships is the replacement of their unsightly cage type masts with trim tripod masts, which change will also be made on the three other ships. The cage or "basket" mast, long a distinctive feature of American battleships and cruisers, is being definitely discarded in favor of the tripod, which proved its worth on British capital ships at the battle of Jutland.

But the most important feature of the modernization of the Oklahoma and Nevada, as it will be of the others, is the increase in the elevation of their turret guns from 15 deg. to 30 deg. Thus, before modernization the ten fourteen-inch guns of the Oklahoma and Nevada's main batteries had an extreme range of 21,000 yards. Now, with their elevating radius increased to 30 deg., their maximum range is in excess of 30,000 yards.

Similarly, the twelve fourteen-inch guns on the New Mexico and sisters now have a maximum range of 24,000 yards, but after modernization their range will be in excess of 35,000 yards. Turret guns of the other leading sea powers have elevating radii of at least 20 deg. This explains the statement by Admiral Hughes, Chief of Naval Operations, that it would be "suicide" for the three vessels in their present condition to engage enemy battleships.

IS FUTURISM suitable to the attire and facial decoration of humans? And will it be adopted?

The immediate answer of many persons interviewed yesterday was an emphatic, even thunderous "No!" Their only acquaintance with futurism being through modernistic paintings, their conception of the art was rather bewildering.

The idea of decorating human features and wearing-apparel after the manner of the paintings they had seen, with their vivid colors and baffling lines, filled them with dismay.

Nevertheless the innovation has made its appearance, but enthusiasts are not at all convinced and the new style may not find a large following.

Exactly how futuristic humans would look was demonstrated by two pioneers at the recent annual ball of the Otis Art Institute.

Their costumes consisted of futuristic white-and-black satin suits, knee length on one side and flowing to the floor in circular sweeps on the other. And to carry out the modernistic motif the two wearing the costumes had their faces painted on one side, and half of the hair cut short.

The effect, while startling, was considered by enthusiasts not at all unsuitable.

Land Offered in Civic Center

Five heirs of the late J. R. Spring have sent a letter to the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors offering to sell to the county a parcel of property located in the proposed Civic Center.

The property, according to the communication, lies in the 600 block on North Broadway between Sunset Boulevard and Ord street. It has 122 feet frontage on North Broadway and runs through to New High street.

LASSCO PLANS FINE NEW LINER

Company Announces It Will Expend $7,000,000

Speedy Craft Will Replace City of Honolulu

Much Faster Schedule to Be Made Possible

Decision to build a $7,000,000 super-express liner for its Honolulu trade to replace its cruiser City of Honolulu, which was damaged by fire at Honolulu on May 25, last, was reached yesterday by the Los Angeles Steamship Company, according to announcement by Ralph J. Chandler, vice-president and general manager. Pending construction of the vessel another steamer of suitable speed and accommodations will be obtained by Lassco for maintenance of its present Hawaiian schedule.

Although Lassco's plans for the new ship are of a necessity in an embryonic state, naval architects said last night that to meet the company's requirements for speed and passenger and cargo capacity a vessel with an approximate length of 600 feet and a minimum displacement of 30,000 tons must be built.

FAST VESSEL WANTED

Company officials declared that present plans provide for a ship capable of making two round-trips between Los Angeles Harbor and Hawaii monthly. This means that the 2225-mile trip to Honolulu would be made in four and a half days, requiring a service speed of twenty-four knots. Service speed of both the Lassco flagship City of Los Angeles and the City of Honolulu is 16.5 knots.

Decision to abandon the City of Honolulu to the underwriters as a total loss was reached late Saturday, said Mr. Chandler, on receipt of detailed reports from salvage experts and marine surveyors which disclosed the damage to be much more extensive than previously reported.

DAILY COAST SERVICE

Lassco's latest announcement follows that made by Mr. Chandler on May 26, last, when he revealed that the company also has under consideration plans for the early construction of two twenty-four-knot express liners for its coastwise service, to cost between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 each; which, with the Yale and Harvard, would give Lassco daily express passenger service between Los Angeles Harbor, San Francisco and San Diego.

CITY'S CUT OF CAR FEES HELD SHORT

City With 62 Per Cent of County Vehicles Gets One-Fifth of Funds

In a report submitted to the Finance Committee, Budget Director Knox recommends agitation for changing the State laws to provide additional sums from motor vehicle license and fuel fees to the counties and particularly to the cities.

Knox points out in his report that while Los Angeles city contains 62 per cent of the county's registered motor vehicles and 25 per cent of the entire State's registration, the city has received but $4,816,675.66 of the $21,780,867 paid to the county from such fees in the past seven years.

Knox declares that the city should receive its proportionate share of vehicle and fuel fees, which would relieve tremendously the burden upon the general fund and assessment district for construction and repair of pavement.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

SIXTY-NINE tons of chewing gum, 1164 tons of cattle hair from the Atlantic Coast and 2700 pounds from Australia, more than 2000 tons of matches and more than 600 tons of peanuts were some of the strange cargoes unloaded from the ships at Los Angeles Harbor last year.

DRIED BLOOD

Ships from the Argentine brought us 1,841,341 pounds of dried blood and 1,430,742 pounds of whale guano.

One of the biggest imports from Ceylon is citronella oil—no doubt to the confusion of the mosquitoes . . . 12,387 pounds of it.

China sent us 768,972 pounds of preserved and ancient eggs.

FOR CIGARETTE LIGHTERS?

Czecho-Slovakia sends in chinaware and huge quantities of manufactured leather goods. Denmark $16,625 pounds of flint stones and $10,000 worth of lubricating oils.

WHAT A LOTTA TAPIOCA!

From now, I shall consider it my patriotic duty to eat nothing in the way of dessert but tapioca pudding to help dispose of 11,735,978 pounds of the stuff that came into the harbor from Java last year.

RAGS

England sends us a long list of imports, but the most surprising was 7986 pounds of rags. Japan also favored us with 13,339,717 pounds of rags.

GERMAN CHEMICALS

One of our biggest shippers from across the seas is Germany. She sent us last year $542,665 worth of calcium compounds, $200,097 of sodium compounds and $232,360 worth of various kinds of chemical fertilizer.

Among the biggest imports from Germany are toys and nails.

HOW COME?

Two surprising items show on the shipping sheets from Hongkong—19,185 pounds of fireworks and $54,592 worth of grass furniture.

An immense quantity of preserved poultry also comes from Hongkong. Value, $71,342.

CHEESE

Among the other things that I didn't know we got were 350,000 pounds of cheese from Italy, 5,405,104 pounds of vegetable oil from Manchuria, 1,764,176 pounds of coffee from Mexico. And to this—the greatest fish port in the world—came 1,140,131 pounds of preserved fish from Norway.

From the Philippines, 651,315 pounds of rope; from Spain, 1,145,782 pounds of cork, and from the Straits Settlements our largest item of import, 51,030,976 pounds of rubber.

THE CASH CUSTOMERS

With the exception of the Straits Settlements, the cash customers do well by us.

STEWART RITES ANNOUNCED

Head of Oil Executive to Be Conducted Today; Union and Richfield Companies Plan Tribute

Funeral services for W. L. Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company, died at his Hermosa Beach summer home last Saturday morning, will be conducted today at 2:30 p.m. from the family residence, 1000 San Gabriel Boulevard, Pasadena.

POOR PA
BY CLAUDE CALBAN
Mr. Smith gives too many directions when he's driving in public, but I guess it's because he's so used to bossin' the men folks under him."

Rev. James Leishman, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena, will officiate. Private burial will follow in San Gabriel Cemetery.

Besides closing of the Union Oil Company's general offices here today, all unnecessary work in the organization throughout the Coast area will be suspended today, it was ordered by Vice-president L. P. St. Clair. Offices here of the Richfield Oil Company also will be closed this afternoon out of sympathy.

Mr. Stewart, one of the recognized oil leaders of the West, had been at his desk until last Thursday. He was stricken with a heart attack the next day and succumbed at 518 Strand, Hermosa Beach. He was 62 years of age, and was born in Titusville, Pa.

He leaves his widow, Margaret E. Stewart; two sons, W. L. Stewart, Jr., and Arthur Stewart, now in the Orient; and three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Elliott of Port-Au-Prince, Haiti; Mrs. Sarah A. Bender and Mrs. Adelaide MacAlpine, both of Pasadena.

Pallbearers at today's services will be H. C. Farquhar, G. H. Forster, J. M. Geary, William Groundwater, R. E. Haylett, F. F. Hill, L. G. Metcalf, D. B. Myers, J. D. Reardon and J. M. Rust.

BRADLEY KING WILL REGAIN HEALTH HERE

Bradley King, scenario writer, has canceled plans for a vacation at her summer home in the Adirondacks. She was advised by physicians that her recovery from influenza would be promoted better in Southern California than in the cooler air of the eastern mountains.

BARNES CITY RULING ASKED

Webb Petitions High Court for Decision of Issue as to Whether Area Belongs in Los Angeles

Whether Barnes City is a part of Los Angeles city or of Los Angeles county is a puzzle before the State Supreme Court. It was posed before the tribunal by Atty.-Gen. Webb in an appeal for an unequivocal definition of the status of the territory.

"As the matter now stands," said the Attorney-General in his petition to the court for a hearing, "no one knows of a certainty whether the former Barnes City has or has not been judicially decided to be a part of the city of Los Angeles."

Questions as to the status of the territory developed after an action had been instituted in Superior Court in February, 1927, to have it adjudged that proceedings to incorporate the city of Barnes City were illegal and void. It was requested that the territory be excluded from all municipal rights, privileges and franchises over the district within its limits and that the territory be adjudged to be an unincorporated part of the county. Barnes City defaulted and was adjudged county territory.

On April of that year, however, Barnes City was consolidated with the city of Los Angeles, or, at least, proceedings believed to accomplish that end were carried through. In the following August, Los Angeles entered the legal tangle and asked that the judgment be set aside on the ground that Barnes City had been dissolved prior to the judgment.

Later, the default was ordered reached, then it becomes easier. At twenty-eight inches of vacuum the hard-working pump sucks out only three cubic feet of air per minute, then the work becomes more difficult because the pump is sucking at mostly nothing. If it pumped forever it would not draw out the last molecule, but it comes close to it. After about a day and a half, or two days' pumping, the monometer goes down to within a few millimeters of an absolute vacuum. And that in a mile tube three feet thaugh! It means that less than a handful of molecules remain, and these are thinly diffused throughout the whole 40,000 cubic feet of otherwise empty space.

SQUEAKS AND HISSES

When the air was first exhausted, squeaks and hisses were heard along the pipe, for nature abhors a vacuum, and molecules of air were squeaking through every invisible hole and hissing through the larger ones. There were also slow leaks, like those that cannot be detected in automobile tires. Around every crack, visible and invisible, air molecules fought under high pressure to crowd in and fill the vacuum. Fortunately, the cracks were mostly in the joints, where twelve-gauge steel bands held the joints together.

These joints were covered by wrapping canvas around the steel bands, and overlaying the canvas with split-open balloon inner-tube tires, cemented to the pipe, plus a coat of glyptal paint, and another canvas band on top of that. So long as holes remained open air rushed in as fast as the pump sucked it out; it was like trying to mop up the ocean. To keep out the air and make the motors and mirrors inside the vacuum work together took a hair took resourcefulness, plus invention and engineering ability, as young Mr. Nichols found out; for, in designing this installation, there were no precedents or models to follow. Every problem had to be worked out as it arose, partly by trial and error, but mostly by intelligence.

INTERESTING DEVICE

Of all the devices the most interesting is a little octagonal steel wheel, one and one-half inches in diameter and a half-inch thick, which is perfectly pivoted and, being driven by compressed air, spins like a top. Each of its eight faces is a perfectly polished mirror. Its position is just outside the little round window which opens into the tube. This tiny wheel of mirrors spins fast—512 revolutions a second. Spinning that fast its second harmonic hums high "C" on the musical scale, which enables Dr. Michelson to detect the slightest variation in the number of its revolutions. For he has a musical ear and a tuning fork at hand, which vibrates 512 times a second and sounds high "C;" so, if the driving mechanism of the wheel varies ever so slightly, his ear will detect it, because the wheel will hum out of tune with the vibrating fork.

Now this is tremendously important, for the complete success of the whole experiment depends largely upon the exactitude with which the wheel revolves. When light strikes any one of the eight mirrored faces of this spinning wheel, it is flashed into the big vacuum tube, where it travels back and forth a distance of ten miles, then comes out and hits the same face of the wheel which started it on that ten-mile trip. It hits the face, however, at a slightly different angle, for the wheel, humming in high "C," moves at least a little before the light comes back. And it is that angle, calibrated in connection with the known distance and timed speed of the wheel, which measures the speed of light.

A vacuum tube is used because light shimmers in air, producing what astronomers call "poor seeing." Removing the air removes the shimmerings and many other difficulties.

ARC LIGHT USED

An arc light is used in place of the sun. It travels exactly as fast as sunlight, for all light is light, and it can be handled conveniently.

The cost of the installation runs close to $50,000 up to the present time, and this sum will probably be increased considerably by unforeseen eventualities and changes which will be made during the experimentation. If manufacturers and business interests had not co-operated so liberally, the cost would have been much greater. Dr. Michelson's mainstay backers are, of course, the University of Chicago and the Carnegie Institution of Washington. Nothing had to be paid for the use of the land. The Irvine Ranch was selected, because the land lays nearly level, the slope being only three inches to the mile. James Irvine, owner of the ranch, has been of invaluable assistance, Dr. Pease says.

What does Dr. Michelson hope to accomplish by means of this elaborate experiment? He has already, by flashing beams back and forth between mirrors on Mt. Wilson and Mt. Baldy, measured the speed of light much more accurately than a stop-watch would measure the speed of a race horse, and the figures thus obtained—299,796 kilometers or 186,284 miles per second—have been accepted by the scientific world. Then why change them? Because they are not absolutely accurate. To be true, they are much more accurate than the measurements made by Galileo, when he flashed lantern light back and forth between two hills, and estimated the time it took the light to travel from one lantern to the other. But even in Michelson's measurements there may be about a kilometer too much or too little, and he is trying to get rid of this little leeway, and also to check up on his earlier measurements.

VALUE TO SCIENCE

If you wish to know what this experiment means to mankind, ask any scientists. Michelson is trying to put into the hands of physicists, chemists, astronomers, everybody, the only dependable yardstick in the universe. Everything else changes, but light in a vacuum travels always at one speed. Even when it hits a mirror it bounds back as fast as it was going the instant it struck. It may change its wave lengths, but it never slows down. And radio waves are long light waves.

It should be worth a lot to know how fast such waves actually travel. Likewise X-rays travel at the speed of light, because they are light, and so do electrons and telegraph and telephone messages. Science is harnessing these forces, yet every scientist who is trying to domesticate one of these etherial nags is just as anxious as a trainer of horses to know how fast his nag will go. And here are these Mt. Wilson astronomers helping and hoping and perhaps praying that Michelson will get rid of the last millimeter of error in the speed of light. For they measure distances in light years—the distance light travels, at more than 186,000 miles a second, in one year.

Director Adams is analyzing light which left stars millions of light years ago, and Dr. Hubble is estimating distances by the dimness or brightness of that light. But if Hubble's measuring rod is just a little too long or too short, that little added or subtracted every second of the time it takes light to come from remote nebulae would total more than the distance between the earth and sun. Naturally astronomers are interested. And so are all scientists, especially those interested in atomic analysis and relativity, for science can never attain the exactitude at which it aims until some one develops an exact yardstick.

MEXICO VIEWED VIA HORSEBACK

One of Many Sketches Made on Trip

TWO local boys, Clair Barton of Huntington Park, and Charles Davis of Altadena, have just returned from a horseback trip through Mexico. They traveled from Nogales, Son., down the west coast, and across to Mexico City. From there they went to Vera Cruz, whence they worked their way by boat to Galveston, and thence to Los Angeles.

CLAIR BARTON

"We went by train from Nogales, Son., to the little town of Agua Zarca, where we ran across some Mexican horse traders," said Barton in describing the trip. "The animals we bought from them were in fair shape but we were never able to get the speed out of them the traders did. Some of the Nogales' residents warned us not to take any arms into the territory south. About all that we took along was a large sketch pad and pencils for drawing, a tremendous sombrero each, and a small supply of money."

"The peons as a whole were very kind about selling us food, but crops had been bad for the season and we found it exceedingly difficult to get corn for the horses.

"In the central part of Sonora, in what is called the San Francisco country, we were stopped by a group of cowboys near the rancho of that name. We thought our time had come. Neither group could explain anything to the other, but presently I remembered my little Spanish handbook and with its aid we got together to a certain extent. They had a deal of fun as a result of our efforts to speak Spanish but soon we were all in smiles. They gave us some of their cigarettes, which just about put us out for the rest of the day. We learned never to refuse the native cigarettes, for they seem to form a sort of bond between travelers.

"Empalme, Son., marked our entrance into the famous Yaqui country. We were warned that we would not be allowed to travel through this hostile territory after nightfall. We found Vicum, ancient capital of the Yaqui Indian country, to be a very fascinating place and spent two days making drawings there. The Indians themselves were very kind and courteous to us and the children seemed especially anxious to pose."

"While in Vicum we stayed at the home of a Mr. Roberts, a Canadian, who has resided in this country for many years. One of the revolutionary leaders, Pluma Blanca, who visited at the house of our host, was most kind about posing. The city itself is very fascinating. The houses are constructed of thatch and straw. The floors are covered with mats and the windows are unadorned with anything resembling glass.

"Three men had been wounded, and the windshield of a car shattered by the bullets of bandits just two days previous to our advent into the southern Yaqui country, but we were not bothered. Many times we saw horsemen in the distance but they promptly vanished behind some intervening ridge. At Cruces Piedras we were invited to stay at the home of the major domo of that place. That night a 15-year-old lad with a very large muzzle-loading musket and an ancient revolver slept on a mat outside our door. We were informed the next morning that the Yaquis were often seen coming to the hotel well at midnight.

"We saw many ruined and deserted ranchos along our way. Oftimes we were forced to hunt for water and it was the old rancho men who helped us. After spending a day sketching at Mazatlan we moved on to Guadalajara. From every standpoint, this place seems to be one of the most interesting in Mexico. The next day we moved a good bit south of Guadalajara and camped. During the night one of the horses was stolen. At this place the road lay between high cliffs and we hurried down the trail hoping to recover the mount. In about an hour we came upon an innocent-looking fellow leading the horse along at a rapid pace. With the aid of the book we informed him the animal was ours, and he informed the senors the horse had been hopelessly lost and that he was searching for the rightful owners.

"Mexico City proved a veritable Paris of the West. We were so thrilled with the city that we spent two weeks there. We arrived during the celebration of Semana Santa or Holy Week. There were tremendous crowds about the parks and booths.

"We saw the pyramids at San Juan Teotihuacan, and bought antique clay heads from some of the Indians. At Puebla in the State of that name, we saw large crowds of people parading the streets in many-colored costumes.

"Vera Cruz proved to be a city of cathedrals and we spent several days roaming about its ancient precincts making drawings. At the port we shipped aboard a Dutch ship for Galveston. We were working in the stoke-holes and it was several days before we could get used to the terrific heat. It was not so hard after we gave up ice water.

"The best part of our trip was from the international border at Nogales, south along the Mexican west coast to Mazatlan. After that we found so many ruined ranchos and so few people that it became difficult to obtain sufficient food and water.

"The possibilities for artists and writers in Mexico are so tremendous that we are planning another trip down the west coast."

CAFE DINERS HELD UP BY BOY BANDIT

More Than Thirty Forced to Give Up Their Money at Point of Revolver

A youthful masked bandit early yesterday held up the cashier and more than thirty patrons of the Mission Cafe, 906 East Anaheim street, Wilmington, and escaped with five or six purses he had taken from the diners at the point of his gun.

Brandishing the revolver, the youth first approached the cashier demanding the contents of the cash register. Meanwhile he kept the gun pointed in the general direction of the customers. When he had plundered the drawer he calmly proceeded to search the pockets of the diners nearest the front.

As he was about to leave the place, he turned, snatched off his mask and invited his victims to "take a good look." He is believed to have obtained several hundred dollars.

Two feminine bandits described as "Tempest and Sunshine," took nearly $50 from E. S. Lund of 3003 Hillcrest Drive as he was walking home from a street car, he told police. The hold-up pair were riding in a tan coupe and as they pulled up to the curb, a brunette leaped out, placed a gun against Lund's back and commanded, "Stick 'em up, Big Boy!" The other woman remained in the car.

Ali Frank Miller of 1213 South Wall street could recall of the hold-up in which he lost $48, was that his money was taken by a man and woman who waylaid him near Sixth and San Julian streets. The woman limped, he said.

Several other hold-ups were reported over the week-end but only trivial amounts were obtained by the robbers.

Mountain Bus Fares Reduced

Reduced round-trip fares from points throughout Southern California to various resorts in the high Sierras in the Huntington Lake region reached by motor coaches of Pacific Greyhound System and San Joaquin and Eastern Railroad were announced yesterday.

The northern points include Auberry, Tollhouse, Alder Springs, Pine Ridge, Shaver Lake, Carlson's Camp, Big Creek, Huntington Lake, Cedar Crest Camp, Bear Creek and Lake Shore resorts.

Malibu Ranch Invaders to be Heard Today

The hearing on the trespass charges of the nine men and three women who a week ago filed land claims upon valuable Malibu beach frontage on the Coast Highway north of Santa Monica, will be conducted at 10 a.m. today before Justice of the Peace John L. Webster of Malibu township.

The maximum penalty faced by the "squatters" is $10 if found guilty.

Federal Offices Will be Shifted

A game of checkers is now being played by the various heads of departments of the government, and although the move apparently is up to Dry Administrator Woods, who is now located in the Transportation Building, Seventh and Los Angeles streets, he cannot move.

Mr. Woods has already been informed that he has to move and has issued orders to that effect for July 1. He contemplates taking the space in the Federal Building now occupied by Galen H. Welch, Collector of Internal Revenue. But Mr. Welch has not received orders to move to the Brownstein-Louis Building, Eighth and Figueroa streets, his eventual location, and declines to move until he gets such orders.

A general rearrangement of Federal activities is scheduled for July 1, at which time numerous offices are to be moved, in accordance with instruction of Col. D. P. Quinlan, assistant chief co-ordinator, located at Washington. From that time on most of the government offices will be located in the Federal Building and the Brownstein-Louis Building.

JESSUP SUBMITS MAP

City Engineer Jessup has submitted to the City Council the assessment district map for the improvement of streets in the Cicero Drive and Effie Place district. It was referred to the Public Works Committee.

Airport Affords Thrills Aplenty

Thrills aplenty were enjoyed by the large crowd which went to the Metropolitan Airport at Van Nuys yesterday to witness the Sunday aviation circus put on by flyers who make this field their headquarters. The most hair-raising moment came in the course of the balloon-breaking contest when Lieut. H. F. Murchie, who won the event, was forced to dive perilously near the earth in pursuit of one of the balloons.

Second place in the contest was won by Bob Nolan and J. B. Alexander was third. In the dead-stick landing contest, the winner was H. C. Glenn. Stanley Shoemaker was second and Eddie Anderson, third. Another program is being arranged for next Sunday.

NEW AMECO VICTIM FOUND

Eleventh Body Recovered From Wreck Identified as That of C. K. Lake of Glendale

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 22.—The body of still another victim of the Memorial Day disaster that cost the lives of sixteen persons when the fishing launch Ameco sank three miles off-shore was recovered today and identified as that of C. K. Lake, 55 years of age of 325 West Cypress street, Glendale. It was sighted in the surf at Las Tunas Beach, north of Topanga, by Fred Jackman of 527 Hillcrest avenue, Beverly Hills.

Identification was established positively, according to Police Lieutenant Randall, by personal effects found in the clothing. These included an old-fashioned silver watch, which relatives had told poboarded the ill-fated launch. Police tonight are awaiting arrival of the relatives to confirm their identification.

Lake's is the eleventh body taken from the water to date. The two victims still missing are listed as Sam Shimmo Suyemori of 503 East First street, Los Angeles, and J. K. Kamimura of 7403½ Hawthorne street, Hollywood, both Japanese.

Police said today they are convinced the hitherto unidentified body recovered last Sunday is that of James Huntsman, 14, of 12247 Gorham avenue, West Los Angeles.

COUNTY PEACE OFFICERS FEAST

Annual Barbecue Held at Luna Park

But She Won't Bite Hand That Feeds Her

Undersheriff Dewar and small entertainer at Sheriff's benefit become fast friends.

THE SHERIFF'S RELIEF ASSOCIATION barbecue was held yesterday at Luna Park to raise funds for disabled county peace officers.

A circus performance through the courtesy of the management of the Luna Park Zoo, vaudeville lasting from 10 a.m. until midnight with no repetitions put on by stage and screen celebrities, a program by a fourteen-piece Hawaiian orchestra and an athletic meet were features of the program. Gene Morgan was master of ceremonies. A presentation of an honorary gold deputy sheriff's badge was made to Burt H. Rugg, general manager of the Luna Park Zoo.

Sheriff William I. Traeger, Undersheriff Frank Dewar, and Eugene Biscailuz, superintendent of the State motor patrol, were present. Col. William M. Selig was in charge of the reception committee.

were ascribed to O'Brien in the testimony of Mrs. Langdon's brother, Ben Walton of Hazel Park, Mich., who was on the witness stand when court recessed last week, and who probably will resume the stand at today's resumption.

Attorney Paul Schenck appears for Langdon, while Attorney Bayard Rountree is handling the case for O'Brien, Rosecranz and Emme.

BRIDGE COST SET

The cost of constructing a footbridge across the river at Sunnybrook Drive will amount to $12,000, the Board of Public Works has notified the City Council. The matter was referred to the Tunnels, Bridges and Viaducts Committee.

CONDEMNATION SUITS REPORTED FINISHED

Condemnation suits for the acquisition of additional roadways have been completed and the property has been made available for improvement in the matter of widening Los Feliz Boulevard from Brunswick avenue to the city boundary, the widening of Franklin avenue from Wilcox avenue to Whitley avenue, and for the widening of Beverly Boulevard from Alexandria avenue to Western avenue, City Attorney Werner has informed the City Council. The Council referred the files to the City Engineer.

DEATH INHALED BY PAIR IN CAR

Suicides Found in Machine on Lonely Highway

Old Inner Tube Conveyor for Exhaust Fumes

Motor Running as Passer-by Discovers Bodies

With an old inner tube attached to the exhaust pipe of their car extending inside and their heads covered with a tarpaulin in order that they might inhale the full strength of the carbon monoxide fumes, two men were found dead in a lonely spot in Edison Canyon shortly before dawn yesterday.

The car, with the motor still running, was discovered by Bertelle Knowles of 4918 Glacier Drive, who notified Highland Park police.

Knowles said he saw the improvised hose extending through a rear window of the car and left his own machine to investigate. A coat had been stuffed into the opening through which the tube passed.

The dead men were identified from papers in their possession as Charles E. Stevenson, formerly of 2795 West Eighth street, and Herbert L. Groubert, who had been living at the Y.M.C.A. A newspaper clipping revealed that Stevenson had made five previous attempts to end his life, three of them in Denver and two others elsewhere. The fifth attempt was made in Denver in August, 1928, when he slashed his wrists in a fit of despondency resulting from failing health.

A former room-mate, who said he had known Stevenson for only a few weeks, informed police that the dead man had an estranged wife and two children living in Washington. He also told his fellow-roomer he had about $12,000 life insurance. Other roomers said Stevenson recently had made inquiry as to the result of inhaling fumes from an automobile exhaust.

Inquiry at the Y.M.C.A. disclosed that Groubert had registered there as a roomer on the 2nd inst., and had checked out ten days later. Detectives learned that he since had been employed as dishwasher and man-of-all-work at 627 South Westmoreland Place. There he met Stevenson, one of the boarders.

No note explaining the double suicide was found on the person of either men, but the address of Mrs. Emily Stevenson, 200 E street, Northwest, Washington, was found in a memorandum book in Stevenson's pocket. A note in Groubert's pocket asked that relatives at 4437 East Slauson avenue be notified "in case of accident."

The bodies were taken to the County Morgue.

Pacific Savings Concern Called Nation's Largest

ROBERT S. ODELL

Total resources in excess of $65,000,000, as revealed in the publication of the company's financial statement, is believed by officials of the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company to give the organization rank as the largest concern of its kind in the United States.

The announcement of the officials came after computations covering other loan and savings organizations, and the growth, according to Robert S. Odell, president, is due to the concern's location in Los Angeles.

"This achievement, I feel," said Odell, "could only have been possible in California where the group of cities which our institution serves is doubtless unrivaled as a class anywhere in the world."

The next largest companies, according to Odell, are located in New York and Indianapolis. The Pacific States Savings and Loan Company was founded in 1889 and now has twenty-five offices located in twenty-two California cities.

Beach Patrol Service Denied

Life-guard service on private beach areas owned by the Dickinson & Gillespie Corporation immediately south of the Del Rey Lagoon, now reported being fenced for the purpose of prohibiting the public except on payment of a fee, has been denied by the Playground and Recreation Commission.

The commission cited an opinion of the City Attorney's office stating that until the Playground Department acquires jurisdiction over any property mentioned in this area it would be unlawful for the department to spend any money to police or patrol it.

Electric Club Meets Today

E. F. Watkins will be installed as president of the Electric Club for 1930-31 at the last meeting of its current year in the Biltmore at noon today. Other officers to be installed at this time include H. L. Masser, first vice-president; A. E. Hitchner, second vice-president; A. W. Elliott, third vice-president; J. J. O'Reilly, secretary-treasurer; E. A. Hart, sergeant-at-arms.

President Addison B. Day will act as master of ceremonies.

COLLECTION OF BOOKS GIVEN LAW LIBRARY

More than 100 books and legal pamphlets have just been added to the library in the University of Southern California's school of law. They are the gift of Dean Emeritus Frank M. Porter, and were accumulated by the latter during the twenty-three years he served as head of the institution.

Today's Bible Text

What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also.—1 Cor. xiv:15.

NEEDS INVESTIGATING

Prisoner loses his shirt in Los Angeles Jail. Grand jury should inquire whether it was stud or "rummy."

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

A brand of cigarettes, introduced only four years ago, is one of the world's best sellers. Constant newspaper advertising, particularly heavy during times of financial depression, made it possible.

THE AX

The Cuban President laid the ax to his own salary and cut it in two to $12,000 a year. He opens a new field for other politicians, especially Councilmen, to cultivate.

HAMMERS ARE OUT

From now until 1932 every rise in price will be blamed on the Hoover administration, except the soaring of stocks in Wall street after the effects of the antitariff propaganda have died out.

FRANKNESS IN MUSIC

When the regulation march proved too slow at a Pittsburgh wedding a warlike tune was substituted to "pep" up the affair. Would that be called a "theme song"?

THE POPPY SHOW

King Carol of Rumania will invite President Hoover to his formal coronation. The President will take pleasure in being absent, but he might strain a point and send Will Rogers as his representative.

PLANE SAILING

The Navy is stocking up on planes and any time a battleship runs aground the admiral can hitch up a flyer and flutter where he wills. The appropriation for the expansion of the winged forces of the Navy is $6,000,000 and the big end of this, or $2,200,000, is awarded in contracts with the Curtiss company for planes to be built here in Santa Monica. Thus clinching the fame of this section as the center of the nation's aviation activities.

NOT SUCH A WANDERER

So the period of Pluto is only 251.8 years, instead of 3200. Now we won't have to worry about what it is doing way off there in space where we can't see it. And the Mt. Wilson calculations confirm the Lowell prediction better than the figures of his own observatory.

BEAUTY AND BONES

A few years ago connoisseurs in female pulchritude were bewailing the fact that the women of this country were bobbing their hair and permitting their faces to become tanned by sun and wind. Others said that the too liberal use of cosmetics was going to injure their facial epidermis, while still others opined that because they worked in offices they were becoming mannish in appearance and would soon become unattractive to men.

Now comes James Montgomery Flagg, noted American artist and illustrator, saying that our women are becoming more beautiful than ever. He cites some conspicuous examples of screen beauties and intimates that their pleasing appearance is largely due to the improved bone structure of the sex. "If there is no good bone structure," he says, "there can be little real beauty." He thinks that the reason why many women are now considered beautiful at 50 is because of their possession of this substantial anatomic feature.

Modern artists sometimes scoff at ancient ideals of beauty and consider the Venuses and Cleopatras of the old sculptors as too "beefy" or voluptuous. They do not fancy the doll-faced type of modern chorus girl and are more likely to seek the kinds of beauty known as the intellectual and spiritual. The Gibson girl generally wore a look suggestive of esthetic culture and in appearance the Flagg beauties are somewhat akin to her.

Perhaps it is because our women are of higher culture than many of those of former generations that they are considered by competent judges as more beautiful. One dislikes to think that their improved appearance is just a matter of bones.

EDUCATION FOR LAWYERS

In California, the educational requirements legally imposed upon candidates for the bar are lower than for barbers. It has been known to many people that California is rather lax in permitting admissions to the bar, but the striking comparison, given above, which is made by President Beardsley of the State Bar will, or at least should, so bring the information home to all as to induce effective action to provide a remedy.

A barber must have at least a grammar-school education. A high-school certificate is a requisite for the beauty-parlor business, and a veterinary surgeon must be graduated from an approved veterinary college. But the only requirement (aside from age) for those seeking entrance to the practice of law is three years of nominal study, which may consist of mere cramming of parrot-like answers to the questions most frequently asked in the State examination.

That such preparation is not adequate is clear on its face. When the State gives a man or woman an appointment as an officer of court, the appointment is presumptive evidence at least that the appointee is qualified to undertake any legal business whatever, and can be trusted. Without real requirements as to education and character, the State is in no position to guarantee even a presumption of honesty and competency. Its certificate is a gold brick.

The standards set up by the American Bar Association, which eighteen States have adopted, require a high school education, two years of general collegiate training and three full years of study in an approved law school or four years in a part-time law school. No State which has adopted these standards has found any reason for lowering them. The requirements in some other States are not as severe, but still much stiffer than those of California. Everywhere the tendency is to increase the requirements and every such step taken has proved of benefit.

It may be—and frequently is—asserted that such requirements shut the door to the poor but ambitious boy wishing to make the law his profession. But there is small merit in the contention. In every university there are hundreds of poor students working their way through and plenty of proof in the careers of thousands besides President Hoover that poverty is no bar to attaining professional education. In the second place, the general welfare, the protection of the public, are far more important than the disappointed ambition of any individual. It is justifiable to shut out a few who might be of service to themselves and the community at the bar, in order to keep out the many undesirables who also are excluded in this way.

Law is one of the most intricate of subjects, its practice is one of great difficulty, requiring a high order of trained intelligence and the utmost probity. There is no such thing as a right to practice law; it is a revocable privilege, granted in trust, and should be restricted to those who can prove themselves fully worthy. The primary purpose of having lawyers is not to allow a certain number of individuals to make money, but to assure that justice shall be done between man and man and between individuals and society. The lawyer's compensation is, in theory, incidental and secondary. From an economic standpoint, most lawyers are not actual producers. Their services are useful, necessary, in the complex organization society has grown into, but it is socially advantageous to have no more of them than are required. To cut-throat competition between too many lawyers, especially of a certain class, is attributable a vast horde of evils, including congestion in the courts, delays, denials of justice and of human rights, and even sometimes actual stimulation of criminality. When there is not enough legitimate business to keep lawyers occupied, some members of the profession will make business. It is possible, with a good deal of trouble, to withdraw the privilege of practice from the delinquents; but it would be easier and more satisfactory not to grant it in the first place.

The present system assumes the honesty, the good intentions and the intellectual equipment of the candidates for admission to the bar. They should be required to prove it affirmatively.

WILLIAM LYMAN STEWART

In the early hours of the morning, at his summer cottage at Hermosa Beach, with his devoted family around him, W. L. Stewart, one of the outstanding and most colorful figures in the history of the California oil fields, received the final summons and peacefully left the scene of his many struggles and triumphs in the great cause of advancing the industrial progress of his State and country.

To be the main factor in building up so strong and so essentially an American institution as the Union Oil Company of California from its initial small and dubious beginnings, to carry it through many contests for preserving it from foreign competition and outside absorption and to leave it as a monument of independence and stability for the people of this commonwealth is a distinction to place him eminently among the empire builders of the West. It took a man endowed with the spirit that has raised the Union Oil Company to its present commanding position after years of vicissitudes and crises to accomplish this work. Such a man was William Lyman Stewart.

Though born in Pennsylvania Mr. Stewart spent all his grown years in his chosen State and was an outstanding type of the California pioneer. His early struggles to get a foothold in the oil industry of the Pacific Coast, his schooling at the State university, his subsequent rise from a roustabout on the Torrey Canyon lease at Santa Paula to the presidency of one of the six leading independent oil companies of the United States mark him as the product of western grit and western perseverance through which California today enjoys a growth in wealth and population to astonish the world.

Like his State and the corporation that he led to financial victory Mr. Stewart developed through his own efforts the ability and the courage to overcome the many obstacles that every pioneering enterprise has to meet. There was no sudden spurt of fortune or chance in the career of either the Stewarts or the Union Oil Company—just a long, hard, steady grind to make the foundation secure and to build a structure to weather whatever storms the future might direct against it. Those who today regard money made from oil as easy money might well study the ups and downs, the advances and reverses that tell the story of the Stewarts and Union Oil.

The end of W. L. Stewart came suddenly and unexpectedly and brings sorrow to hosts of friends who knew the human side of the oil leader, who loved the generous companion who shared with them his leisure hours and respected the quiet executive who always preferred to let the outcome of his efforts be his best spokesman.

TEETH

Tooth paste and dental creams are certainly putting teeth into radio these days.

THE BLUE JAY

By James J. Montague

The blue jay is a rascal;
To get his daily food
He drains the dregs of swallows' eggs,
And wolfs the robin's brood.
The thrasher leaves off singing,
A prey to horrid fears;
The doughty wren is troubled when
The plunderer appears.

Too base to seek his living
The fertile fields among,
He waxes fat on this or that Defenseless songster's young.
More crafty than the tiger,
More avid than the shark,
He spreads distress and wretchedness
From break of day till dark.

And yet he is so handsome,
So dashing in his ways,
We follow him from limb to limb
With fascinated gaze,
Forget his evil courses,
His wantonness and guile,
His heart of stone and note alone
His beauty, charm and style.

Thus hosts of human scoundrels
And hosts of human crooks
In bygone days have won men's praise
With nothing more than looks.
The grace of form and feature
Delightedly men scan,
But lack the art to read the heart
Of either bird or man.

THE recent appointment of John Masefield as poet laureate of England calls to mind the fact that some years ago Masefield paid signal tribute to "the American poet-laureate." At that time the London Chronicle was publishing Walt Mason's daily poems on its editorial page and they were so popular that two volumes of his verse were brought out by an English publisher. Masefield sent to the editor of the Chronicle the following letter:

"I read Walt Mason with great delight. His poems have wonderful fun and kindliness and I have enjoyed them the more for their having so strongly all the qualities I liked so much in my American friends.

"I don't know any book which has struck me as so genuine a voice of the American nature.

"JOHN MASEFIELD."

A Combat of Awe and Wonder

It may not sound he-manish, but we can't get excited over the combats of such unimaginative clods as Sharkey and Schmeling. To whet our jaded appetite it would take something really breath-taking, desperate, astounding, death-defying and teeming with unrivaled courage—like a reminiscence contest between Richard Halliburton and Tom Terriss, the vagabond director of radioland.

Had to Suit Public Taste

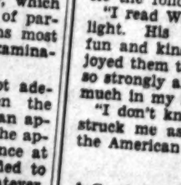
A Preview For the Blind

Crane Williams, author of "Molly Magdalen," which is to open at the Mayan Theater shortly, did a pretty and unusual thing the other day when he took his company to the headquarters of the Universal Braille Press and presented the complete performance before an audience composed entirely of blind people, under the auspices of the California Society for the Blind. It probably was the first time a show ever was previewed by blind people.



And the blind people "saw" everything. With straining features they followed every step of the story and from the inflection of every actor's voice pictured the expression and physical action which accompanied the words. They suffered with the heroine, laughed with the comedy character. And why not? "Sighted people can reach the depths and heights of emotion better with the eyes closed than with them open," one blind man explained. "We who are blind have learned to see more with our minds than most people do. I believe we can enjoy most well-acted performances better than people with sight can, for we cannot be distracted if some head moves in front of us, or if anything on the stage detracts from the illusion. We imagine it just as it ought to be and 'see' a perfect performance instead of the sometimes imperfect one the average audience sees."

Lad O' Long Ago

Where has he gone, the little lad
I knew, long, long ago;
Where are the wondrous dreams he had,
That gleamed with magic glow?
Where are the visions that he viewed,
Beyond mere mortal ken;
The realms o' romance, rainbow-hued,
His fancy pictured then?
I've walked the lane his bare feet trod,
Beside the singing brook,
Where he communed with nature's God,
In glen and woodland nook;
The birds were trilling just as sweet;
The sunshine gleamed as gold,
As when he shipped, with dusty feet,
Adown that lane of old.
Again I've seen the "swimming hole"
Down in the leafy dell,
Where length'ning shadows swiftly stole,
As twilight softly fell;
In dreams I've seen him sitting there,
Where ripples gleam and glow,
But he is gone—I wonder where?—
That lad o' long ago.
I've tried to find that boy again,
Though many years have fled,
For I was "him" in far-off then,
But now I'm "me," instead.
I wonder where that lad can be—
I've searched low him in vain;
I'd gladly give the "grown-up" me—
To be that boy, again.

Restaurant Observations

There are more things in restaurant soup, Horatio, than are dreamed of in our philosophy.

Simile for today: As crumbly as restaurant corn bread.

Anonymity hath its blessings. The man at the next table had just slipped a dime under the napkin for the waiter when he was paged and everyone turned interested eyes that way. He hastily recovered the dime and left half a dollar in its place.

Table manners in Los Angeles are decidedly on the upgrade. When not invited out, we are a man of very democratic tastes and often eat at very modest beaneries. But it has been more than two years since we heard anyone eating soup or inhaling coffee, while sword-swallowing now seems confined to the Main-street side shows.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT.

TESTIMONY OF NEW ZEALAND

(E. W. Howe's Monthly)

New Zealand has always interested me because of its long devotion to bloodless Socialism. Every possible plan of paternalism has been tried there by dignified and educated statesmen, and other portions of the world have profited from the experiments, as they succeeded or failed: New Zealand has operated a human laboratory as conscientiously as scientists make experiments in material fact.

Its prime aim has always been to rid the country of poverty, and avoid the accumulation of great wealth in the hands of a few. A textbook written jointly by a citizen of New Zealand and a citizen of Denver, both representative men as to education, intelligence and character, says that there is as much poverty in the cities of New Zealand as in cities of the same size in the United States, and as great a proportion of people of large wealth.

And these wealthy persons do not seem to be entirely useless.

The book states that the invention of the refrigerator, the development of which must be fully credited to the wealthy, revolutionized the sheep-raising industry, and did more for New Zealand than all the legislation for which the country is so famous.

While the politicians and mechanics of the labor unions were busy experimenting with laws, quiet business men prevented economic disaster.

It is further testimony that our system is at least nearer right than State Socialism: that wealth is always useful, and perhaps more useful in private hands than in the hands of the State.

CONGRESSIONAL IVORY

(Chicago Tribune)

A number of Congressmen from the Central States are up in arms against the proposal to transfer the New York barge canal to the Federal government. Why they should take this position is one of those questions which it is difficult to answer in terms which can reflect credit upon them. There is clear need for a school, an elementary school, needless to say, to instruct our Congressmen in the a-b-c-'s of American economic geography, particularly as it concerns the region they are supposed to speak for.

They oppose taking over the New York route, although it leads to the centers of population on and near our eastern seaboard, the largest consuming market which our farmers have for their crops. They do this, say these Congressmen, to protect the St. Lawrence waterway cannot be built without the consent of Canada, and Canada apparently will have little to do with it. The New York canal is built and functioning. The last published report shows a four-fold increase in its business in the early months of this year.

The inability to comprehend the true interest of their constituents in this matter is matched by opposition to the Illinois waterway, which offers an invaluable route between the interior and the gulf for farm exports and industrial imports.

A POOR RISK

In view of the fact that it is now fashionable to insure any part of the body essential to one's profession, it is significant that so far no politician has done anything about his brain.

SKIRTS IN THE STORM

BY JANE FREDERICKSON

Those of us who have endured long skirts in the dim past and who have enjoyed short ones in these later years are wondering just what effect the recent storm during the Ascot races will have on the vogue for the long ones in England.

Will not their experience with mud and water during the panic caused by an electrical storm dampen the ardor even of English women who were not by any means the first by whom the short skirts were tried?

One day we read in the news columns:

"Trains and Frills at Ascot Sound the Knell of Short Skirts."

And sufficiently important is this to carry a first-page double-column head.

The next day we are told, also on the important first page, of a panic at the Ascot race meeting caused by an electrical storm that killed an unfortunate bookmaker and that,

"Society women caught in a rush for shelter were thrown to the muddy ground and trampled."

We cannot help wondering just how those trailing skirts behaved during the panic. We are told that there wasn't a single short skirt in view as the women prominent in England's Who's Who assembled, that many wore trains, dresses whose make-up involved a dozen yards of material, that some even dared the whalebone collars that made our mothers uncomfortable.

It is more than probable that the long skirts hindered the women when they were fleeing from the storm and were more than annoying to their escorts who were trying to take them to safety. It is recorded that in the fair weather preceding the storm those same escorts were extremely annoyed and were forced to execute continual jumps in order to dodge the swishing yards of material. How much harder it must have been when the skirts were no longer "swishing," but were wet and heavy with mud and water. After an experience like that it is not improbable that the English women will no longer wear long skirts for out-of-door events.

All signs show that our California women who live much of the time in the open air will never conform to a long-skirt fashion for the out-of-doors no matter who decrees it. We will undoubtedly see legs in comfortable freedom at our fall football games.

Fashions may come and fashions may go, but unless California women are less sensible than they have always been in the past short skirts will go on forever, except possibly for formal wear.

TOURIST DOLLARS

Three States, California, Texas and Minnesota, have promoted the tourist business intensively for several years. H. C. Hotaling, tourist commissioner of Minnesota, has done some figuring to demonstrate in what ways the three have profited from their enterprise; he remarks that Federal statistics show they have led the nation in growth of farm population during a period of general agricultural depression. This, he thinks, is due to the fact that they have "carried on an aggressive campaign to induce people to come and see their possessions."

Wholly aside from permanent gains of this kind, however, the immediate profit that comes from entertaining tourists amounts to a large sum. Enthusiastic estimators have guessed the total volume of business from this source in the nation to be worth $3,000,000,000 a year. Mr. Hotaling is more modest; he puts it at $750,000,000 a year. California, he says, last year spent $1,360,000 in advertising, in return for which it got $418,526,000 of tourists' money. According to the tourist commissioner's figures Minnesota, with a modest investment of $37,500, got $87,000,000 The State obtained $889,212 from its gasoline tax alone.

From the nature of things estimates of this kind cannot be exact, much depending on the point of view of the guesser and the items he reckons up in reaching his total. Nevertheless, it is obvious that tourists' spendings are enormous. Their millions of motor cars go about scattering dollars everywhere. The best thing about their trade is that it grows steadily. European travel may fall off in lean years, but there is usually enough money around the average home to keep the family automobile chugging through another summer.

Inquiries at tourist bureaus are said already to be 10 per cent more numerous than for this time last year. This can only presage tidy prosperity for the tourist business of 1930.—[New York Sun.

MUSIC INFLUENCES ORIENT

Persian music is oriental and not readily adaptable to occidental instruments, but during the fiscal year 1928-29 fifty pianos, five organs and 5680 pounds of other instruments were imported by the inhabitants of that country. The pianos were principally for the use of foreign residents, but native Persians are also beginning to learn to play them as well as other instruments of many kinds.

Military bands, which are fairly numerous in Persia, use foreign instruments only, and it is thought that this may account for most of the "other instruments" on the list of imports. Free concerts in the parks and squares given by the bands have helped to accustom the public to western ways of making music.

Those Druggist Arrests

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Several days since a wholesale mandate directed the Chief of Police to arrest several hundred druggists and pharmacists of Los Angeles, many of them occupying prominent positions in the social and business world. Most of them have university degrees, have refined home atmosphere and families who look to them with pride and are factors in the economic conditions as well as the social ones in Los Angeles.

The result of this order for arrest caused the incarceration in the city jails here of approximately 188—at least that many were arrested. Instead of having these arrests made in the usual business hours, so that the defendants might procure bail at no cost, these warrants were served at night, the parties taken to jail and, in many cases, being unable to procure bail at that unseasonable hour, they were incarcerated for the night among thieves, felons and outlaws and each was compelled to undergo the humiliation of being fingerprinted as common criminals.

Chief of Police Steckel says that the orders for arrest were given to them at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and the reason for serving them late at night was for fear that some would escape. I take it that these pharmacists, all established, having businesses ranging in value from $10,000 to $40,000, nearly all of them home owners, taxpayers and sustainers of the city government, were not likely to leave hurriedly to avoid facing charges in question.

He also says that invariably when people are brought to the police station, they are fingerprinted. Imagine your wives or daughters violating some traffic ordinance, being brought to the police station, fingerprinted and thrown into jail on a misinterpretation or technical violation of a traffic ordinance.

All we could obtain from this audience was this: That the fingerprints of these druggists would be destroyed and there ends the chapter.

I do not criticise Chief Steckel. His actions were precisely what of his predecessors in arresting people at night. This has been going on for years and it has been largely stated that there are underground wires between the fakers, bail-bond specialists and others who are always posted at the late hours of the night at the police stations, ready to exploit the victims of these antiquated methods.

It appears to me that the remedy lies with the city administration and the Police Commissioners in reforming the ways and means and methods and ordering the police department to abstain from fingerprinting promiscuously and also where citizens are established and permanent here, to cease these midnight arrests and place a warrant for execution during business hours.

That Itemized Statement

LAGUNA BEACH, June 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A trust fund of over $50,000 is handed to Bishop Cannon for a specific political purpose. His expenditure of that fund for such a purpose becomes a matter of legal accounting under our laws governing political campaigns, unless bishops are exempted. The Senate committee asks for a statement of expenditure of that fund. Bishop Cannon refuses. Why?

The bishop can easily gratify his friends and confound his foes if he will publish frankly and fully an itemized statement of how he used the fund committed to his charge.

Surely this is not asking too much. If religion makes the bad man good and the good man better, here is a fine opportunity for Bishop Cannon to demonstrate the potency of his professed beliefs. Let the bishop arise and let his enemies be scattered by the publication of an itemized statement. Will he do it?

Navajo Indians

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have just finished reading the article on the Navajo Indians, by Philip Johnston, which was printed in your paper several weeks ago. The article refers to Navajo jewelry and blankets.

Manufactured Navajo jewelry and blankets are much in display in most of the curio stores which I have visited in Southern California. The designs on the jewelry and blankets are typically Navajo and the work on these articles is probably done by Indians, but under the supervision of white men, who rean the harvest from their sale.

The Navajo silversmith and blanket weaver cannot compete with factory productions or wholesale prices. He is being robbed of his art by money-mad white men.

I wish to thank your paper for unfolding the facts and presenting the conditions as they actually exist.

I am a Navajo. I was born and raised on the reservation, and I know the conditions as they are.

MASONIC PRINCIPLES PRAISED IN SERMON

Declaring that the ideals in the Declaration of Independence, and embodied in the Constitution of the United States, were 'lifted bodily from the teachings of the Masonic lodge," Dr. Bruce Brown, in his sermon at South Park Christian Church yesterday said that that lodge, at that time, was the only institution that taught and practiced liberty, equality and fraternity.

"Prince and plutocrat had to come to the door of the lodge room as the poorest of men," said Dr. Brown. "Worldly power and pelf could never purchase its benefits. Its degrees could be obtained only by merit. It had exemplified, in its own practice, representative government. The great men who formulated the Declaration and Constitution and who were officers in Washington's army were guided by the ones who were illustrious in Masonry. Its practice became the working model in the formation of the new government. We have it from Lafayette that after the cause of the Revolution had been betrayed by the enemies of Washington, he refused ever afterward to have an officer serving under him who was not a Mason."

UNOBTRUSIVENESS FUNDAMENTAL VIRTUE

"Being quiet is a fundamental virtue," declared Dr. Sheldon Shepard in his sermon yesterday at First Universalist Church.

"The sound advice, 'Be still and know that I am God,' slips its way unobtrusively down through the ages," said Dr. Shepard. "American life is too busy. Our churches are organized to the smothering point. We are altogether too strong on the do, the go, the get. If teachers would teach pupils how to be quiet, there would be fewer punishments and fewer lives handicapped by failure complexes. If parents would learn to be quiet, homes would be happier. If churches would teach the art of being still, their people would have stronger nerves, better characters, more happiness, sounder judgments, sweeter dispositions. Relaxation eases pain, quiets nerves, aids all curative processes, soothes ruffled emotions, arouses the inner forces and opens the door to happiness. Be quiet, be still, relax, let go. Give the unseen a chance to break through. Realise the presence of God."

YES, WE HAVE NO BANANAS; CITY NEARLY LEADS WORLD

Shipments of bananas to Los Angeles have grown until this city has become one of the most important receiving points for this fruit in the world, the Marine Exchange of the Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

In 1929 the incoming shipments aggregated 62,697,207 pounds, valued at $1,179,295, an increase of 844,079 pounds over 1924.

This year the total promises to exceed the total for 1929, receipts at Los Angeles Harbor from January 1 to date being 27,089,540 pounds, valued at $513,850. The bulk of the shipments are from Central America, but those from Mexico are rapidly increasing, according to the Marine Exchange.

WOMEN OF INDIA BECOMING MODERN

"Women in Modern India" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Bramachari Nerode at Mt. Washington Center. Excerpts from the address follow:

"The barometer of the progress of a nation is indicated by the intellectual heights of its women. Wherever women are awake, the nation is alive. Women in modern India have broken down the shell of their social isolation. With the influx of western ideas, Indian womanhood has been imbued with political and social ambitions, guided by India's age-old ideals of the inner life. Mrs. Naidu, poetess and aid of Mahatma Gandhi, has infused new blood into the veins of her sisters."

KNOWLEDGE OF SELF THEME FOR SERMON

Dr. J. George Dorn, pastor of Hollywood Lutheran Church, preached yesterday on "Self-Ignorance." Dr Dorn said in part:

"We live today in a full and busy life. The hand of life opens many doors but not the door which leads into the heart. No one would assume to say there are no values in this busy and full life. It has developed man and enlarged his vision. We are learning of the Kingship of Jesus today, undreamed of once. And yet, with it all, there is a certain loss—a loss of introspection, a loss of the knowledge of self. We have gained outwardly but have lost inwardly. Profound dissatisfaction with self is a true index of knowing something of the real self."

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DISCUSS 'ATOMIC FORCE'

"Is the universe, including man, evolved by a tomic force?" This question constituted the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday at all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. One of the Scripture selections in the lesson-sermon cited the following verses from the first epistle of John: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

The lesson-sermon included also passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, and one of these passages presented statements as follows: "The true theory of the universe, including man, is not in material history but in spiritual development. Inspired thought relinquishes a material, sensual, and mortal theory of the universe, and adopts the spiritual and immortal."

MINISTERIAL GROUP'S OUT FOR YOUNG

Seven Local Pastors Unite in Plea to Churchmen to Back Incumbent Governor

The following letter addressed to the "Christian ministers and laymen of California" was made public yesterday over the signatures of Rev. E. E. Helms, pastor of the First Methodist Church; Rev. Harold Griffin, Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church; Rev. Willsie Martin, Wilshire Methodist Church; Rev. Bruce V. Black, Wilshire Baptist Church; Rev. Carl H. Patton, First Congregational Church; Rev. Charles F. Seitter, Hollywood First Methodist Episcopal Church, and Rev. Hugh K. Walker, First Presbyterian Church:

"Two drys are candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor. The danger is that the moral forces will divide their support between these two, with the result that a third candidate, who is one of the wettest of the wets, will receive the nomination. We all know a Republican nomination in this State is equivalent to an election.

"If California—Hoover's State—elects a wet Governor, the wets of the nation will interpret that as a 'gone-back-on-the-President' move. The damage to the nation, as well as to California, of the election of a wet Governor would be irreparable. Also, we are facing a fight to retain the Wright law. A split of the dry forces means a probable repeal of the Wright law. That hurt to the dry cause no man can estimate.

"Both Young and Pitts have notable achievements to their credit. Gov. Young's record for twenty years of State service shows a determined stand for every dry law and every moral issue. He stumped the State for the Wright law. He is a fine exponent of efficiency and hard work, and has always stood for progress. Mr. Pitts's dramatic battles with representatives of evil in Los Angeles county are well known. Under his District Attorneyship corruption is being driven to cover.

"But we cannot elect both of these men Governor. It is no disparagement of Mr. Pitts to say that since the moral forces must unite or meet defeat, we strongly urge getting behind Gov. Young. For his very works' sake he is entitled to re-election.

"Some weeks ago certain of the press carried the statement tending to implicate Gov. Young in the Julian affair. In reference to this the board of directors of the State Anti-Saloon League, including full representation from both Northern and Southern California, declared: 'After a careful investigation and examination of the evidence submitted by the District Attorney's office of Los Angeles county, the board did not find any credible evidence to in any way connect Gov. Young with any of the Julian oil scandals.' Also in a statement to the public press Mr. Pitts, in reference to this matter and its relationship to Gov. Young, said: 'Those who know the one involved and his reputation, would not credit him personally for an instant with any improper connection in such a matter.'

"We face no imaginary crisis. Only the paramount issue of united action should influence our decision. With our utmost strength and with prayer we urge that you aid in this critical situation of State and national significance. Let this be our slogan—

"'Let both men finish their jobs.'

"And we can trust the people and Divine Providence to see that those who have sought conscientiously to serve, will be justly rewarded. We seriously need Buron Fitts to finish the job in Los Angeles county—and hold him available for future honor and public service."

County Farm Building Bids Opened Today

Bids for the construction of a new hospital and administration building at the Los Angeles County Farm at an estimated cost of $500,000 will be opened today at 2 p.m. by the Board of Supervisors.

Following the letting of the contract it is expected that it will be a year before the structure is finished, according to Karl W. Muck, county architect.

Plans have been made for thirty-eight more one-story units, which will be added and built around the administration building from time to time in years to come.

DAMAGE FUND AVAILABLE

City Engineer Jessup has informed the City Council that the Board of Supervisors has made available $7210 to help pay for damages resulting from the change of grade at Washington Boulevard and La Brea avenue.

GEORGE BARNES GETS INTO RACE

Seat in Congress Sought by Park Commissioner

Representative Crail Faces Him as Opponent

Forest Preservation One of Principal Planks

George H. Barnes, member of the Los Angeles Board of Park Commissioners, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Representative from the Tenth Congressional District. He will run against Representative Crail, incumbent.

In a statement accompanying his announcement, Barnes, who is executive chairman of the American Green Cross and president of the American Reforestation Association, pledges himself to a campaign in behalf of forest preservation and water conservation and their allied interests.

"We spend millions upon millions on flood control and have seen thousands of lives and millions in property lost because of a lack of understanding of the simplest, safest and most inexpensive method of water control, namely, forest preservation and reforestation," the statement reads.

During the past seventy-five years, the candidate points out, eight of nine standing trees have been destroyed. Vast forest areas still are being denuded at "an unbelievable rate," the cost to the nation being $4,500,000 annually.

In Los Angeles business circles Barnes is known as president of the Barnes Music Company. He is a director of the Pacific Coast Building and Loan Association and a member of the Mason Breakfast Club.

OFFICES OPENED FOR TRAEGER'S CAMPAIGN

Traeger - for - Sheriff campaign headquarters have been opened in the Alexandria. The telephone number is TUcker 4560. Sheriff Traeger, seeking re-election, announced yesterday that the campaign personnel and a campaign manager will be named later in the week. The headquarters are the same used by Traeger's supporters during his successful campaign of four years ago.

Two Periled in Surf as Bubble Ball Explodes

REDONDO BEACH, June 22. (Exclusive)—Agnes Pauley, 20 years of age, and Mary J. Phelan, 14, both of 297 Winona avenue, Pasadena, had a narrow escape from drowning here today when a large rubber "bubble-ball" to which they were clinging burst and abandoned them to the mercy of the surf.

Bathers noted their plight and summoned Lifeguards Addison Cherry and Lee Jarvis who brought the girls to shore with difficulty, the breakers being extremely rough. An inhalator was required to revive the younger girl.

DAYLIGHT SAVING WILL BE TOPIC OF SPEAKER

At the weekly luncheon of the Federation of State Societies in the Leighton's Arcade Cafeteria, 540 South Broadway, today at 12:15 p.m. the speaker of the day, Harry Sheehan, will talk in support of Statewide daylight saving for California, which is to be voted on at the November election.

CITIZENS ASKED TO HELP FIND WORK FOR NEEDY

Eager to help indigents earn their livelihood as far as possible, county authorities are seeking the co-operation of citizens in meeting the unemployment situation, it is announced by executives of the welfare department. They urge all to inventory their needs and notify the county what types of work are available. Such co-operation, it is pointed out, will be of inestimable value, not only to those in search of work but to the tax-paying population of the county as well, for every dollar earned by a county dependent is a dollar saved to the taxpayers.

During May, last, the county cared for 12,540 dependent cases, consisting of individuals and families rendered destitute through inability of the breadwinner to obtain employment. Family discord, separation and desertion, it is asserted, frequently are the result of unemployment.

The cure for unemployment is work, welfare workers explain, and a little intelligent thought on the part of citizens will go far toward providing it. Men sent in response to calls will in most instances be family men who have established their homes here.

Citizens within the city limits are requested to telephone their needs for workers to MUtual 9211 (Station 2757.) Others may reach the department by calling Compton 2091, El Monte 119, Douglas 1308, Inglewood 974, Long Beach 664-39, Wakefield 6161 (Station 368,) Pomona 1774, San Fernando-Main 6, Santa Monica 23471, Oxford 9401 or Whittier 428-237.

AERONAUTS INVADE BROADWAY

Air-Minded Youth Not "Flighty"

Showing Credentials

THE faint whirr of tiny propellers, motivated by rubber bands of various lengths, will be heard in the boys' department of the Broadway Department Store today as air-minded boys and girls assemble for courses of instruction they are to receive as members of Los Angeles chapter of the Airplane Model League of America.

Under the tutelage of R. R. Harmon, former aviation instructor of the municipal Playground Department, the youngsters will learn about the elementary principles of flight and the rudiments of model building. The workshops are to be open every day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

With the help of H. L. Tabb, representative of the national body, the local branch was formally organized Saturday, when several hundred young enthusiasts were enrolled. It is to be operated under auspices of the Broadway Department Store, the curriculum including a series of Saturday morning lectures in the store auditorium, followed by competitive meets both there and on the roof.

Champion designers will be selected from the local chapter's ranks annually and sent to Detroit to compete against the aces of other branches throughout the country.

Druggists Will Open Pasadena Sessions Today

Retail druggists of California, members of the California Pharmaceutical Association, will gather for their annual convention at Pasadent this morning for a program that will continue until Thursday. Included in the list of speakers will be R. D. Kiem, general sales manager of E. R. Squibbs & Sons of New York; Dr. E. L. Newcomb of New York, secretary of the National Wholesale Druggists' Association; George H. Eberhard, San Francisco; Lucien N. Brunswig and Ludwig Schiff.

Frank E. Mortenson, vice-president of the association, said yesterday that the convention leaders will make an effort to outline a program seeking to elevate the standards of the pharmaceutical profession.

"The independent pharmacists are fighting to preserve and to further advance the knowledge of the profession," he said. "And it is highly important to the public welfare that this be done. Commercialism threatens to destroy this highly scientific profession."

CRANE COMPANY TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Employees of the local branch of the Crane Company, manufacturers of plumbing supplies, will picnic at Catalina Island July 3, to celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the organization. More than 700 persons are expected to attend. The birthday also is to be observed in a similar manner by employees of the company's branches in 196 other cities throughout the world. Employees with twenty-five or more years of service are being sent to Chicago to participate in the main celebration.

ADVERTISING MAN HONORED

Promotion of Duane D. Jones, manager of the Los Angeles office of Lord and Thomas and Logan, to the New York office of the same organization, was announced yesterday by Don Francisco, vice-president of the advertising agency. Jones was made manager in Los Angeles January 1, last. He will assume his new duties July 1. Francisco has active charge of the Los Angeles office.

CORPUS CHRISTI RITES NOTEWORTHY CEREMONY

Chanting hymns in Spanish and English, a procession of Corpus Christi participated in by a crowd estimated at 30,000, yesterday afternoon proceeded through a street lined with thousands of spectators extending from the Church of Our Lady of Guadalupe, 3127 Fisher street, to La Soledad Church in Belvedere. The ceremony was exceedingly colorful and was attended by many out-of-town worshipers. A delegation came from San Diego and nearly every town in Southern California was represented.

Mgr. Gutierrez, pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Guadalupe, was in charge. He was assisted by many Catholic dignitaries. The Blessed Sacrament was borne beneath a canopy for the ten blocks between the two churches.

Girls and boys attired in Spanish and Mexican costumes added to the color of the spectacle. This with the brilliant robes of the clergy and the uniforms of the Knights of Columbus, both American and Mexican organizations, made the affair noteworthy.

The festival of Corpus Christi, instituted early in the thirteenth century, traditionally includes a solemn procession in which the Host is carried aloft for the adoration of the faithful.

JAPAN-BOUND VIA NEW YORK

Nipponese World Flyer Hops Off

ZENSAKU AZUMA, Japanese flyer, bent on flying most of the way around the world, took off from Metropolitan Airport yesterday at 6:45 a.m. as scores of Japanese friends cheered and Buddha priests gave their blessing. Weather conditions during a take-off one week ago had forced the flyer to return. Bob Lloyd, his former instructor, escorted him on a part of his journey. They circled the North Hollywood Airport where Azuma trained for his flight. He arrived at Holbrook, Ariz., at 12:10 p.m., landing there to complete the first leg of his trip.

He is piloting a special J-5 Travelair biplane which he purchased from profits of a restaurant he has operated. He is carrying 115 gallons of gas, the reserve supply being stored in special tanks in the front cockpit. Stops will be made at Kingman and Winslow, Ariz., before landing in New York, where he plans to take passage and ship his plane by steamer to England. From England he will fly to Tokio via Siberia.

BRIEF DELAY TO BE ASKED FOR BERMAN

Attorney Plans to Make Request Today for Time to Complete Defense

A motion for a short continuance in which to complete his defense plan will be made by Attorney Dan M. Critchley in behalf of Jacob Berman, former Julian Petroleum Corporation official facing trial on jury bribery charges before Superior Judge Wilson this morning. The motion, according to Judge Wilson, probably will be granted and the case set down for some time near the end of this week.

Berman, serving a seven-year mail-fraud sentence at McNeil Island, was brought here last week both for trial on several felony charges and as the star prosecution witness in a number of other cases, all growing out of the crash of the Julian company in 1927. He is in the custody of two Federal prison guards.

According to both Berman and his attorney the former oil promoter was granted full and complete immunity by both the grand jury and Dist.-Atty. Fitts when he told the story which brought about not only his own indictment but also that of his brother and Louis Krause, the asserted go-between in the bribery plot.

In court last Tuesday afternoon Judge Wilson informed Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jones, who is to prosecute the cases, that the matter of immunity had not been taken up with the court and that the grand jury and the District Attorney have no legal authority to grant immunity. Judge Wilson, while making his official observation, did not rule that the immunity would not be granted, however.

Critchley in seeking a short continuance in his formal motion to be made today will state that he has been under the impression that his client had been granted immunity and therefore is unprepared for trial.

Drunk-Driving Crusaders Net Eight Persons

The police crusade against drunken driving netted five arrests over the week-end, with three persons found intoxicated in automobiles.

Frank M. Naman, 43 years of age, 826 East Seventh street, was arrested by Officers Anderson and Smith after he is said to have attempted to make a turn at Ninth and San Pedro streets with disastrous results.

Others booked on suspicion of drunk driving were Dr. Manuel Navora, 27, 1317 South Flower street; James D. Brown, 47, 754 East Kensington avenue; Martin J. McCauley, 34, 1008 West Thirty-eighth street; Rosalio Abelo, 21, 4135 East Third street. All were given sobriety tests at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital before being booked.

Jack L. Ries, 45, 841 West Eighteenth street; William Recker, 41, 1841 San Fernando Road, and Harry Ellis, 35, were booked on charges of being drunk in an automobile. Ellis was riding in a car with Abelo.

Studio Plans 'Byrd at Pole' Film Preview

In connection with the showing at Paramount Theater beginning Thursday of the film, "Byrd at the South Pole," an invitational preview has been arranged at the studio in Hollywood for Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, when it will be run in a projection room for a few bidden guests of the studio and The Times, which participated with a group of newspapers in the Byrd enterprise and received the daily radio stories of it. The group is limited to fewer than 200 and only those with invitations will be admitted at the Marathon-street entrance of the studio.

The mobile exhibit of the Byrd expedition, collected by the New York Times and Los Angeles Times, is now on display in Bullock's Seventh-street windows, but will be moved to Paramount Theater when the film is run there. So great has been the desire to see this exhibit that Seventh street has been thronged constantly since it was unveiled last Friday. In order to accommodate still more, Bullock's has installed a supplementary indoor exhibit on the bridge connecting its Broadway and Hill-street buildings, where the display can be viewed at leisure.

Parking Area Gains Shown

Off-street parking facilities for automobiles in the central traffic district of Los Angeles have doubled in five years, according to a survey made by the police traffic division and the Central Business District Association.

Open-lot parking accommodates 15,572 cars at one time and garage parking, 10,161—the two showing a total of 25,733 machines, a figure asserted as maximum capacity by Capt. A. W. Gifford of the traffic division, who directed the field work of the survey.

"Parking lots are solving the problem of the shopper," concludes Fred L. Mowder, secretary of the association. "They are numerous from Pico street to Sunset Boulevard, particularly north of Fifth street and south of Ninth street.

"The growth of off-street parking has more than compensated for decreased facilities for curb parking. This growth has been occasioned by the razing of many obsolete structures."

LEVY MAP REFERRED

The City Council has referred to the Public Works Committee the assessment district map for the improvement of Ninety-seventh street from San Pedro to Main streets.

YE OLD-TIME CIRCUS DAYS ON SCREEN

"Swing High" Colorfully Presented at Orpheum; Short Comedy a Hit

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Circus life has not been overused as a background for the talkies as yet, and so there is a thrill perhaps when the old calliope goes tootling and rumbling down the street, the band plays and the elephants amble along in the street procession.

"Swing High" at the R.-K.-O. Orpheum brings all these atmospheric bits as a reflection of the days when circuses were circuses, and did not have the competition of radios, film theaters and miniature golf courses.

In brief, this picture presents the circus of the good old bustling nineties, and the bustling refers to styles in this instance rather than to tempo of the period.

The film is not wholly unlike other divertisements of the sawdust ring. Indeed, there is a leaf (meaning an idea or two) borrowed from "The Four Devils," or another picture or so that might be named. But while not vividly new the plot is given a certain romantic interest because of the time in which it evolves, and because of the effectiveness of the performance of Helen Twelvetrees in the heroine role.

The cast of "Swing High" includes Fred Scott, who sings acceptably, Dorothy Burgess, Bryant Washburn, George Fawcett, Daphne Pollard, Little Billy and others. The picture was directed by Joseph Santley, from the story by himself and James Seymour.

Miss Burgess and Washburn as a pair of ne'er-do-wells motivate the principal situations, and Scott and Miss Twelvetrees are the victims of their rather palpable crookedness.

Of course, there is the inevitable fall of the flying trapeze performer to give a punch to the plot, and a hokumish finale that may not be believed but nevertheless stirs response, when the acrobatic heroine forces the acrobatic villainness to confess her miscreant trickery by holding her dangling in mid-air and threatening to let her drop. She comes from a hospital and rips off bandages from an injured arm to accomplish this, too. Courage like that deserves its rewards, and it is won in the felicitous ending. I doubt not, too, but that "Swing High" rather broadly considered, will entertain.

Miss Twelvetrees deserves very measureable credit for the sympathy and spontaneity which she brings to the majority of her scenes. She exhibits an especial facility in the episodes of comedy and sentiment.

Miss Pollard shines next, perhaps, as a dependable comedienne, and Stepin Fetchit, although he often remains inarticulate, even while speaking, is responsible for laughs. Miss Burgess's talent for being pleasantly vindictive is dependable.

Songs are often freely introduced into the action of the picture, and in his vocal efforts Scott is successful. Little Billy does rather cleverly a comic number. Bryant Washburn is the ringmaster, and Fawcett the owner of the circus while Wick Stuart, Sally Starr, Ben Turpin, Chester Conklin and Robert Edeson are glimpsed during the unreeling of the picture. The circus scenes are adequately staged.

The comedy, "Swell People," also on the bill, is a really capital affair, with Harry Gribbon clowning at times uproariously, and Dot Farley, John Hyams, Leila McIntyre and Marcia Manning assisting. There are abundant laughs in portions of this very nightmarish venture. It slumps occasionally, but not for long.

New Drama of Subway Penned by Two Girls

Eva Kay Flint and Martha Madison, authors of "Subway Express," the mystery play that will be presented at the Mason on the 30th inst., wrote that play in one of New York's underground tubes, it is said. They spent weeks riding up and down and around the many underground lines that honeycomb the city and its five boroughs, seeking ideas, types and funny situations.

They had many notes when they began on their play and when it was finally completed there were sixty characters playing parts. The large lits came near being a bar to the play's production.

The theatrical impresarios in New York are said to have thrown up their hands in horror at the idea of such a large pay roll for a drama, so the two girls rewrote the play with forty-two characters.

Eddie Cantor to Appear at Loew's State

Eddie Cantor, star of Ziegfeld shows, will appear in person at Loew's State some time within the next month, it was announced yesterday by H. B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theaters. Cantor's appearance was originally scheduled for Thursday, but will be postponed on account of other contractual obligations, it was said.

Starting Thursday for a limited engagement of one week will be "The Rogue Song," starring Lawrence Tibbett. This is the first popular run of the film in Los Angeles. Katherine Dale Owen and Laurel and Hardy are prominent in the cast. Lionel Barrymore directed.

Ramon Novarro in "In Gay Madrid" is the current Loew's attraction, along with the stage revue, "Cadets" Idea.

BEERY STIMULATES CROWD

What did Wallace Beery say?

An interesting story comes from the M.-G.-M. studios regarding the making of "The Big House," which arrives at the Criterion Theater Wednesday, succeeding "The Divorcee."

More than 1000 men were employed in the large scenes. After the filming of the love sequences between Leila Hyams and her two leading men, Chester Morris and Robert Montgomery, director George Hill took the "mob" in hand.

Hill had the difficult task of exciting this crowd of 1000 to a high pitch. A large number of women visitors were watching the filming of the scene.

The director called for Wallace Beery, who has an important role in the picture.

"Wally," Hill said, "I want you to give these thousand men a hair-raising speech. I want you to talk to them so that they will become raging beasts. I want a speech such as you never delivered before. Say anything you please and put it in language they'll understand."

"O.K., chief," replied Beery, mounting a platform beside the loud speaker. "Now, if you will kindly ask the ladies present to leave for half an hour I will begin."

The ladies left and Beery commenced a tirade that lasted three-quarters of an hour. At the end director Hill and his twelve cameramen began shooting.

The question is: What did Wallace Beery say?

Antiquated Car on Display in Theater Lobby

The lobby of the Boulevard Theater is attracting attention this week by the display of a 1904 horseless carriage which was secured by the management in conjunction with the screen showing of "The Fiorodora Girl."

The four-cylinder car, which is still in good mechanical shape, was loaned by Ralph Hamlin, president, Franklin Motors, Inc., in Los Angeles. It is historically famous for its record-breaking dash from San Francisco to New York in 1904. Its time of thirty-three days lowered the former record by just half.

Kerosene head lamps, outside "push and pull" gear shift, undersize tires, awkward little steering-gear and many other antiquated mechanisms are a source of much amusement to passerbs-by.

Blanche Sweet Plays Role in Film at Warner

Blanche Sweet, one-time heroine of "Anna Christie," "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" and other silent screen successes, displays a pleasing singing and talking voice in "Show Girl in Hollywood," the First National production now showing at Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood.

Miss Sweet appears as an ex-star, a girl who once knew the greatest of screen fame, but who has been tossed aside. Such figures are sometimes seen in Hollywood, and Miss Sweet is said to portray the character with depth and pathos.

Alice White and Jack Mulhall are featured in "Show Girl in Hollywood." John Miljan, Ford Sterling, Virginia Sale and Lee Shumway are also in the cast. Mervyn Le Roy directed.

Phenomena Will Appear on Stage

Phenomena, said to be an astrological prophet, will feature the regular vaudeville program, and "The Texan" with Gary Cooper will be place the current screen entertainment at the Million Dollar Theater Thursday.

As an attraction on a radio station last winter, Phenomena is credited with the largest amount of fan mail received by a similar figure. During the radio engagement he answered more than 100,000 questions, it is said.

"Angels" Night Attracts Stars

With "Hell's Angels" night taking place in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel tonight, a brilliant gathering of stage and screen celebrities is expected.

Guests of the evening will be principal members of the cast of the air epic, which is now playing at Grauman's Chinese Theater, and selected numbers from the prologue to the picture will be staged in the Blossom Room. Also featured will be Ben Bernie and his Roosevelt orchestra.

FEATURES LISTED

Luther Reed intends to emphasize both the comic features and the Victor Herbert music in "Babes in Toyland," which he is now adapting and will direct soon for Radio Pictures.

MARCO POLO GIVEN MODERN CHARACTER

O'Neill Play at Pasadena Acted by Competent Cast; Young in Leading Role

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

With prodigious flair for imagery and beauty, Pasadena Community Playhouse in presenting "Marco Millions" has woven a theatric pattern of truly magnificent proportion about this audacious Eugene O'Neill version of the Venetian Marco Polo's adventurings.

Into the court of Kubla Khan, with rich implication, with sinister, almost diabolical effrontery, O'Neill introduces Marco Polo, the self-styled conquistador. A bombastic, boasting Babbitt of peculiarly insensitive variety, passing through an atmosphere of romance and starry fragrances, yet whose unseeing eyes discover nothing, whose ears remain deaf to inner cadences.

If Mr. O'Neill chooses to read between the lines of the Marco Polo extravaganza, and to create a rather modern creature from the flashing enterprise of his own Gargantuan imaginings, he has only brought the happy adventurer down to date and clothed him in a naive rhetoric, given him a nice easy set of illusions which 100-per-centers may easily recognize. He makes his Marco Polo a fine moral fellow, that is to say, according to his own lights. For he remains true to his first love while carrying on his affairs promiscuously.

What an ironic jest is this, a very Renaissance flavor in its strangely chortling glee. And how all-revealing a motion when, at the end of the homecoming feast, "in an aisle seat in the front, a man arises." The man is Marco Polo, but he is also Anyman and also Everyman. O'Neill is ever concerned with this pulsing thing which hides itself beneath the sumptuous outer patters. He deals with Life in heroic terms.

The scenic investiture as conceived by Janis Muncis takes on the gorgeousness that is of far Cathay. One scene representing the evening sky across which paths of little stars strayed, was captivating in its loveliness. All the splendor of the Orient shone in the Grand Throne room of the Imperial Palace. Here Myra Kinch as a mysterious dancer added much to the atmospheric effect.

Of the actors, who were legion, it may be said that they acquitted themselves with credit to directors and selves.

As the roystering Marco Polo, Robert Young gave a delightfully spontaneous performance. His spanning of the years from youth to middle age was accomplished with convincing power and splendid delineation. As Kubla Khan, Gilmore Brown was an impressive figure, mirroring the calm oriental poise and dignity of this mighty ruler of men. Louis Courcil gave excellent account of himself as the Papal Legate of Syria. As the lovely Princess Kukachun who "lived for love and died for beauty," Beatrice Prentice was delicately charming. Chu Yin, a sage of Cathay, was acted with considerable finesse and accuracy by Frahklin Provo. Laddie Knudson was a dashing and ardent eastern wooer as the Khan of Persia. Tom Murts and Herbert Rooksby as uncle and father of Marco, contributed much to the humorous situation. Others were Thomas Henry, Eugart Yerian, David Young, Lisa Thomson and Albert Willard.

RELEASE POSTPONED

Warner Brothers' "Precious," in which James Hall plays the lead and which features an all-American football team, will not be shown during the football season, until later in the year. According to studio reports, it will be released

BYRD FILM COMING TO PARAMOUNT

Thrilling Adventures of Intrepid Explorer Told in Unusual Picture

Described as the greatest adventure of all times, and filmed as it actually happened at the "bottom of the world," Rear-Admiral Richard Byrd's great feat that has recently thrilled the world will be screened at the Paramount Theater, starting Thursday, under the title, "With Byrd at the South Pole."

This is the only official motion picture of Byrd's stupendous achievement and is filled with colorful adventure, thrilling drama and some hearty humor, according to those who have had the privilege of seeing the film. The record for posterity was made by two Paramount cameramen, Joseph T. Rucker and Willard Vander Ver, who accompanied the daring commander on his expedition.

Only the forty-two men who were with Byrd actually experienced the adventures told in this picture, but, through its medium, millions will fight beside the intrepid explorer in a land where merely to live is an achievement and only the bravest come back.

The flight over the South Pole is only one of the features recorded in the film, as it starts with the departure from New York, following the expedition to its landing in the unknown region at the South Pole. Interesting scenes of life in the icy wastes, 2300 miles from the nearest outpost of civilization, are said to be replete with entertainment.

Film Notables Attend Play at Duffy Theater

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks are among the motion-picture celebrities who have visited El Capitan Theater since the opening last week of "Nancy's Private Affair," the smart, sophisticated comedy featuring Minna Gombell and Ernest Glendinning, both members of the original New York company.

El Capitan plays are increasingly popular with film folk, in that the casts invariably include Broadway actors who have been brought to Hollywood by Henry Duffy to play the roles they created in New York. Busy motion-picture persons, unable to take the time to go east every season, are thus afforded opportunity of seeing New York's outstanding stage personalities practically brought to their doorsteps.

Aside from Miss Gombell and Glendinning, other members of the "Nancy's Private Affair" cast include Kathryn Givney, Layland Hodgson, Mia Marvin, Effie Afton, Donald Douglas, Margaret Booth and Donald Campbell.

Grauman Plans Special Shows for Children

With public schools scheduled to close at the end of the week, special preparations are being made to handle the throngs of youngsters expected to attend the matinees of "Hell's Angels" at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

Sid Grauman is planning to have various kiddie stars of the films act as hosts and hostesses at various afternoon performances of his prologue and Howard Hughes's aerial spectacle.

Reservations already have been made by various teachers for groups of their students to attend the presentation, it is announced, because of its historical features and the fact that it has been characterized by leading organizations as an outstanding argument in the cause of international peace.

Comedy features of Grauman's prologue, presenting notables of Broadway, are scoring a hit with the kiddies, as well as the adult members of the audiences, it is said.

Rogers Picture Sets Week-end Carthay Record

Over the week-end at the Carthay Circle Theater, where "So This Is London," starring Will Rogers, is holding forth, a record was established for the largest two days receipts in the history of the theater.

Rogers, always a local favorite, has evidently increased his large following with the success of "They Had to See Paris" and the praise heaped upon his current success.

Preceding the picture, Abe Lyman and his band, featuring "Skin" Young are appearing on the stage in songs and specialties.

Yiddish Drama to Start Soon

"Samson and Delilah," the play with which the Yiddish Art Theater Players, with Ben-Ami, open an engagement at the Biltmore Theater Sunday, is not a Biblical drama, nor is it historical in any sense.

This play is a modern tragi-comedy dealing with stage folk and playwrights. The title is derived from the fact that Peter Crumback, the hero in the piece, has written a play which he calls "Samson and Delilah."

OUTDOOR SEASON BEGINS

The outdoor season for motion-picture productions has begun. Betty Compson is now at Oxnard making scenes for "The Spoilers;" Neil Hamilton and John Holland are playing polo at Malibu for sequences of "Ladies Must Play," and Alice White is spending her days at San Fernando playing in "Sweethearts and Wives."

EXTORTION CASE DECISION TODAY

Court to Rule on Plea for Severance of Trials

Prosecutor Will Not Oppose Motion, He States

Lavine First to Face Jury in Case of Separation

Morris Lavine, Los Angeles newspaper man, and Leontine Johnson, former secretary to S. C. Lewis, prominent figure in the Julian Petroleum crash, today are scheduled to go to trial before Superior Judge Schauer charged with extorting $75,000 from Charles H. Crawford, politician.

But before the case proceeds a motion for separate trials introduced by William Beirne, attorney for Miss Johnson is scheduled to be ruled upon by Judge Schauer.

The motion was presented last Saturday but the court deferred ruling on the matter until today.

CONDITIONS CHANGED

At the time the motion was made William McKay, Deputy District Attorney prosecuting the case, stated that his office is not opposed to the motion for severance because of the fact that Jacob Berman, an important prosecution witness, is not expected to testify.

Originally, McKay pointed out, the State intended to prosecute both defendants together, depending upon Berman's testimony to prove conspiracy. But since Berman's return from McNeil's Island, where he started serving a seven-year sentence, the prosecution has reached the conclusion that Berman will not take the stand as a prosecution witness and, therefore, the conspiracy charge cannot be pushed, McKay indicated.

MAY TRY LAVINE FIRST

If the motion for severance is granted, Lavine probably will be the first defendant to go to trial, according to the prosecutor.

The two defendants are accused of extorting $75,000 from Crawford to give "the breaks" to certain brokers and politicians in a series of stories scheduled for publication in a Los Angeles newspaper.

Head of Junior Chambers Back From Conclave

Durward Howes, past president of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, and newly elected president of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce, arrived home last night from the Brooklyn convention with the word that the organization will undertake to promote and sponsor the intercollegiate oratorical contests in the national competitions.

Mr. Howes said that in addition to the oratorical contests the junior chambers throughout the United States this year will take up a calendar of aeronautics for the promotion of popular interest in aviation.

Following the Brooklyn convention Mr. Howes toured several of the eastern States, speaking at meetings of various junior chambers. He visited Washington, where he called on President Hoover.

The 1931 convention of the national body will be held in Des Moines, Iowa, Mr. Howes said.

Wife Granted Time for Suit

Charles C. Wilcox, oil producer of Tampico, had to hurry back to Mexico, he told Superior Judge Westover, when Attorney Everett H. Mills asked for more time to get evidence together proving Mrs. Wilcox's claim to alimony.

But the court held that Mrs. Wilcox has a right to further time to prove her case, and postponed the case a week. Mrs. Wilcox sued on ground of cruelty, charging that her husband disregarded her "finer sensibilities," and was careless of his language in her presence.

BOY SCOUTS' MERIT WINS PLANE RIDE

As special rewards for proficiency in Boy Scout work two lads from American Legion Troop, No. 336, were guests of the Los Angeles Airport yesterday and were taken aloft in a Barling NB-3 monoplane owned by L. C. Thornton and piloted for the trip by Wayne Bateman. The boys are Dick Soldier of 1636 Cicero Drive, star Scout and patrol leader, and Walter Earons of 1132 Manzanita street, second-class Scout.

PLANNING COMMISSION FAVORS VENICE PLEA

The City Planning Commission has recommended to the Los Angeles City Council that permission to drill for oil in Venice be granted to William J. Cox and W. H. Whitsell. The applications were referred to the City Planning Committee for consideration.

GORE AND ADLER TRIAL TO OPEN

Theater Magnate's Son and Ex-Deputy Face Court Today in Hold-up

Accused of robbing the Wilshire Boulevard and Vermont-avenue branch of the Seaboard National Bank last April, Charles Gore, son of Michael Gore, theatrical magnate, and Harry Adler, former deputy sheriff, today are expected to go to trial before Superior Judge McComb.

The defendants, police assert, confessed to the robbery and $2256 of the $2500 taken from the bank was recovered.

ITCHING SKINS

It is said that the Chinese invented a punishment for criminals of tying them so that they could not scratch and then applying itching powders to their skins. A more irritating punishment could hardly be devised.

There are two principal kinds of itching. One is caused by parasites attacking the skin, and the other is from an internal toxic irritation of the nerves of the skin. The latter condition is quite a common occurrence, and where there is a general itching without any eruption it is called pruritis. In this condition it is not uncommon for the skin to appear healthy except that it has been scratched. The instinct to scratch an itching spot seems to be universal, and some people will scratch themselves so severely that it will produce disfigurement.

Itching may not only cause discomfort, but it may cause embarrassment, for no one wants to revert to the monkey-like treatment of scratching himself in public.

Pruritis may be so mild as to cause only a tingling sensation, or severe enough to bring on such an intense itching that sleep is impossible. This trouble is likely to appear in any disease where there is a severe toxic poisoning in the blood stream and frequently appears in the following diseases: Malaria, liver trouble, digestive disorders, jaundice, diabetes, gout, rheumatism and Bright's disease.

Whenever the itching is caused from internal toxins the remedy is to cleanse the blood stream by a suitable fasting and dieting regime. The local application of antiseptics does not seem to be of any particular value unless the itching is caused by small parasites. However, it is always a good plan to cleanse the skin thoroughly once or twice a day with warm and cold shower baths to improve the elimination.

Some of the principal causes of itching are a lack of oil in the skin, the presence of irritating paint, dust or oil, the presence of skin parasites, the sensory disturbance of the nerves, and the deposit on the skin of some irritating material which causes swelling and redness. This may be poison injected from an insect, or toxins deposited in the body from constipation, acidosis, or wrong food combinations, or it may be the result of drug poisoning.

Sometimes the patients develop a diffused rash while fasting, which indicates that the body is going through a dietetic crisis and is unloading some of its impurities through the skin. In this case such elimination is beneficial and the patient will feel better after it is over.

To build up the resistive powers of your skin so that you may overcome itching afflictions, you should follow a diet with plenty of non-starchy vegetables. Avoid pastries, drink plenty of water, eliminate constipation and encourage skin elimination by taking enough exercise every day to cause a perspiration. Also, take a sponge or shower bath daily, being careful to rub down briskly after with a rough towel to induce a rosy glow. Plenty of air and sunshine to the skin, with loose clothing, will also increase the skin tone.

Asserted Kidnap Attempt Will be Aired in Court

Details of an asserted attempt to kidnap 10-year-old Walter Nelson are to be related in Municipal Judge Ballard's court today when the boy takes the stand to support charges of child-stealing filed against Phillip Brown, 21.

Brown is scheduled for a preliminary hearing.

It is charged that Brown persuaded the Nelson boy to enter his car, promising to give him employment delivering packages, and then tried to abduct him. The boy, however, fought his captor and escaped. Witnesses of the struggle furnished clews which resulted in Brown's arrest.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, June 22. (Exclusive) Our natures change as summer swings up over the horizon. None of us are land-lubbers. We all take to the water, be it ocean or lake. We all are aquatic-minded. The beach wardrobe is of paramount importance. Designers like Schiaparelli and Mary Nowitzky bend their inspiration to the making of beguiling and practical costumes for wear in the water and by its edge.

It is amusing, and I think reassuring, to note that now, when nonsports clothes tend determinedly to impracticality, real sports clothes are better planned for their purposes than ever before. This is especially true in the matter of bathing suits. One-piece suits, beautifully designed and made, are intended primarily for the real sports woman. Such suits in America now follow the one-piece suits of continental resorts in not hiding behind false skirts. They are frankly one piece and are meant purely for swimming. This is the obvious result of having special ensembles for lounging before and after the swim. When you take to the water, you wear a truly practical garment which permits of complete freedom of motion.

I have seen such suits made of incredibly soft wool jersey, silky in texture, in pastel shades, made double throughout and so that no seams show. The cutting and workmanship of a suit of this type must be exquisite—a suit of which I wrote a little while ago, remains one of the best I have ever seen and is a great success. It was designed in Paris, executed in a heavy black wool material. Around its waist is a fold, simulating a belt, stitched, with a tailored nickel buckle on either side. Its utter simplicity and the grace of its lines are superb.

For Surf and Shore

Mary Nowitzky is the author of two amusing novelties which will enliven your hours on the beach. The first is an ensemble consisting of a mat pillow, towels, suit, hat and clogs. The mat is straw, lined with green and rose terry cloth. It is round with big scallops, and in the center has a pillow attached of black oilcloth and terry cloth. This boasts a zipper across the center, and when you open it you find it contains colored bath towels. The bathing suit is a rose wool jersey, the little hat, scalloped like the mat, has a straw crown, green and rose terry brim and is bound with the oil-cloth. The clogs also match. The Nowitzky cork ball is an amazing invention, some fourteen inches in diameter. You may play with it like a medicine ball on the beach and float it out to the raft. Little metal buttons on either side release springs, so that it divides itself in two, revealing in the center an unbreakable thermos pitcher and four cups. These are so buried in the cork interior that throwing the balls cannot break, but serves to shake them. The advantages are obvious.

Clogs

The cork clog was an instant success when it was first presented by Mary Nowitzky. It continues to be very popular because it is so wearable. It is light and cool and feels marvelous on the foot. It is made either with tremendously thick soles and stilt-like heels or with soles only about the thickness of those of the wooden clog. The wooden-soled clog, by the way, is being made with its sole in sections, about a half-inch wide, jointed, so that it has considerable play for walking. The top is like an espadrille, canvas, with stripes, and lacings.

A Bedtime Story

PETER SEES A RESEMBLANCE

By just a look you'll sometimes find Another may be brought to mind.
—Mother West Wind.

Have you noticed how people almost always admire in other people the ability which they do not themselves possess? Peter Rabbit admired Jerry Muskrat. He admired Jerry very much indeed, and it was largely because Jerry could do the things in the water that Peter could not do. So, in a way, Peter was envious of Jerry. It didn't occur to Peter that Jerry, in his turn, might be envious of him. No, sir, that didn't enter Peter's head. You see, he was so used to running and jumping and dodging that he took it all as a matter of course and didn't once think that other little people might wish that they could do as he did.

"What's on your mind, Peter?" Jerry inquired.

One evening just at dusk, when jolly, round, red Mr. Sun was going to bed behind the Purple Hills and the Black Shadows were creeping out across the Green Meadows and had almost reached the Smiling Pool, Peter Rabbit sat on the bank watching Jerry Muskrat swim. Peter always did like to see that funny tail of Jerry's move back and forth in the water, as Jerry loves to make it when he is swimming. At last Jerry climbed out on the Big Rock. There he sat, so that Peter had a side view of him. It came to Peter, as he sat looking at Jerry, that Jerry reminded him of some one.

"Yes, sir," said Peter, talking to himself in "Jerry Muskrat reminds me of some one, but just who it is I cannot think. It ought to be Robber the Rat, for Jerry is a member of the Rat family. But somehow he doesn't remind me of Robber the Rat so very much. It is some one else. I think it is his shape and the way he sits. It certainly isn't Johnny Chuck; it certainly isn't any of the Squirrel cousins, he doesn't look the least bit like Billy Mink, or Little Joe Otter. He does make me think in a way of Paddy the Beaver. I've heard him called the little cousin of Paddy the Beaver, but I understand they are not related at all."

Just then Jerry slid into the water and swam over near Peter. "What's on your mind, Peter?" Jerry inquired.

Peter grinned. "You," he replied. "That's too bad," said Jerry. "How am I on your mind?"

"You remind me of some one and I don't know who it is," replied Peter.

Jerry looked interested. "So I remind you of some one, do I? Probably it is Paddy the Beaver."

"You do remind me of him," replied Peter, "but you remind me of some one else. Have you any relatives that I know?"

Jerry chuckled. "Of course I have," replied he. "There is Robber the Rat. Perhaps I remind you of him."

Peter shook his head vigorously. "No," said he, "it isn't Robber the Rat."

"I am glad of it," replied Jerry. "That is one relationship I am not proud of. I've got a lot of small cousins, you know, like Whitefoot the Wood Mouse and Danny Meadow Mouse."

Peter hopped right up. "That's it!" he cried. "It's Danny Meadow Mouse! If Danny could grow to be as big as you, I believe he would look very much like you."

Again Jerry chuckled. "I don't know but that you're right, Peter," said he. "As a matter of fact, Danny and I are rather closely related, though somehow I never think of it. I don't suppose Danny does either."

"If he does, he never speaks of it," replied Peter.

BUSINESS MAGAZINE HEAD HERE

Merle Thorpe of National Chamber Publication on Vacation at La Jolla

Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday en route to La Jolla for a vacation, and incident to his arrival here, announcement was made of plans for a luncheon to be given in his honor by the Chamber of Commerce on July 9.

The editor was met yesterday morning at the Southern Pacific station by Charles A. Cooke, the chamber's official "greeter." He left shortly after for La Jolla, where he will remain for several days. As an authority on business and economic conditions in the country, Mr. Thorpe's appearance at a luncheon for business and industrial leaders here, will be particularly timely, Secretary-Manager A. G. Arnold of the chamber, said. Reservations for the luncheon will be open today, and the affair will be held at the Biltmore.

HIGH SCHOOL BONDS SHOW REDUCTION

County Figure Less by $6,570,000 Than 1925-26; Debt Per Pupil $518.88

Total bonded indebtedness of the high school districts of Los Angeles county was $43,715,000 in 1928-1929, a decrease of $6,570,000 over the bonded debt of $50,285,000 for 1925-1926, according to a study of the bonded debt of the school districts of California counties, which were completed recently by California Taxpayers' Association.

The bonded debt per pupil in average daily attendance in the high schools of this county was given as $284.09 less in 1928-1929, when it was $518.88, than in the 1925-1926 figure of $802.97.

Los Angeles county was ranked as the highest in total bonded indebtedness for high schools, while on a per student in average daily attendance basis the county ranked fourteenth.

Total bonded indebtedness for high schools, the association finds, has decreased in twenty-eight counties. The burden per pupil in average daily attendance has decreased in thirty-five counties. Los Angeles county showed the greatest decrease in total bonded debt, 1928-1929 over 1925-1926.

LIBRARY DISTRICT UPHELD

Altadena Area's Creation Ruled Legal and Trustees' Positions Approved

Mrs. Zane Grey, wife of the novelist, and William D. Davies hold office legally as trustees of the Altadena Library District, it has been ruled by Superior Judge Yankwich. The decision also finds that the library district exercises its functions legally.

The questions were taken before Judge Yankwich on quo warranto proceedings brought by Atty.-Gen. Webb on the petition of Gertrude M. Knapp, a taxpayer, against the Altadena Library District and Mrs. Grey and Davies, its trustees. The effect of the decision is to establish the validity of the library district.

The district was created by an election held December 6, 1926, at which the vote was 209 for and 123 against. The Board of Supervisors appointed Mrs. Grey, Davies and Jess H. Tumback as trustees to serve until the first succeeding board was elected.

Chief ground for attack on the validity of the proceedings which led to the creation of the district was that a library district is a special assessment district, and that the proceedings leading to the election did not comply with the requirements in such cases. The trustees replied that the library district is a quasi-municipal corporation and an agency of the State for educational purposes. Such agencies are not governed by rules relating to special assessment districts, it was contended.

The plaintiff was represented by Attorney H. G. Simpson of Pasadena, while the Library Board was represented by County Counsel Mattoon and Assistant County Counsel O'Connor.

Nearly 120,000 persons are engaged in the ocean fisheries of this country.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, stye and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

TAKE A SENSIBLE ATTITUDE ON THE SEX QUESTION

Despite the present-day enlightened attitude toward giving sex information to children, we cannot force these viewpoints upon everyone. The mother must be convinced that the authorities, who have dealt with thousands of children and discovered the benefits of answering honestly their questions about life, are in a position to give her a saner and healthier attitude toward this subject. Unless she is convinced, she simply cannot give that touch of indifference, that air of this is important but no more important than anything else, which is so vitally essential to any discussion of this nature.

WILL SATISFY CURIOSITY

Information given reluctantly in hushed tones, by a mother who herself feels she is telling something awful, had best not be given.

It is unusual, though, to find any mother today who really considers her children innocent because she hasn't given them this information. That is equivalent to wearing blinders and then ignoring the facts that she can't or won't look at. Children cannot live in a world, under any ordinary circumstances, and fail to ferrett out the answers to questions that are so important to them. They are stimulated a thousand times daily to a curiosity about everything and sex and birth are wondered about as early as almost anything else connected with the child.

THIS MOTHER IS WRONG

Mrs. M. P. H. grows indignant at a situation as inconsistent as it is commonplace. She says: "In my neighborhood is a girl of 9 who is wondering about the facts of life. Her mother refuses to tell her because she wants her to remain sweet and childish. Now my children have known these things and taken them as a matter of fact. Jane asked me to tell her, and when I asked her mother if I might she was more than ever determined to keep her 'innocent.' Now this is what is so inconsistent. A few days later we were talking in Jane's presence and a neighbor said: 'Mrs. So and So has been an invalid ever since her baby was born,' and then went on to relate how her hair fell out and her teeth were bad and she had lost her figure, all in front of Jane. What must the poor child think. So many mothers key their children's curiosity up to the highest pitch and then refuse them the simple explanations that would satisfy them."

I agree with you, Mrs. M. P. H. There is always a safe, sane road of action between two extremes. Because it has become modern and intelligent to give our children sex information when they ask for it, some mothers have thrown discretion and reticence to the winds and told too much or made it so exciting that the child's curiosity was stimulated instead of satisfied. That seems to me almost as sad an error as to refrain from all explanations.

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

HOT FRUIT SOUP

Place in a sauce pan four cupfuls of water, six whole cloves, a three-inch stick of cinnamon, the thinly sliced peel of one orange, the thinly sliced peel of one lemon, and six blanched almonds. Let stand for one hour, bring to a boil, and boil for fifteen minutes. Strain into a clean sauce pan, add two more cupfuls of water, one-third of a cupful of quick-cooking tapioca, and cook until the tapioca is clear. Add five tablespoonfuls of sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt, and two cupfuls of cherry, strawberry, blackberry, currant or grape juice. Pour into hot cups and serve.

VEAL POULETTE

Boil eight small onions, until tender, place in a saute pan four tablespoonfuls of butter, place the onions in this, and cook slowly without coloring for five minutes, remove the onions and keep warm add to the butter in the sauce pan four tablespoonfuls of flour, stir until smooth, but do not brown, beat in slowly two and a half cupfuls of water, stir until smooth, add one and one-half pounds of breast of veal, that has been cut into small squares, add a seasoning of salt, pepper, and a few grains of nutmeg. Let simmer slowly, cover tightly until the meat is tender. Bring to a boil and stir in carefully, the yolks of two eggs which have been beaten with one teaspoonful of lemon juice, add the onions, stir and cook slowly for two minutes. Pour onto a dish and sprinkle with chopped paraley.

CARAMEL PIE

Place one-third of a cupful of sugar in an iron saute pan, heat it very slowly stirring it constantly until a light brown in color. When the sugar has melted, add to it four tablespoonfuls of water, stir and boil for three minutes. Mix two-thirds of a cupful of sugar with six tablespoonfuls of sifted flour, a few grains of salt, place in a double-boiler, and stir in slowly one and one-half cupfuls of rich milk. Add the caramel syrup, stir and cook until thick and smooth add the well-beaten yolks of three eggs, and cook slowly for one minute longer. Remove from the fire, beat well, add one-half teaspoonful of lemon extract, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Pour into a baked pie shell, cover with a meringue made with the egg whites, and brown in a slow oven.

CUCUMBER ICE CREAM

Scald three cupfuls of cream, adding to it a half-cupful of sugar and a half-teaspoonful of salt, chill the cream and add one and one-quarter cupfuls of cucumber pulp and juice, from which the seeds have been removed, color with a few drops of green coloring, freeze as usual, and serve in cucumber boats.

This and That

Keep the cellar windows open and let the fresh air take away that nasty damp and stale smell.

A wooden spoon is a splendid utensil to use in cooking, as it will not scratch the bottom of the pan.

Common table salt will usually remove egg stains from a silk frock. Rub gently with a clean soft cloth.

Dip an old sheet in strong bluing and lay over the linens in your hope chest. Then they will not be yellowed when you wish to use them.

Keep your gas stove clean. A gas stove that is in need of scouring will often cause a disagreeable smell to permeate the whole house.

On Time

Regular hours for meals will be a great help to the mother of a large family. Children soon learn to be on time if they know the meal will be started whether they have arrived or not. Children are always ready to take advantage of the indulgent mother who will wait until they arrive before serving the meal.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Little Shellac

The paper shades that are imitations of parchment will look much more like the real article if given a coat of clear shellac inside and out. It will dry in fifteen minutes and you will be pleased with the improvement.

Have You Room?

Haven't you room on the back porch for a closet to be built for cleaning utensils? It is nice to keep cleaning materials in a place all to themselves and an out of door place is particularly nice during the summer months.

Clean Dusters

Dustless dusters must be washed frequently in order to do good work. After washing and rinsing in clear water, rinse again in a solution of 1 tablespoon kerosene to 1 quart of water. Then dry and you will find your dustless duster will be like new.

A Bit of Temperament

If you are the sort of woman who cannot work well except under pleasant conditions, it is economy to buy the things that mean this to you. It may only be pretty curtains, lighter woodwork or a cheerful wall paper, but it means everything to certain types of women and results in much more being accomplished.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

LOST BOY SCOUT MAY BE DEAD

'Army Flyer's Note Says He Thinks He Saw Body

Supposed Remains Prone in Snow Near Peak Top

No Answering Signal Given as Ship Swoops Low

HEMET, June 22. (Exclusive)—An army aviator late today dropped a note to Boy Scouts at Camp Emerson near Idyllwild, stating he had detected from the air what he believes is the lifeless form of Harold Johnson, 13 years of age, one of their number, who has been lost in the San Jacinto Mountains since Friday. The flyer said the supposed body is prone in the snow near the 10,500-foot summit of Mt. San Jacinto.

Although he swooped his plane perilously close to the peak, according to the note, the pilot received no signal from the form stretched out on the snow. This fact has given rise to fears the missing boy is dead from starvation or cold, or both.

Spurred by the note, another searching party is being organized tonight by C. L. Emerson, veteran mountaineer and manager of Idyllwild. The expedition, preceded by a pack train which is to get under way at midnight with provisions for a week, will set out at daybreak tomorrow and scale the peak.

Johnson, son of R. J. Johnson, Corona postmaster, disappeared mysteriously Friday morning while on a hike with thirty other Scouts. The boys had camped Thursday night at Round Valley, starting from there at 2 a.m. Friday on the six-mile tortuous climb to the summit. They returned to Round Valley shortly before noon. It was then Johnson's disappearance first was noted.

Numerous searching parties led by Forest Ranger Pete Hibbard and volunteers have been combing the mountain fastnesses without finding any trace of the lad. Today Lieut. R. V. Williams and another army flyer from March Field joined the search. It is not known whether Lieut. Williams or the other pilot dropped the note.

HUNDREDS CONTINUE IN SEARCH FOR JOHNSON BOY

RIVERSIDE, June 22.—Search of rugged Mt. San Jacinto for Harold Johnson, 13-year-old Corona Boy Scout who has been lost three days, has thus far been fruitless. Harold, son of Postmaster R. C. Johnson of Corona, dropped from sight early Friday morning when with a group of Scouts enjoying the annual outing at Camp Emerson, Idyllwild, he hiked to the summit of Mt. Tahquitz to witness the spectacular sunrise.

The rough mountain top has been combed from the ground up by indefatigable searchers and has been scanned from the air by daring March Field pilots who criss-crossed the range, barely skimming the tree-tops and jagged peaks yesterday and today. Grave fears are entertained for the safety of the frail lad who in some manner became separated from his companions. He carried no food and was burdened with two sweaters and a blanket which were used Thursday night in the outdoor short sleep at Hidden Lake.

Posses numbering from twenty-five to forty have painstakingly combed the mountain during daylight hours. The groups are made up of older Boy Scouts and by youths and men of this and nearby communities who have volunteered their services. The search is under the personal direction of Undersheriff Carl Rayburn.

The incident has cast a pall over the Idyllwild district which was the scene Saturday night of the Riverside County Chamber of Commerce annual meeting. Hopes which had faded were revived last night when forest rangers reported finding signs where Harold was believed to have left the main trail.

Today's hunt, however, has proved fruitless.

SAN GABRIEL PLANS BAN ON HANDBILLS

SAN GABRIEL, June 22. — Distribution of handbills will be banned in San Gabriel when a new ordinance becomes effective within thirty days.

The City Council has adopted a rigid ordinance prohibiting the throwing of handbills or circulars of any kind on private property in the city. The matter has been under consideration for several weeks, the Councilmen delaying action until the sentiment of business men and citizens could be learned. The consensus of public opinion, it was stated, was overwhelmingly in favor of ending the nuisance.

BEES BLAMED IN PEACH SCARCITY

Busy Buzzers Fail in Duty of Pollenating Blossoms, Ontario Grower Says

ONTARIO, June 22.—Upon the whims of the little honey bees of this district today was placed most of the blame for the shortage of the 1930 peach crop.

The little buzzers showed a decided preference to oranges and consequently the peach trees suffered.

With each succeeding peach season, the growers await the arrival of the bees to pollenate the blossoms. According to C. F. York, Ontario peach grower, the bees stayed too long in the orange groves this season and didn't get around to their pollenization work in the peach orchards, and as a result the peaches are not there.

NEW AIR SERVICE ANNOUNCED

San Diego Soon Will be Southern Terminal of Second Longest Line

SAN DIEGO, June 22.—San Diego will become the southern terminus of the nation's second longest airmail passenger line July 1 when Pacific Air Transport, Boeing system, will start daily service between Los Angeles and San Diego as an extension of its present Seattle-Los Angeles route on which it has operated for the past three years. Details of the service were announced by W. L. Campbell, resident manager of the Boeing system, who has established headquarters at Lindbergh Field, chosen as the terminal of Boeing operations in this city.

Under the schedule announced yesterday after it had been approved by the Postoffice Department, the Boeing mail and four-passenger Hornet-powered planes will leave here each night at 10:30 o'clock, arriving in Seattle at 11 a.m., with seven intermediate stops. The planes will cruise 108 miles an hour and elapsed flying time, including all stops, gives an average of 100 miles an hour.

Entry of the Boeing system into this field with its air-mail operations gives San Diego service from one of the largest air-transport lines in the world, for the Boeing system on its coastwise and transcontinental lines recently completed 10,000,000 miles of flying, half of it being made at night.

The San Diego-Seattle line will be the second longest lighted airway in the nation, ranking behind the San Francisco-Chicago route, also a Boeing line. Of the northbound flight from San Diego 500 miles will be at night. The schedule will be: Leave San Diego 10:30 p.m. and Los Angeles at 11:45 p.m., arrive at Bakersfield at 12:40 a.m.; Fresno, 1:42 a.m.; Oakland, 3:30 a.m.; Medford, 6:45 a.m; Portland, 9:05 a.m.; Tacoma, 10:25 a.m., and Seattle, 11 a.m.

Torrance High Alumni to Meet

TORRANCE, June 22. — Homecoming day will be celebrated by the alumni association of the high school here tomorrow when graduates of the school and their wives or husbands will be guests of the student body at an afternoon entertainment followed by the annual banquet of the association in the cafeteria of the school. The annual baseball game between alumni and students will be a part of the day's events.

HOME-COMING DAY SET FOR GARDENA SCHOOL

GARDENA, June 22.—Graduates of the high school will hold their annual home-coming day on Tuesday with Mrs. Olive H. Leonard, alumni adviser, in charge of the program. Of the more than 800 graduates, a large number are expected to take part.

CHAMBER SECRETARY QUITS

SAN GABRIEL, June 22. — Mrs. Grace Roest, secretary of the San Gabriel Chamber of Commerce for three years, has resigned, effective July 1, next. The chamber board will name a committee to consider applications for the position. The chamber office will be closed during July while the work of widening and improving Mission Drive, where the offices are located, is under way.

MARTIAL FOURTH AT CHINO

Two National Guard Companies and Drum and Bugle Corps to March in Independence Day Parade

CHINO, June 22.—Two National Guard companies, a band, drum and bugle corps, and several hundred persons will march in Chino's annual Fourth of July parade, according to plans announced today for the Independence Day celebration.

Sponsored by Chino post of the American Legion, an all-day program is being prepared for the celebration. Small sports will be on the program through the day for boys and girls of the valley, with prizes offered the various winners. The parade promises to be the outstanding event of the affair. Cash awards are to be given those who enter the best-decorated floats, comic floats and most appropriate entry. The Chamber of Commerce has taken over the parade feature, and has placed A. C. Harris in direct charge. Organizations, clubs, societies and individuals will enter floats.

National Guard companies from Ontario and Pomona have been invited to march in the parade, together with Ontario American Legion band, and Ontario Drum and Bugle Corps.

The fireworks display at night will eclipse anything that has been undertaken, of the nature in the past; substantial donations have been received for the fireworks fund.

A special speaker is to address the throng during the afternoon and a street dance will culminate the festivities. All concessions are to be operated by members of Chino post of the Legion. Frank H. Mogle is general chairman of the complete celebration.

PASADENA HAS FREAK MISHAPS

Emergency Hospital in Run of "Unusual" Cases

Boy "Backs Into Cactus," He Tells Surgeons

Woman's Finger Sprained in Toy Propeller

PASADENA, June 22.—Freak accidents had their day in this city as Emergency Hospital physicians and nurses strove anxiously to keep ahead of the almost steady stream of new "customers."

Pauline De Witt, 23 years of age, of 547 East Washington street, asked treatment for a one and one-half-inch cut on her finger suffered when a child snatched at a knife she was using. P. C. Shammon, 812 Alameda street, Altadena, was injured when a valve at the sewage disposal plant cut a gash in his scalp.

Jean Deane McCartney, 25, 1612 Huntington Drive, put her arm around a child as both were running toward an automobile. In so doing, Jean shoved her finger into the path of a top propeller the child was carrying and suffered a sprain of the little finger on her left hand.

Deane P. Chane, 40, 198 Vista avenue, was driving past the Pasadena Gold Club grounds, when a golf ball came crashing through the windshield of his car. Flying glass cut a gash in his left arm.

Donald Wesley Dell, 7, 1901 East Villa street, "backed into a cactus," he told Emergency Hospital nurses. Needles were removed from his right arm. Charles Berry, 17, 127 Wapallo Lane, was playing with a 22-caliber pistol. The pistol discharged and the bullet went through the fleshy portion of one hand. Fortunately, no fracture resulted.

Harry Alcott, 60, 1008 Emerson Road, yesterday jumped from a truck, slipped and fell. Lacerations about the face and head were so severe that he was sent to the Pasadena Hospital following emergency treatment.

Church Schools Open Monday at Pasadena

PASADENA, June 22.—Twenty-three summer vacation church schools in this city and vicinity will open Monday morning to continue for five weeks under the supervision of the Board of Religious Education, Mrs. Rubens Caroselle, executive secretary, stated today.

The sessions will be held five mornings of each week from 9 until 12 o'clock, with presession activity in most schools opening at 8:30 o'clock. Leaders trained in their respective departments will be placed in charge of the activities, every school giving to its neighborhood the best available leadership and program. Westminster Presbyterian, Lincoln Avenue Presbyterian and Bresee Avenue Church of the Nazarene will conduct complete schools, embracing all departments from kindergarten to junior high divisions.

Orange-Street Conference Set

REDLANDS, June 22.—It is expected there will be a large crowd of property owners at the meeting to be held by the City Council Tuesday night for a discussion, which it is hoped will result in a final decision on the widening of the west side of Orange street. Property owners affected, or in the district, are urged to attend the meeting.

At the parley it is hoped there will be something definite to work on. A. Gregory, the owner of the property, was asked by the City Council to confer with them at the last meeting on a possibility of the Pacific Leaseholders relinquishing the lease. Gregory appeared at the meeting, but said that he had nothing which he could give the Council at that time, but asked that the conference be postponed a week.

This was done and the conference set for Tuesday night. At that time it is expected that Gregory will have something to report regarding negotiations with the Pacific Leaseholders which might result in their relinquishing the lease and the city having Gregory to deal with in the matter of benefits and damages to be assessed in the taking of the ten feet.

It is understood that if this can be accomplished several of the members of the City Council will definitely commit themselves to the policy of accepting the commission's report, allowing the Pacific Leaseholders $16,000, and then let the corporation take the matter into court if they so desire.

New Principal Named to Post

ALHAMBRA, June 22.—D. Ellsworth Charlson, an instructor in the Woodrow Wilson Junior High School, Pasadena, has been appointed principal of the Ramona Grammar School of this city. He will take over the new duties in September. He is a graduate of University of Southern California and has also taught in Blythe and El Monte.

Carlson will succeed Mrs. Elizabeth W. Rowell, who has been a member of the teaching staff of the local schools for twenty-four years and who has been granted a six-months' leave of absence. She has been principal of Ramona school for fourteen years. Upon the completion of her leave of absence she will teach in the new Marguerita-avenue school, which is now under construction.

RANCH FOREMAN GIVEN REWARD FOR SERVICE

VENTURA, June 22.—Rewarding him for his "long and faithful service" in developing their holdings on the Rancho Canada Larga, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan B. Smith have deeded twelve acres of the valuable property to Henry Sparks, foreman of the ranch for many years. The twelve acres, said to be one of the richest apricot lands in Ventura county, are located above the oil fields in Ventura avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith bought the property in 1882, and on November 3, 1889, Sparks entered their employ. Sparks served in various positions for a time, but for a long time now has been foreman of the ranch. He has been in charge of the entire property, because both Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been ill in the Cottage Hospital, Santa Barbara, for some months.

TREES STAY DESPITE COURT

Although Appellate Bench Gives Right to Remove Old Eucalypti, Sentiment May Preserve Them

GLENDALE, June 22.—Litigation that was started two years ago over the proposed removal of the giant eucalyptus trees on Lomita avenue, has resulted in a decision of the Court of Appeals supporting the city's right to remove any obstructions to a contemplated civic improvement and today finds the parties to the suit in a more mellow frame of mind than that which prevailed when the controversy was at its height.

The leaders in the fight to save the trees were James Neill, veteran actor, and his wife, Edythe Chapman Neill, and they are smiling today, despite the adverse ruling of the court, over the fact that those who were so strenously in favor of removing the trees are ready to drop the project, if they can do so without losing face.

The plan to widen Lomita avenue was broached first when many people confidently expected the tide of civic improvement to sweep toward South Brand Boulevard. Neill, who besides being an actor, is a shrewd business man, could not see that Lomita avenue was in any danger of being engulfed in the wave of progress so long as a number of the best corners to the north were still unoccupied. So he rallied his cohorts to preserve the eucalyptus trees and to maintain the natural beauties of the residential district.

In the long battle to save the trees, Mr. and Mrs. Neill have not only been able to keep their own ranks solid, but they have been able to penetrate several sectors of the enemy's line, and have converted several of the proponents of the removal of the trees to their own point of view. Death has taken some more of those who would have cut down the trees, others have moved from the district and their interest has waned, and still others are ready to listen to arguments that fell on deaf ears two years ago, according to Neill.

Even the contractor who was given the job of widening Lomita avenue and who was a party to the suit, Neill avers, has lost any eagerness he may have felt about going ahead with the work and is ready to accept peace with honor and abandon his contract if it can be arranged.

The members of the present City Council are also open to reason, Neill insists, and the final results of the controversy, he adds, may be the cessation of hostilities, with one of those moral victories recorded to the credit of the ostensible losers.

Neill plans to confer with his attorneys before making any move to carry the case to the State Supreme Court in the next thirty days, as permitted by law.

"If it is necessary to remove the trees to widen the street for a commercial or municipal expansion program that really needs the room, I am willing to yield," Neill said, "but until that time comes we want to retain the beauties of our residential neighborhood and to avoid the dirt and trouble and expense that would attend the removal of the eucalyptus trees."

PASADENA WON'T PAY FOR SAFETY

Crown City Will Not Put Up $10,000,000 to Remove Grade Crossings There

PASADENA, June 22.—Proposed elimination of forty-two Santa Fe grade crossings in Pasadena at an estimated cost of $10,000,000 will not be paid by the taxpayers of the city, City Manager R. V. Orbison indicated today. The final conference on the question, set for yesterday, was indefinitely postponed.

"There is no money in the City Treasury for the project," Orbison said. "Moreover, I doubt if the citizens will accept a proposition to float a $3,000,000-bond issue, as has been proposed."

A guarantee of absolute safety for Pasadena motorists has been demanded for several years. Two years have been consumed in which Assistant City Engineer Douglas McKenzie and officials of the Santa Fe Railroad have spent practically all their time perfecting plans for a double track right of way which probably will be cut through the center of the city and elevated in the outskirts.

Final agreement between the Board of City Directors and the railroad men has been rumored time and again and always Pasadena has been indicated as expected to share in the cost. But today Orbison flatly shifted the burden to the county and the railroad company.

WALNUT GROVES TO BE DUSTED BY PLANE

VENTURA, June 22. — Airplane dusting of walnut groves will be demonstrated near this city Wednesday. The thirty-acre orchard of Edmund W. Gerry on Telegraph Road, three miles from here, has been selected for the work which will be done at daybreak before the wind springs up. Jim Grier of the Royal Airplane Corporation of California, will pilot a high-wing monoplane carrying 800 pounds of a powder containing nicotine, over the trees.

CHINO CANNERY TO BE IN OPERATION SOON

CHINO, June 22. — Several score persons will be given employment at the Libby, McNeil & Libby Cannery here this summer, following orders received by Oscar Rogers, superintendent, to make the cannery ready for a run this summer on fruit. Orders to prepare the cannery for the summer's operations were received from the San Froncisco office. The first run will be on apricots, followed by peaches and tomatoes.

YOUNG TREE-CLIMBER FALLS FROM PERCH

PASADENA, June 22. — Young John Marvin Kauffman, 3 1-2-year-old tree climber, was nursing a possible fracture of the right arm today because yesterday he fell from a neighbor's tree near his home, 175 Dearborn street.

NO HEADLINES IN PAPER

Pasadena Woman Displays 129-Year-Old News Sheet of London Telling of One of Lord Nelson's Sea Battles; Legal Advertisements Printed Even Then

PASADENA, June 22.—Mrs. Beatrice Phillips Cole of 1465 North Lake avenue, today displayed with pride a carefully protected copy of the four-page, eleven-by-fifteen-inch London Times, dated April 16, 1801, a newspaper that originally belonged to her grandfather, George Benjamin Martain Phillips, who left it to her father when the elder man died.

Although in a remarkable state of preservation, the newspaper is brittle with age. It carries no true headlines, though each article is headed by several words in capital letters, forming the beginning of the first sentence, or the date line.

Thus one article, dealing with a battle in which Admiral Nelson took part, is headed, "Admiralty office, April 15"—and continues, "Capt. Otway of His Majesty's ship The London, arrived in London this morning with dispatches from Admiral Sir Hyde Parker, commander-in-chief of a squadron of His Majesty's ships employed on a particular service, to Evran Nepsan, Esk, dated on board the London, in the Copenhagen Roads, the 6th inst., of which the following are copies:

"You will be pleased to acquaint the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty that since my letter of the 23rd of March no opportunity of wind offered for going up the Sound until the 29th when the wind shifted in a most violent squall from the S.W. to the N.W. and N., and blew with such violence, and with so great a sea, as to render it impossible for any ship to weigh anchor . . .

"On the 30th of last month . . . after anchoring about five or six miles from the Island of Hui, I reconnoitered, with Vice-Admiral Lord Nelson and Rear-Admiral Graves, the formidable line of ships, radeaus, pontoons, galleys, fireships and gunboats, flanked and supported by extensive batteries on the two islands called the Crowns, the largest of which was manned with from fifty to seventy pieces of cannon . . .

"It is with deepest concern I mention the loss of Captains Mosse and Riou, two very brave and gallant officers . . . A return of the killed and wounded you will receive herewith. I have the honor to be &c, H. PARKER."

A legal advertisement in the 129-year-old newspaper reads as follows:

"His Majesty's Commissioners Making the Stamp Duties do hereby give notice that Hair Powder Certificates commencing the 8th of April, 1801, are ready to be granted at the following offices or places upon application for the same: . . ." The list then follows.

They had boarding schools in those days, too, as witness the following: Ladies' Boarding School—A favourable opportunity presents itself to any Lady wishing to be introduced to a respectable Esteblishment. On taking the goods and fixtures no premium required. Address to A. B., No. 84, Aldgate."

OFFICE-SEEKER LISTS CLOSED

Long Array of Candidates Have Filed Papers

Contests to Be Lively in Some Counties

Ontario Sees Repetition of Constable Battle

SAN BERNARDINO, June 22.—Contests for the ten county offices have developed today with the period for the filing of nominating petitions by candidates expiring yesterday. The offices and the candidates for each are:

Sheriff—Walter Shay (incumbent) and Ralph Guy, both of San Bernardino.

Coroner—Al W. Uren (incumbent,) Colton, and Thomas L. McFarlane, San Bernardino.

Assessor—A. E. Allen (incumbent,) Redlands, and Edward P. Doyle, San Bernardino.

Recorder—Fulton G. Feraud (incumbent,) Redlands; Walter V. Combs, Ontario, and Harry T. Nott, Redlands.

District Attorney — George H. Johnson (incumbent) and Stanley Mussell, both of San Bernardino.

Superintendent of Schools—Ida M. Collins (incumbent,) San Bernardino; D. L. Newkirk, Ontario.

Superior Judge—Benjamin F. Warmer (incumbent,) Ontario; Jesse Oniey, Adelanto.

Supervisor—Second District, C. E. Grier (incumbent,) Upland; F. C. Buffington, Upland, First District, Arthur L. Doran (incumbent,) Barstow, and R. B. Peters, San Bernardino. Fourth District, M. P. Chaney (incumbent,) Colton, and Myron Pine, Bloomington.

The unopposed incumbents are: Harry L. Allison, County Clerk; Howard L. Way, Surveyor; M. W. H. Williams, Treasurer; Vincent L. Roth, Auditor, and John W. Batchelor, Tax Collector.

SEVENTY-NINE SEEKING SAN BERNARDINO OFFICES

SANTA ANA, June 22. — Seventy-nine candidates are seeking public office in Orange county, it was revealed here yesterday when the time for filing nomination petitions expired at noon. Four last-minute filings provided Coroner C. D. Brown with an opponent and brought out Earl Abbey for the office of County Treasurer; George D. Montgomery for the office of County Assessor, and W. G. Knox for the office of County Surveyor. J. G. Berneike was the person to file for the office of public administrator and Coroner.

The races for Sheriff, District Attorney, constable in Santa Ana Township, and Supervisor from the Fifth District, proved the most attractive, it was revealed. Seven are seeking the Sheriff's position, four the District Attorney's office, six for the Santa Ana constable job, and six for the Supervisorial post from the Fifth District.

County Clerk J. M. Backs and County Recorder Justine Whitney are the only two county officers unopposed.

Contests loom in virtually every community over the justice of the peace and constable posts. Kenneth E. Morrigin has the field to himself in Santa Ana for the justice of the peace office. Judge O. K. Scovel is unopposed for Superior judge.

Following is the list of office seekers and the offices they seek: Sheriff, Sam Jernigan, R. J. McFadden, W. R. Sylvester, Logan Jackson, Leo Porter, W. M. McCardia and J. M. Pearson.

District Attorney—Sam L. Collins, Harry C. Westover, R. E. Haynes and D. G. Wettlin.

Supervisor for Fifth District—George Jeffrey, Lew H. Wallace, Eugene Fenelon, Stuart H. Lucas, C. O. Arts and J. W. Sauers.

Supervisor for Second District—J. A. Armitage and John C. Mitchell.

Supervisor for Fourth District—James F. Snowden and Willard Smith.

County Clerk—J. M. Backs.

County Assessor — James Sleeper and George D. Montgomery.

Public Administrator and Coroner—C. D. Brown and J. G. Berneike.

County Treasurer—J. C. Joplin, E. B. Trago and Earl Abbey.

County Recorder — Justine Whitney.

County Auditor — W. C. Jerome and W. T. Lambert.

County Surveyor—W. K. Hillyard and W. G. Knox.

County Tax Collector—J. C. Lamb and Belle J. Spangler.

County Superintendent of Schools—R. P. Mitchell and Ray Adkinson.

Judge of the Superior Court—O. K. Scovel.

HARDY-KRATKY FIGHT FOR CONSTABLESHIP REPEATED

ONTARIO, June 22.—A repetition of Ontario's famous constable election of a few years ago, is promised this fall, when Walter O. Hardy, incumbent for several years, is opposed by Charles Kratky, who today had on file his nomination papers for the August primaries.

Although several offices were to be filled at the last municipal election, all the contests were overshadowed by the constable battle. Kratky and Hardy both have scores of friends in the community, who promise to make it another lively session this year.

Judge George R. Holbrook, city judge and justice of the peace for twelve years, is in the race to succeed himself. Judge Holbrook is one of the first settlers of Ontario Colony lands, and built the first home here when it was founded by Chaffey Brothers from Ontario, Can.

Judge Holbrook has held a number of county positions during his career here since 1883.

ODD FELLOWS IN MEMORIAL

REDONDO BEACH, June 22.—Members of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges of the district attended the Christian Church here tonight in a body, where the annual memorial service of the lodge was conducted. Rev. Harry Hill, pastor, delivered the memorial sermon.

HEROINE ROLE CAST FOR VALLEY DRAMA

Myra Hubert

SAN BERNARDINO, June 22.—Role of the heroine will go to Myra Hubert, well-known dramatic artist of Hollywood, in "Nevertheless Old Glory," historical melodrama to be presented as the first annual play in Bear Valley.

The play, which revives incidents of the Sixties, will be staged July 4, 5 and 6 in the Moonridge Bowl, a modern open-air amphitheater now nearing completion, by Phil Whiting, who directed the Ramona Pageant for the past two years.

Miss Hubert is widely known to patrons of the theater in Hollywood and Los Angeles for her appearances opposite Guy Bates Post in "The Climax," and with such stars as May Robson, Elsie Janis and others. With other professionals in leading roles she will head a cast of 150 to present the play, which is sponsored by the Bear Valley Chamber of Commerce.

SPEEDER OF FAIR SEX PUT IN JAIL

Huntington Park Judge Gives Frances Knapp Ten Days—Five Suspended

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 22. Frances Knapp of South Fremont avenue, Los Angeles, arrested yesterday, after being stopped by county officers as she was speeding in an automobile along Wilmington street in the Florence district, must spend five days in jail.

She was found guilty of driving at a speed of fifty-two miles an hour in a twenty-mile zone and also driving without an operator's license in her possession. Judge Edward H. Miller sentenced her to five days in jail on each charge.

The five days on the latter charge was suspended, and she was sent to jail for five days on the fast-driving charge.

HESSION HEAD OF DISTRICT ATTORNEYS

LAKE ARROWHEAD, June 22.—Jesse Hession, former District Attorney of Inyo County, and now deputy State Attorney-General, was elected president of the California District Attorneys' Association at the closing session of the 1930 convention here. The prosecutors voted to convene next year at Yosemite National Park. Earl Warren, District Attorney of Alameda county, was named vice-president, Orrin J. Lowell of Placer county, secretary and treasurer. The attorneys and their wives were guests yesterday on a tour of the Rim of the World drive and a dance at the Big Bear Valley. Alex Ashen of Sacramento was the closing session speaker reviewing the provisions of California's new Planning Commission Act. Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb was the speaker at Thursday's session.

TRAIN LIKENED TO HOTEL

Special Cars of Bell Telephone Company Equipped With Every Facility of Community Life

REDLANDS, June 22.—The nine special cars making up the Bell Telephone Company, which arrived here today, is a community in itself. It is self-supporting as regards modern conveniences, and will house a crew of seventy-six men, supplying sleeping quarters, showers, meals and recreation. The cars were set in the middle of the desert, it would yet provide city conveniences, such as electric lights, refrigeration and cuisine.

A tour of the train revealed that while in Redlands for a month of construction work the crew will have the city sewer service and water, but other than these connections for convenience sake, the car equipment will supply lights, ice, refrigeration and other conveniences, just as would be expected of a first-class battleship or passenger greyhound on the high seas.

The refrigeration plant is operated with a Kohler outfit, and a Parker ice machine supplies the ice. Heaters for the cars, not necessary just now, use rock gas as fuel. The hot-water system which supplies water to the twenty porcelain wash stands and the shower room, is heated with rock gas as fuel also. One car is equipped as a dining-room, with a long table down the center.

While here the city water connections have been made, but on the desert the train has its own water pressure plant, which with the light system is automatic.

WOMAN TELLS OF SUICIDE LETTER

Sioux City Daughter of ... and Mrs. Peck Arrives

Message Reached Her After Time of Father's Death

It Announced Intention of Killing Self, Wife

ALHAMBRA, June 22.—[Special.] Arthur W. Peck, 70 years of age, retired building contractor, who carefully planned to take life of his invalid wife, Edna, 67, to commit suicide, was revealed today upon arrival of their daughter, Mrs. Zayda Blake of Sioux City, Iowa. The bodies of her parents, each with a bullet hole through the temple, were found Wednesday last, in the bedroom of their home at 1503 Sierra Vista Avenue.

Mrs. Blake told Police Captain W. Thompson that on Wednesday at about the same hour the crime was committed some plans were being executed, she received a registered letter from her father telling briefly of his suicide plans. In the letter, written the previous Sunday, were included a deed to the Alhambra home and other valuable papers.

A few minutes after receiving the letter and while she was frantically endeavoring to decide what she should do, a telegram from Alhambra police was delivered informing her that her parents were dead.

Mrs. Blake said that she had not seen her parents in fourteen years, but that their letters had always been of a happy nature and she was at a loss to understand the reason for the tragedy. She was the only child of the couple.

Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Peck will be conducted at 2 o'clock Tuesday at the mortuary of Pierce, Stevens & Turner. The bodies will be cremated.

New Highway Link Tia Juana With Ensenada

SAN DIEGO, June 22.—Construction of a paved highway between Tia Juana and Ensenada, in the year is regarded as certainty by Gov. Tapia of Baja California, according to a message to the Mexican Department of Commerce and Industry.

Gov. Tapia, now on a visit to eastern part of the United States, recently conferred at length with Ambassador Morrow regarding the highway. "I am leaving today for the border, completely satisfied that the Tia Juana-Ensenada road will be built, beginning this year," he said.

"I will stop over at Washington to confer with Ambassador Morrow and United States officials in respect to several projects for development for Baja California."

The Governor is now at the Sylvania Hotel in Washington. It was learned here, and is expected to arrive in Ensenada, present capital of the district, by next Tuesday.
